GILT OFF THE DOME

Don't look yet, but the capital is slowly filling up with lobbyists sworn to get Cordell Hull's scalp on his reciprocal trade agreements. The scene has the rich barnyard aroma of an old-fashioned tariff battle. In the rush the trough may get upset.

◇ ◇ ◇

This week's favorite story around the state department is about the worried dowager who asked a diplomat whether he thought we could stay out of the war.

"Why not?" he countered, "France and Germany are!"

◇ ◇ ◇

Keep an eye on Von Ribbentrop, the Nazi champagne salesman statesman, if you want to see an accident about to happen. The Germans who are fighting the war want his hide from Hitler, because he assured Hitler that England wouldn't fight. Diplomats here think he's not a good insurance risk.

◇ ◇ ◇

Some of the local wits are trying to make something out of Fritz Kuhn and his former girl friend, Mrs. Camp. They think Fritz should emulate his idol, Adolf Hitler, and write a book called "Mein Camp."

"—not a prudent investment?"

No matter how fast we build battleships, we can't build enough for all the young Americans who want to be admirals. Every year around 40,000 boys try for an appointment to Annapolis, mostly lads around 18 years old, and mostly from the hinterland.

◇ ◇ ◇

About one in 50 makes the grade; gets the appointment and passes the mental and physical exams. Of the 793 in the last Annapolis entrance class, probably 400 or so will graduate; and of the 400, maybe 6 or 8 will become admirals. Out of the 40,000 who were willing to command a fleet or at least a flotilla.

◇ ◇ ◇

After the orgy of oratory about the arms embargo, after the fine frenzy about foreign affairs, the gray morning after has arrived in Washington.

Both officialdom and the opposition are waking to the fact that certain things are still wrong with the Republic that keeping an embargo or repealing it won't mend, that new battleships and airplanes won't correct.

◇ ◇ ◇

In the war or out of it, say the pessimists, America is plowing through her own explosive mine fields, and even the duller people in Washington know it.

"Anyone who thinks either, a Roosevelt victory," says the wondrous senator from Oz, "or a GOP victory in 1940 is the entire solution would try to repair a stalled tractor with a hairpin."

◇ ◇ ◇

Alas, both Democrats and Republicans here are only human, and therefore inclined to be lazy. Like some politicians I used to know back in Iowa, they are better at speeches than at solutions; oratory is more fun.

◇ ◇ ◇

For the last few days some of the nation's best thought has been devoted to obtaining good tickets for the Army-Navy football game. With that out of the way maybe the statesmen can tackle more prosaic problems.

"—6 out of 40,000 make it"

Several American millionaires who have been financing Fascist agitation are reported badly upset by the fate of Thyssen, the German plutocrat who financed Hitler and is now hiding in Switzerland.

They are wondering whether Fascism is a good investment—since Thyssen's fortune was seized.

◇ ◇ ◇

Incidentally, Martin Dies has been promising for more than a year—I have heard him make the promise—to reveal the names of wealthy industrialists who, he said, were pouring thousands of dollars into the American alley Fascist coffers. He said he had some proof, was getting more. Why not publish the list, Mr. Dies?

◇ ◇ ◇

One gentleman here in Washington who received from Berlin one if those exciting leaflets accusing Winston Churchill of sinking the Athenia is a former British subject, now a naturalized American citizen.

He is saving the blue 25-pfennig stamp, a handsome likeness of Field Marshal von Hindenberg.

Townsendites to Nominate Officers Sunday

Officers of the Madison Townsend club No. 1 will be nominated at the meeting at 2 p. m. Sunday in the Unitarian parish house, 15 E. Dayton st. Election will be held Sunday, Dec. 9.

Wannemaker Rites Sunday in Boscobel

BOSCOBEL—Services for Edgar L. Wannemaker, 84, pioneer settler of this community and former county official who died Thursday night in the home of a son, Claire, after a long illness, will be held at 1 p. m. Sunday in the home and at 1:30 in the Methodist church.

Mr. Wannemaker held many public offices in Crawford county, serving as county clerk, assessor, poor commissioner, and county treasurer for many years.

He was born Sept. 10, 1855, in Grant county. On Feb. 19, 1880, he married Katherine Robinson and they established a home on a farm in Crawford county. Mrs. Wannemaker died Dec. 26, 1918.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Nelson Lawrence, Hollywood, Calif.; Mrs. Amy Crum, Lake Geneva, and Mrs. F. W. Bailey, Detroit, Mich.; another son, Charles, Milwaukee; a brother, Loren, Crawford county; a sister, Mrs. G. L. Carson, McCrory, Ark.; seven grandchildren, and two great grandchildren.

The Rev. G. A. Bird, Fennimore, will officiate at the services and burial will be in the Steele cemetery, Marietta township.

Who's Who Among Wisconsin Birds

EASTERN CHIPPING SPARROW

The Eastern Chipping Sparrow is the most thoroughly domesticated of all our native sparrows, often building its nest in the ornamental shrubbery and even in the vines and shrubs about the doorstep.

It is a common summer resident of Wisconsin, breeding throughout the state. It is less numerous in the prairie regions.

Its nesting range runs from the Yukon in northwestern Canada and northern British Columbia east to southern Quebec and Cape Breton island south to central Texas, the Gulf states and central Georgia. It winters chiefly in the southern states, rarely north to Oklahoma and southern New Jersey. It is a casual in Cuba and northeastern Mexico.

The Eastern Chipping Sparrow is smaller than a House Sparrow. It has a chestnut cap, a light line over the eye, a narrow, dark line through the eye. The cheeks and the sides of its neck are gray. It is pale grayish-white or white below, without markings. Its bill is black and it has no distinct wing bars.

Nearly two-fifths of the food of this bird is animal matter and consists of many of the worst pests including canker worms, army worms, tent-caterpillars, larvae of browntail and gypsy moths, pea lice, weevils, grasshoppers. A great part of its vegetable diet is made up of weed and grass seeds and a small amount of grain.

One bird student watched a nest for 12 hours and found that a single Chipping Sparrow had brought 50 caterpillars to its young in that time.

Its nest is in the bushes of small trees, often an evergreen, usually three to five feet up but sometimes 10 to 20 feet. It is built of grasses and rootlets, lined with fine grasses and many long horsehair.
