Dem Meeting Seen as Rap at Hannegan

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Some house administration supporters feared Saturday that Democratic demands for a party caucus might lead to requests for the resignation of Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan.

More than 50 house democrats protesting what they called the Democratic national committee's second recent big "boner," signed a petition Friday urging an immediate meeting to discuss what they called the "incompetency and inefficiency" of the committee. A caucus must be held if 50 members request it in writing.

The drive was touched off by a letter from Democratic headquarters urging county chairmen to select "proper" candidates for next November's congressional elections. It advised them to seek candidates who would "courageously support Pres. Truman's legislative program."

What riled the Democrats was that the letter went not only to Republican-controlled districts but also to some which are represented by Democrats. Some congressmen thought the letter might be a move to "purge" Democrats who had not supported Mr. Truman's program.

That aroused speculation that these Democrats, who were just cooling off after another incident involving the committee, might in turn demand Hannegan's resignation despite the committee's explanation that the letter went to Democratic districts through a clerical error.

The previous incident centered on a statement in the party's women's magazine that house members who voted for the Case labor bill voted "against the American people." Hannegan apologized profusely for that episode. The employe responsible resigned.

Gin Rummy Hands Net 'Big' Winnings

HOLLYWOOD — (U.P.) — Paul Snell is wondering who won the friendly little gin rummy game which he played with a friend.

Snell, a press agent, held the winning hands and he won a 1928 locomotive piece by piece, cowcatcher, boiler, bell, etc.

Now he's stuck with a $55 monthly storage bill.

Jap Newsreel Shows War Acts

Film Issued as Crimes Trials Are to Start

TOKYO — (U.P.) — A Japanese newsreel feature entitled "The Dark Age," reviewing the history of Japan's aggression of the past 18 years, will be released in Japanese movie houses in conjunction with the opening of major war crimes trials.

Produced by Nippon Newsreel Co., the film contains scenes of the rape of Nanking which were believed taken by American missionaries and contributed by the British embassy.

Consisting of old newsreel clips and commentaries, the film also shows Prof. Tatsuyuki Takagawa, formerly of Kyoto Imperial university, relating how he was purged from the university in 1933 by Ichiro Hatoyama, former minister of education. Hatoyama has been elected to the new diet as leader of the Liberal party.

The newsreel traces Japanese history from the Meiji restoration to the 1945 surrender aboard the USS Missouri. The commentary stresses that "aggressive war has been the consistent policy of the Japanese ruling classes."

Other "capitalist" policies, according to the commentator, were cheap labor, backward farming technique, and slums, which were the price Japan paid for Asiatic expansion.

Schenectady, first city of New York's Mohawk valley, received its charter in 1798.
