Unusual Stories Scheduled For Airwaves On Thursday

Tales Of Buried Relics, Woman Army Officer Will Be Heard; Walter Huston Cast In Drama

Stories of buried relics that only "dead men" could locate and of an American woman, who became an army sergeant, will be highlighted on the Strange As It Seems program, Thursday, over WABC at 7:30 p. m. Alois Havrilla is master -of-ceremonies.

The buried relics were unearthed by a woman in hundreds of localities thruout the southwest. She claimed to have been guided by the supernatural voice of long-dead mission priests.

Mary Ludvig Hays, better known as Molly Pitcher, was the woman army officer. The dramatization will reveal how she won her famous name and official recognition from General Washington, as a result of her part in the Battle of Monmouth in the American Revolution.

In addition, there will be a talc about "13" as a lucky number, in a reenactment of the dramatic series of coincidences that surrounded a murder trial in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Walter Huston, noted for his portravals of character roles, will play the lead in a dramatization of "He Knew Lincoln," and act as master-of-ceremonies in the second broadcast of Good News of 1940, Thursday, 8:00 to 9:00 p. m., over WEAF. A talented Hollywood actor, as yet unnamed, will play opposite Huston.

The droll humor of Roland "Topper" Young will vie with the antics of Fanny "Snooks" Brice. Meredith Willson, Connie Boswell, veteran blues singer, and Hanley Stafford, hapless father of "Snooks," complete the cast.

Miss Boswell will sing "An Apple For The Teacher" and "Sunrise Serenade." Frank Travis, new 24-year-old discovery of Meredith Willson, will sing a semi-classical number.

Yella Pessl, recognized as one of the world's foremost harpsichordists, will occupy the feature spot during the Kraft Music Hall program, Thursday from 9:00 to 10:00 p. m., over WEAF. Genial Bob Burns, keeper of the Hall, will introduce Miss Pessl in her performance on the difficult instrument. Pat Friday, youthful discovery of Bing Crosby, will offer vocal selections and John Scott Trotter's band will supply the musical background.

Malcolm and Godden, prominent two-piano team, will perform the Concerto in C Major for two Pianos and Orchestra by Bach when they appear with the Toronto Promenade Symphony on Thursday from 8:00 to 9:00 p. m., over WJZ. Reginald Stewart will conduct the orchestra in Handel's Concerto Grosso, Opus 3, No. 2; the overture to "Portsmouth Point" by Walton and Enesco's Rumanian Rhapsody, No. 1. A choir of sixteen voices also will be heard.

Miscellaneous and sundry . . . Bing Crosby's return to his "Music Hall" has been set for Thursday, Sept. 28 . . . Kay Kyser played to 8,457 paid admissions at the Pasadena Civic Auditorium, Sept. 1, setting a new all time high, previously held jointly by Guy Lombardo and Ben Bernie

Quilna Books Dance Revue For Showing Thursday Night

Overholt Studio Supplying Talent For Performance At 9 P. M.; "Sherlock Holmes" Film Offered On Screen

The Overholt dancing school will present a program at the Quilna theatre at 9 p. m. Thursday, with 25 young boys and girls presenting a revue of the latest dancing steps. On the screen, Basil Rathbone, in the title role, is starred in "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes" with Nigel Bruce, Alan Marshall and Ida Lupino. Also at the Quilna is the Jones family in "Quick Millions."

At the Ohio theatre the feminine talent of Hollywood combines to present one of the best and most unusual comedies of the year, "The Women." Starring roles are played by Norma Shearer, Rosalind Russell, and Joan Crawford, and the cast includes Mary Boland, Paulette Goddard, and Joan Fontaine.

The long awaited marriage of that soldier of fortune, Bulldog Drummond, to his beautiful fiance of several films, Phyllis Clavering, is effected in the latest of the popular series, "Bulldog Drummond's Bride," at the Sigma. John Howard and Heather Angel share the romantic leads, with the favorites of the past included in the cast of H. B. Warner, Reginald Denny, and E. E. Clive. Also showing at the Sigma is "Panama Lady," with Lucille Ball, Allan Lane and Evelyn Brent.

In "It's a Wonderful World," half of the new State bill, James Stewart gambles 50 years of his freedom against a fortune. The lovely Claudette Colbert is cast opposite him and despite their many quarrels all ends with the two peaceable.

"Code of Secret Secret," features Ronald Reagan as a government worker who is sent after a band of fake money makers which is headed by a priest.

The Majestic theatre has two new pictures Thursday, "Mexicalie Rose", and "Sweethearts."

Showing Thursday at the Lyric for the last time are "Panama Patrol," and "Mexicalie Kid."

The first picture deals with the activities of the little known United States cipher bureau pitted against an Oriental spy ring. The other film is a western with Jack Randall in the principal role.

OHIO

Showing thru Friday at the Ohio theatre is "The Women."

Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford and Rosalind Russell are starred in this film.

A cast of 135 actresses, drafted from the stage as well as the screen, appears in the distinguished new comedy-drama which follows the lives of women thru beauty salons, gown shops, boudoir and bath, as well as the drama of their everyday lives.

Norma Shearer is cast in her first modern society role since "Riptide," and Joan Crawford gets her initial opportunity to portray a "heavy." Rosalind Russell is given an opportunity to show her many-sided versatility as the screen's arch-gossip to date.

