Conn-Lesnevich Title Bout On Air Wednesday Evening

Battle Set For 9:30 P. M. Over WJZ With Sam Taub And Bill Stern Handling Word Description

Twice scheduled and twice postponed, the Billy Conn-Gus Lesnevich return bout for the world's light heavyweight championship, now in the possession of Conn, will be described over WJZ on Wednesday beginning at 9:30 p .m.

Sam Taub and Bill Stern, NBC's ace team of fightcasters, will give a comprehensive word-picture of the fracas in the Olympia stadium in Detroit.

The champion and the challenger argued the matter once before, on Nov. 17, 1939, to be exact, Conn retaining his diadem with a 15-round decision. The victory was not a decisive one, however, and Lesnevich was promptly awarded a return match.

Fred Allen, in his farewell broadcast of the season from New York, will exchange quips with Doc Rockwell, whose satire matches Fred's own, on the "Fred Allen Show" Wednesday at 8 p. m. over WEAF.

Following the broadcast Fred and his entourage will entrain for Hollywood where his last three broadcasts of the year will originate. There is a strong probability that on one of the final broadcasts the guest of honor will be Allen's arch-foe, Jack Benny.

A fountain of information and nonsense, Doc Rockwell will be making his second appearance of the year as a "Person You Didn't Expect to Meet." Last fall he was scheduled three times in a row for the Allen program due to a glandular infection before he finally was permitted to make his air appearance.

Departing for Hollywood with Fred after the broadcast will be Portland Hoffa, Harry von Zell, the Mighty Allen Art Players, the Merry Macs swing quartet, and maestro Peter Van Steeden. Only member of the troupe not to make the trip is vocalist Wynn Murray, who is committed to the American Jubilee opus at the New York World's Fair.

Conrad Nagel and Claudia Morgan will be co-starred Wednesday at 8 p. m. over WABC, when the Star theatre presents a radio version of "Undercover." The play concerns the efforts of certain individuals to import goods into America without paying duty and is considered one of the most contemporary plays i nexistence. On the Hollywood end, Carl Deacon Moore will be the guest of Ken Murray, Kenny Baker and Frances Langford.

Daisy Bernier, winsome Broadway comedienne, dancer and singer, will become the "Honey" of "Two Bees and a Honey" in Fred Waring's Pleasure Time cast with WEAF Wednesday at 6 p. m. She succeeds "Honey" Perron and will be heard regularly with the "Two Bees" in the popular rhythm spot.

"Who's Yehudi?" popular radio phrase turned into a song, will be offered as a comedy duet by Sully Mason and Harry Babbitt as a feature of Kay Kyser's "College of Musical Knowledge" over WEAF Wednesday at 9 p. m. Other tunes are "Too Romantic" and "Where Was I" with vocals by Ginny Simms, "Yours is My Heart Alone," "Angel Child," "Liza" and "I've Got My Eyes On You." There'll be the usual number of quiz contestants trying to give correct answers to Prexy Kyser's musical questions.

COLLEGE GIVES LIGHTING GUIDE FOR HOME USE

AMHERST, Mass., June 5 —(UP)—A man needs as much light for shaving as his wife does for powdering her nose but their son studying his lessons requires twice as much. If the wife takes up the family mending, the amount of light should be tripled.

Thus advises Mrs. Harriet J. Haynes, home management specialist at Massachusetts State college, in a better lighting campaign. She reports from her research that prolonged sewing requires 50 to 100 foot candles of light, or approximately the illumination shed by a 60 watt lamp at a distance of one foot.

For the children's study table Mrs. Haynes suggests 20 to 50 foot candles of light. And to illuminate those daily beauty attempts at facial beautification, the bathroom mirror and dressing table should have 10 to 30 foot candles.

"Good lighting should be adequate, glareless and evenly distributed," says Mrs. Haynes. "In a well-lighted home, there are no exposed bulbs, and the light is diffused by bowls, globes and shades."

To get "your money's worth" in light, she recommends selecting inside frosted bulbs, of the proper voltage for the home, and keeping them clean. "The thrifty home manager will use open-top shades with white or near white linings. She will keep the diffusing bowls clean. When she has the walls done over, she will remember that white reflects 80 per cent of the light."

