Hollywood Favorites Found In New Hits Due At State

"Down In San Diego" And "Three Sons O' Guns" Open Thursday; Bing Crosby Film Current On Ohio Screen

Several Hollywood favorite stars have leading roles in the two pictures, "Down in San Diego," and "Three Sons O' Guns," which open Thursday at the State. In the first hit Bonita Granville, Ray McDonald and Dan Daley have leading roles while Wayne Morris and Marjorie Rambeau are starred in the other attraction.

That historic, happy time in American music when the scent of lavendar was crowded out by the hot, peppery swing of blues rhythms forms the dynamic and melodic background of "Birth of the Blues," current Ohio attraction. Bing Crosby, Mary Martin and Brian Donlevy have leading roles.

At the Lyric is "The Big Boss," which tells of the expose of corrupt chain-gang slavery racket. Otto Kruger, Gloria Dickson and John Litel are featured players. "Mail Train," with Gordon Harker, a first run attraction, completes the program.

Continuing to show at the Quilna are "Tillie The Toiler," and "Ladies In Retirement." Stars of these two productions include Ida Lupino, Louis Hayward, Evelyn Keyes, Kay Harris and William Tracy.

The Sigma is showing "Steel Against the Sky," a story about the men who build the bridges which span our rivers. Alexis Smith, Lloyd Nolan and Craig Stevens are the three main stars. Completing the bill is "Moonlight In Hawaii," a tuneful comedy production.

"Sunset in Wyoming," and "Las Vegas Nights," will commence Thursday at the Majestic.

OHIO

The happiest news to report on the local film front at this moment is that Paramount's "Birth of the Blues" at the Ohio theatre and that it is one of the finest, most exhilarating treasures of jazz music and laughs ever to hit the screen.

Crowded with some of Hollywood's best entertainers and directed by Victor Schertzinger who has no peer as a director of musicals, the cast of "Birth of the Blues" is lighted up with the names of Bing Crosby, Mary Martin, Brian Donlevy, Carolyn Lee, Jack Teagarden and Rochester. Each gives a grand performance.

Song after song, laugh after laugh is presented with hardly a let-up all thru the picture. The melody just pours forth in a joyous, delightful stream, with fifteen songs in all pitched out, which is a record for film musical numbers by the way. It's a parade of jive the likes of which we have never before heard. The Crosby and Martin larnyxes seemed to be inspired for the occasion.

In the cavalcade of blues heard are those great favorites, "St. Louis Blues," "Memphis Blues," "St. James Infirmary Blues," "Birth Of The Blues," and also several other enduring numbers, played in Dixieland jazz style, such as "Cuddle Up a Little Closer, Lovey Mine," "By the Light of the Silvery Moon" and "Wait Till the Sun Shines, Nellie." Incidentally, Bing's singing of "Melancholy Baby" as a lullaby for little Carolyn Lee got across with thrilling effect to last night's audience. The new song presented is one that already has achieved popularity, "The Waiter and the Porter and the Upstairs Maid."

The story of "Birth Of The Blues," fortunately, is not complex. It remains simple and direct thruout, merely setting the stage and preparing the atmosphere for the sizzling saxophones, Brian Donlevy's torrid trumpet, Jack Teagarden's blistering-hot trombone, Harry Rosenthal's peppery piano, Bing Crosby's dance-inducing clarinet and Mary Martin's spicy singing.

"Birth Of The Blues" goes back to the days when pioneering white folks first began playing the jazz that Negroes invented. The story takes us to the New Orleans of the early 1900's, presenting us Bing Crosby as a blues-happy clarinetist who wants to organize the hottest band in the Southland. The tale then goes on to relate Bing's hilarious and musical efforts after he gets his band to get the white folks to cotton-up to his Dixieland jazz rhythms.

SIGMA

The heart-pounding story of two men and one girl who made adventure their business, is the thrilling theme of the new film, "Steel Against the Sky", at the Sigma. The film, which gives a colorful picture of the dangerous lives that are led by the men who build our vast suspension bridges, stars that blonde bombshell of "Dive Bomber," Alexis Smith, dynamic Lloyd Nolan and Craig Stevens in his first starring role.

Lloyd Nolan, Craig Stevens and Edward Brophy play the roles of three brothers who work as fitters on the construction of a giant span bridge.

When Craig meets his brother's girl friend, played by alluring Alexis Smith, it is a case of love at first sight. Lloyd accuses Craig of double-crossing him and plans to leave town. Craig and Alexis try to explain the situation to Lloyd, and get him to see things their way, but it's all to no avail.

Lloyd returns to finish his last day's work, when the elevator cable, which is coated with ice, snaps, leaving him isolated on one of the bridge's uppermost towers. Craig, noticing the danger his brother is in, climbs up some improvised rigging and rescues Lloyd just before he faints from exhaustion. Lloyd realizes the risk his brother took and he also realizes the foolish attitude he was taking toward Alexis and promptly makes amends by seeing to it that they marry and set up house-keeping as soon as he has recovered.