The supporting cast includes such names as Mary Boland, Paulette Goddard, Phyllis Povah, Joan Fontaine, Virginia Weidler, Lucile Watson, Florence Nash, Muriel Hutchinson, Esther Dale, Ann Morriss, Ruth Hussey, Dennie Moore, Mary Cecil, Beth Hughes, Virginia Grey, Marjorie Main, Cora Witherspoon and Hedda Hopper.

The story shows Norma Shearer as Mary Haines, who chooses a divorce rather than countenance her husband's temporary infidelity when he becomes enamored of a perfume salesgirl, played by Joan Crawford. The constant gossiping of Rosalind Russell forces issues thruout the drama which finally comes to a happy conclusion when Miss Shearer decides to fight back and reclaim her husband.

The settings, which reflect the luxury of modern life, range from scenes of New York and its smart suburbs to Bermuda and a dude ranch in Reno, Nev. Of particular interest is a remodeled farmhouse in which much of the action transpires. Early American in type, it is furnished with a collection of priceless antiques gathered by the studio property department over a period of years. Other interiors include night clubs, beauty salons, smart shops and apartments.

The picture was produced by Hunt Stromberg and was directed by George Cukor, who has such hits to his credit as "Romeo and Juliet," "Camille" and "David Copperfield."

LYRIC

More and more, film makers are turning to the news headlines for the subjects of their pictures, and "Panama Patrol," at the Lyric theatre is one of the most interesting examples of this to be shown this season.

Second of a series dealing with the activities of the comparatively little known U. S. cipher bureau, this adventure thriller deals with the efforts of an Oriental spy ring to get out of the United States a series of plans dealing with the defenses of the Panama canal; and shows how clever work by federal agents prevented this happening.

Action which never lags has been combined with definite suspense to make this story of espionage and secret codes one to appeal to audience members of all ages. Additional interest attaches to the pictorial demonstration of the methods used by government agents in deciphering these cryptographic methods.

A number of the principals were seen in the first of these Cipher Bureau stories, including Leon Ames as head of the bureau and Charlotte Wynters as his attractive secretary, a pair who are still finding out that business interferes with their idea of getting married; Sidney Miller and John E. Smart.

Outstanding among the new players is Abner Biberman, last seen here in "Gunga Din," and who follows his fine work in that picture with a Chinese part which stamps him as one of the best of the younger character actors.

Adrienne Ames steps far out of the class of roles which she has previously played to offer the half-Chinese girl in love with the head of the spy ring, and Weldon Heyburn drops romantics for action as the chief lieutenant of the cipher bureau's head.

SIGMA

"Bulldog Drummond" keeps in step with the times! News events, headline flashes, international complications furnish the raw material for the romantic adventures of one of the screen's leading detectives. And it's all the work of Producer Stuart Walker, who, almost from the beginning of the series to the present picture, "Bulldog Drummond's Bride," at the Sigma theatre, has striven to keep these exciting stories timely and topical.

Two details in "Bulldog Drummond's Bride," the picture in which Phyllis Clavering finally snares her elusive Romeo, illustrate how the adventures of the sleuth find their parallel in real life. It is Drummond's problem in the new picture to find the loot of a bank robbery which has been hidden in a radio. That plot detail resembles a case on Scotland Yard's file in which a thief smuggled stolen bonds into Belgium in an automobile radio.

In another portion of the picture Drummond's enemies inform the French police that he is a spy. He is arrested and temporarily detained from clearing up the mystery. That detail fits with life too, because the threat of espionage has caused all of Europe to direct a sharp gaze on people traveling across borders.

John Howard and Heather Angel share the romantic leads in "Bulldog Drummond's Bride," which features Bulldog's old friendly rival, H. B. Warner, with Reginald Denny, E. E. Clive and Elizabeth Patterson who have shared many of his recent adventures. Directed by James Hogan, the film features Eduardo Ciannelli in the menace role.

The efforts of a jealous native girl and a gun-smuggling aviator to break up the romance of a pretty cabaret entertainer and a husky engineer, form the basis of "Panama Lady," at the Sigma theatre. Lucille Ball stars, and Allan Lane appears opposite.

QUILNA

Top billing at the Quilna theatre Thursday evening will be The Overholt dancing school in "Dancing Supreme." Twenty-five clever boys and girls will present this fast revue of the latest dancing steps at 9 p. m. Among dances to be given on the stage are Fred Astaire's Top Hat and Bo Jangles. Miss Patty Bourk will do a tap dance.

Handsome Alan Marshal has played both heroes and villians.

But in "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes" at the Quilna he has the oddest role of his career, for, until the final fadeout, no one knows which he is.

For this new picture, in which Basil Rathbone again plays the master detective, casts Marshal as the fiance of the heroine, Ida Lupino — and also the suspected murderer of her brother. Thus, the girl at once loves him and is repelled by him.

Australian by birth, Marshal was brought to the United States by his theatrical parents at the age of five and alternated between a stage career and school until he was 20.

Hollywood beckoned and Marshal scored heavily, both in hero roles and in subtle delineations of polite villainy.

In "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," Marshal was selected by Production Chief Darryl F. Zanuck to share top billing with Rathbone, Nigel Bruce and Miss Lupino.

Others cast in prominent featured roles are Terry Kilburn, George Zucco, Henry Stephenson and E. E. Clive. Alfred Werker directed the film, while Gene Markey filled the associate producer's post. Edwin Blum and William Drake prepared the screen play, based on the play. "Sherlock Holmes" by William Gillette, with the permission of the executors of the estate of the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

Also showing is "Quick Millions."
