Pupils Complete Military Class

West Contingent Wins in Review

After one night of drill for 10 weeks—totaling 10 hours—Madison high school boys concluded the first part of the pre-induction course in military training Wednesday night at the University of Wisconsin armory in a review before Lieut. Col. Franklin W. Clark, university commandant.

Boys from West and Wisconsin high, Central and East side high schools made up the pre-induction unit. West's contingent was ranked first in the final drill. Judges were Capt. George H. Morrill, Capt. Jerry Vaughan, and Lieut. Herbert Anderson, all of the ASTP at the university.

At the close, the high school boys received a tribute from the commandant not only for the excellence in military drill but for faithfulness to the week-to-week task which was now paying off in practical knowledge and skill in formations and tactics. Col. Clarke declared their work compared well will similar training among university students over a longer period. He emphasized the advantages of the training for later military experience.

Instructors Give Time

To afford this training to pre-induction youth, officers and men from the university's military department devoted one night weekly for nearly three months without recompense. The instructional staff at the schools comprised the following:

West—Lieut. R. J. Sandegren, in charge, Sgt. James A. Wolff, Pfcs. George Rousch, Howard C. Menzel, Richard R. Schoonover, Osman Fox, and Murray Rosenfield.

Central — Capt. P. S. Duvis, in charge, Pfcs. Pfcs. James R. Blumenfeld and Jack Zimmerman.

East — Lieut. S. A. McGovern, in charge, Corp. Harold Needham, Pfcs. Lloyd William, James Hill, John Roberts, and Rodney Buergin.

New Course to Start

This course, first of the kind for Madison high school boys, was sponsored by the Madison board of education with the cooperation of the ROTC and the university extension division. Tax Level Inadequate Morganthau Declares

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., declared Friday that "we have by no means reached a level of taxation which can be considered adequate for the remainder of the war period."

In his annual report, Morgenthau repeated the contention on which there is violent disagreement between the executive department and congress. Many members of the latter contending that taxes currently are as high as the national economy can stand.

In addition to higher taxes, Morgenthau said that "next to an adequate tax system, our greatest immediate need is tax simplification."

A LITTLE SATURDAY TALK: CALENDAR QUESTIONS

Questions about the calendar appear in a letter from Helen Menge, who writes:

"Could you please tell me why our year is dated 1944 when different things are remembered 2,500 or such number of years ago? Just exactly how old is our world? I imagine it should now be dated around 3057 or 4443. If our world is so much older than 1,944 years, why is it dated that number?"

Our common calendar goes back to a year which was calculated to be the one in which Jesus was born. The present year is "1944 in the Christian era."

Our calendar is only one of a number which exist in the world. Hundreds of millions of Mohammedans say they are now living in the year 1362. They start their calendar with the year in which Mohammed left Mecca, his birthplace, to escape from his enemies.

According to the Jewish calendar, the present month is in the midst of the year 5704. In most years the Jewish calendar has 12 months with 29 or 30 days apiece, but certain years are counted as having 13 of such months.

If you were over in China, you might hear people speaking about the start of the year 32. After the Chinese republic came into being in 1912, a change in the calendar was made, and 1912 was called the "Year One."

The old Chinese calendar still lives, however. By that calendar, more than 4,600 years have passed since the Chinese adopted a new system of counting time.

The calendars of India are very much mixed up. Instead of a single calendar for the country, there are several with different starting dates, most of them opening less than 1,500 years ago.

The "exact age" of the earth has puzzled many persons. Some of the written records of Egypt and Babylonia tell about kings who lived well over 7,000 years ago. There are proofs that people lived long before there were written records.

Scientists declare that the earth is thousands of millions of years old, but they do not give exact dates on which a calendar could be based.