Gene Lockhart and Edward Ellis make up the supporting cast.

QUILNA

"Tillie the Toiler," Russ Westover's world-popular cartoon strip heroine, came to glowing life on the Quilna theatre screen. Personified by Kay Harris, a newcomer to the screen who looks and acts like the lovely stenographer should look and act, "Tillie the Toiler" is based upon the Westover strip.

Miss Harris is the big news of the picture, an extremely attractive young woman with a decided histrionic talent, an actress who plays her role as tho she were living it. Miss Harris, in effect, is "Tillie" to a "T"! Splendid support is given the new star by such experienced players as William Tracy, as Tillie's diminutive admirer; Daphne Pollard, as her patient, understanding Mumsy; George Watts, as Mr. Simpkins, her boss; and Jack Arnold, as Wally Whipple, Mac's egotistical rival. Other roles in the film are played by Ernest Truex, Stanley Brown and Edward Gargan.

Sidney Salkow's expert direction contributes tremendously to the heart-warming delightfulness of the new film, with its dress-loving young heroine who spends her working hours dreaming of dresses or dates, between-whiles turning the office upside-down with her errors and ideas. Robert Sparks, producer of the "Blondie" comedies, officiated in similar capacity on "Tillie the Toiler," and Karen DeWolf and Francis Martin are responsible for the laugh-packed script.

LYRIC

Blasting the lid off poltical racketeering and chain-gang slavery, Columbia's exciting new melodrama, "The Big Boss" had its local opening yesterday at the Lyric theatre. Presenting one of the strongest pleas for political reform ever seen on any screen, the new film packs all the surprise and shock of a lightning bolt in its thrill-packed sequences!

Featuring Otto Kruger, Gloria Dickson and John Litel in the leading roles, the story opens in one of the small southern states where Jim Maloney is head of the state's political machine. Maloney, portrayed by Kruger, is a vicious racketeer and practically runs the state prison's chain-gang to suit himself. His best-paying scheme is one in which his associates buy up large parcels of poorly developed land at low prices. The property is then improved by chain-gang labor at the state's expense, and Maloney reaps the profits.

However, a cloud crosses Maloney's horizon when Bob Dugan, played by Litel, is elected governor on a reform ticket! Encouraged by Sue Peters, wise-cracking, young newspaper woman, Dugan vows to destroy the chain-gang and its corrupt backers. How he succeeds in smashing the racket in spite of strong opposition furnished by Maloney and his cohorts, furnishes the basis for one of the most exciting screen events seen in a long time.

Kruger and Litel are excellent in their roles, while Gloria Dickson, portraying the Girl Reporter, comes thru with a splendid performance. Don Deddoe heads the talented cast of supporting players, which also includes such familiar names as Robert Fiske, George Lessey and Joe Conti.

Modern Bluebeard Will Be District Attorney's Prey

Chiller Broadcast Set For 9:30 P. M. Wednesday; Mortimer Meek To Get Taste Of Rich Men's Problems

A modern Bluebeard, who marries rich women for their money and then disposes of them in his own unique manner, is the prey of the D. A. and his aids, "Miss Miller," and "Harrington," in "The Case of the Bitter Sweet," the chiller to be heard on the "Mr. District Attorney" program over WEAF at 9:30 p. m., Wednesday.

The story gets its title from the killer's penchant for feeding his wives poisoned candy. Written by Jerry McGill and directed by Ed Byron; with Jay Jostyn, Vicki Vola and Len Doyle.

Mortimer Meek gets an unexpected taste of rich folks with rich men's ailments when a dyspeptic millionaire, married to one of Agatha's old school friends, drops in with his wife for an unheralded visit with the Meek family during the broadcast of Wednesday, 7:30 p. m. over WABC. Frank Readick, Adelaide Klein, Jack Smart, Ann Thomas and Marjorie Davies star in the series with Elliot Jacoby and his band furnishing the musical background.

Verbal fireworks may be expected when radio brings together two of the nation's wittiest hostesses, Elsa Maxwell and Ilka Chase on Penthouse Party, Wednesday, Dec. 17, 9:30 p. m. via WJZ. Both ladies are now brushing up on their rapier-like wit, so wise-cracks should fly thick and fast. In addition, there'll be songs and music by Vaughn Monroe and his orchestra, plus the sultry vocals of Yvette.

Boogie man will meet boogie-woogie man when Boris Karloff is guest of Eddie Cantor on the "Time To Smile" program over WEAF Wednesday, at 9:00 p. m.

NOT TOYLAND, BUT THAILAND

WOOD RIVER, Ill., Dec. 17—(AP)—A radio report that the war had moved in on a new front brought despair to one six-year old boy's heart when he heard it:

"They've just invaded Toyland, mother," he cried. "The man on the radio said the Japs have started bombing Toyland."

It was some time before the mother calmed him by explaining that the invaded country was Thailand and not the winter quarters of Santa Claus.