DE LUXE ROAD TO HAVE PENNY PER MILE TOLL

PITTSBURGH, June 5—(UP)—Pennsylvania's $65,000,000 "dream" highway really will be something motorists dream about but seldom see, according to W. C. Cline, a tunnel engineer who is helping build the 160-mile road, which will run between Pittsburgh and Harrisburg.

But it will cost money for motorists to use it—one cent a mile, to be exact. Trucks will pay 4 cents a mile for use of the all-weather highway.

However, this is no ordinary highway. For example, there will be no steep hills, sharp curves or a speed limit. It will be 78 feet wide—enough for four 12-foot traffic lanes, each separated by a 10-foot wide strip of earth.

There will be no cross roads. Over or underpasses will carry intersecting traffic. Vehicles entering the new highway first will be admitted to a "warm-up" stretch paralleling the road before they are routed onto the thru traffic lanes.

The maximum altitude of the new road will be 1,300 feet, compared with almost 4,000 feet on the Lincoln highway. Curves are being so constructed that they will hardly be noticeable. The Pennsylvania Turnpike will maintain its own police force on the highway.

The tolls have to be charged to clear up a PWA loan to the state. They are expected to pay off the loan in about 15 years. After that, the express highway will be turned over to the state.

MISSOURI HILLS YIELD CULTURE 500 YEARS OLD

FESTUS, Mo., June 5—(UP)—Remains of a civilization more than 500 years odl has been uncovered in the limestone hills near here, according to Robert McCormick Adams, director of a crew of excavators which has been working in this area since January.

Adams said the most important finds to date are several pottery items, chipped stone instruments, bone ornaments and the remnants of three thatched-roof houses. Two spots are being excavated, work alternating between a ledge under a jutting cliff and a village site in open ground.

"The ledge evidently was an often-used stopping place for nomadic hunting parties for thousands of years," Adams said. "We have found traces of a pre-pottery people under 10-ton boulders. How long the boulders have lain there we can only guess."

Adams said the village site centers around a man-made mound, now almost destroyed by cultivation of crops. The three houses found so far, he said, are different. The first was about 25 feet square with a fireplace in the middle. The roof was supported by wood posts four inches square, set in a ditch. A storage bin, containing parched corn, was found near the fireplace, indicating an agricultural people.

Entertaining Double Bill Is Scheduled At The State

"Honeymoon In Bali" And "Green Hell" Open Wednesday; "Torrid Zone" Continues Run At Ohio

Fred MacMurray and Madeline Carroll are the stars of the State attraction, "Honeymoon in Bali," commencing Wednesday. MacMurray, as a colonial plantation owner, takes a trip to New York to find romance with a near tragic result. "Green Hell," an adventurous story of the South American jungle, stars Joan Bennett, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., John Howard and Vincent Price.

"Torrid Zone," Ohio adventure drama, stars James Cagney, Ann Sheridan and Pat O'Brien, with a supporting cast including Andy Devine, Helen Vinson and Jerome Cowen. The story, packed with excitement and action, is set against an exotic tropical background of the South American banana country.

"Lillian Russell," the Quilna feature stars Alice Faye in the title role in the story of the most glamorous stage star of the gay Nineties. Reviving many of the hit tunes of the day, the picture vividly pictures the prevalent gaiety and frivolity of the era. Edward Arnold, Don Ameche, Henry Fonda and Warren William are cast in supporting roles.

A new, thrilling story of the airways, "Flight Angels," is now showing at the Sigma theatre. Stars of the picture are Dennis Morgan, Virginia Bruce, Ralph Bellamy, Jane Wyman and Wayne Morris. Also showing is "King of the Lumber Jacks," a thrilling outdoor drama starring John Payne and Gloria Dickson.

The Lyric theatre attraction, "Too Many Husbands," stars Jean Arthur, Fred MacMurray and Melvyn Douglas in one of the hit comedies of the year. The dilemma of Miss Arthur, who finds herself legally married to two husbands, furnishes a background of uproarous comedy. One of Walter Connolly's last starring pictures, "Those High Gray Walls," is the co-feature.

OHIO

James Cagney, Ann Sheridan and Pat O'Brien make up the triple-threat star cast of the Ohio theatre's current attraction, "Torrid Zone." In the featured supporting cast are Andy Devine, Helen Vinson, Jerome Cowan and George Tobias, among a host of others.

"Torrid Zone," as its title indicates, has its setting south of the border, down below Mexico way. Pat O'Brien is the big boss for the fruit company that owns most of Puerto Aguilar, which also makes him the virtual boss of the whole territory. He and his ace plantation manager, played by Cagney, have a standing feud, and are constantly striving to outsmart each other. Ann Sheridan, as an American torch singer trying to earn a slightly dishonest living in the tropics by cheating the natives at cards after wowing them with her singing, helps the feud along.

O'Brien has her arrested and is trying to have her shipped back to the States, and Cagney inadvertently helps her to escape from her captors. She responds by falling in love with him, but he is far from receptive to her until circumstances give her the chance to prove that she's something more than just a gorgeous and unscrupulous show girl.

Also in love with Cagney is the wife of the plantation manager whom Cagney succeeded. Jerome Cowan and Helen Vinson play the husband and wife roles, respectively. Gravel-voiced Andy Devine plays Cagney's pal, and George Tobias is cast as the gay but dangerous rebel who is trying to drive the fruit company out of Puerto Aguilar, by such means as blowing up their trains, and making off with a majority of the plantations' workers and food supply.

QUILNA

Her name in lights! In the headlines! On thousands of lips! Men offered fortunes just to be seen in her company! And even kings acclaimed her!

That was Lillian Russell, first and greatest of the glamour girls, whose life and loves are depicted and the song hits of whose era, as well as some new ones, are sung in "Lillian Russell," which is now at the Quilna theatre with Alice Faye, Don Ameche and Henry Fonda in the top featured roles.

"Lillian Russell" is certainly one of the greatest entertainments of all time. It is a thrilling portrait of the beautiful and vivid personality of America's most fabulous era.

As portrayed by lovely blonde Alice Faye, Lillian Russell becomes one of the most colorful figures ever to face the cameras. Don Ameche as Edward Solomon, her composer husband, and Henry Fonda, as Alexander Moore, the Pittsburgh publisher, both turn in grand acting jobs, as do Edward Arnold, as Diamond Jim Brady, Warren William and Leo Carrillo. Others who do outstanding work are Helen Westley, Dorothy Peterson, Ernest Truex, Nigel Bruce, Claude Allister, Lynn Bari, Weber and Fields, Eddie Foy, Jr., Una O'Connor and Joseph Cawthorn.

LYRIC

Melvyn Douglas usually "gets the girl," and that is as it should be. Handsome, intelligent, suave, Mr. Douglas' pleasing personality has made him one of the most popular leading men in Hollywood.

But Columbia's "Too Many Husbands," in which he is starred at the Lyric theatre with Jean Arthur and Fred MacMurray, is a "different" kind of comedy and the likable Mr. Douglas both does and does not "get the girl." It all depends upon the point of view.

Mr. Douglas is one of the "Too Many Husbands" in the madcap new comedy, a Wesley Ruggles' production based upon a W. Somerset Maughan stage success. He has married Miss Arthur after Fred, her first husband and his best friend, was reported drowned at sea. Fred's sudden return provides the initial incident in a swiftly-paced series of hilarious episodes which have their conclusion only when Miss Arthur finally makes her choice between her two husbands, a choice which leaves both husbands somewhat puzzled, to say the least!

Miss Arthur, in brilliant contrast to the dramatic finesse she displayed in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" and "Only Angels Have Wings," employs to the full her triumphant gift for light comedy. As the lonely wife suddenly "blessed" with two devoted husbands, Miss Arthur delightedly and delightfully expresses her appreciation of the flattering circumstance, as well as her perplexed and fearful recognition that its outcome might well mean a prison sentence for her. Except for its many comic implications, the latter note is not too greatly stressed. "Too Many Husbads" is, after all, a comedy and Miss Arthur is one of the deftest comediennes on the screen today.
