Weekly Opera Series By Russian Company Opens on Air Tonight

Music Director Oscar Bradley, above, refuses to side with John Nesbitt, the "Passing Parade" star, who claims brunettes make better actresses than blondes. The diminutive maestro picks blondes and backed across the footlights from actresses—blonde and brunette—in theatrical productions for fifteen years.

A series of operas, widely known in Europe and seldom performed here, will be presented on successive Wednesday nights over station WENR at eight. Artists from the Art of Musical Russia Opera company will open the series with Tschaikowsky's "Pique Dame."

Tonight's and Thursday-times air highlight programs, classified:

Dramatic

6:30 p. m.—"The Transmutation of Ling" (WLS): a British comedy.

Musical

6:30 p. m.—Taliesin Quartet (WIBA): "A Minor Quartet" by Brahms.

◇ ◇ ◇

Variety

6:30 p. m. — Jimmy Dorsey (WMAQ): Irving Berlin's "The Yam".

6:30 p. m.—Paul Whiteman WBBM): seven nursery rhymes linked together.

7 p. m.—Town Hall (WIBA, WMAQ): Stoopnagle picks on the commentators.

7:30 p. m. — For Men Only (WMAQ): George Jessel, and Jacqueline Cochrane, speed queen, head the show.

7:30 p. m.—Minstrels (WENR): Bing Crosby tunes.

8:30 p. m.—It Can Be Done (WBBM): Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky, war hero and airplane designer, tells how.

8:30 p. m.—Melodies from Sky (WGN): music by Rodgers and Hart.

Thursdaytime

10:30 a. m.—National Farm and Home Hour (WIBA, WMAQ): the dairy industry.

Fan Fare

Virginia Payne, radio's "Ma Perkins," is getting ready to celebrate her 4,000 microphone appearance.

The broadcast by Kay Kyser and his "Musical Class and Dance" from Mecca temple was so successful that his sponsor has leased the New York hall for two additional airings.

Lew Lehr, who will be featured on Ben Bernie's new program which debuts over CBS Oct. 2, returns from Europe aboard the Queen Mary this week.

Orrin Tucker and his orchestra, here today, will open an engagement at San Francisco's Mark Hopkins hotel, Oct. 21.

Edgar Guest, interviewer of people with interesting success stories on his "It Can Be Done" series, turns interviewee Wednesday morning, Sept. 21, when he will be at the receiving end of a question and answer period conducted by Hal Tate, "The Radio Tattler," through WBBM, Chicago.

It's a girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Metz. The child, born to the wife of the "Pepper Young's Family" announcer on Sept. 8, weighed seven pounds six ounces and will be named Alice May.

Sponsors of Edgar Guest's "It Can Be Done" have renewed the series for another 13 weeks, through Dec. 28.

Branigan Found Guilty of Libel

JANESVILLE—E. R. Branigan, rebellious Irish veteran of a dozen court battles, awaited sentence today after a circuit court jury of nine women and three men deliberated 1½ hours and found him guilty on three counts of criminal libel.

The case was concluded after two days of testimony on three counts of an indictment returned by a special Rock county grand jury accusing Branigan of libeling Rock county authorities, including Dist. Atty. John H. Matheson, and several attorneys.

Issues of Branigan's small publication, The Spectator, were cited to show he allegedly libeled the officials by accusing them of malfeasance in office and the attorneys by accusing them of ambulance chasing.

At Board Meeting Today

Judge James Wickham of Eau Claire heard Delmer Danielson of Porter announce the verdict last night and then informed Branigan he would not listen at that time to new motions. He also delayed sentencing the burly Beloit coal and ice dealer until later this week.

Branigan was expected to come to Janesville today for a meeting of the Rock county board of which he is a member.

Branigan moved for a mistrial at conclusion of defense testimony late yesterday. Judge Wickham denied the motion. Branigan then refused to summarize his case to the jury and would not cross-examine the state's rebuttal witnesses.

The state's rebuttal witnesses were Stanley M. Ryan, Janesville, former U. S. district attorney; Municipal Judge Ernest P. Agnew, Janesville; and Chauncey Sandell, turnkey at the Rock county jail here.

Denies Firm Link

Ryan denied any connection between the law firm of Nolan, Dougherty, Grubb and Ryan and District Attorney John H. Matheson. Ryan said Matheson merely was employed there for a time before he was elected prosecutor. He denied the firm exerted any influence upon Matheson in the case of a farmer who was accused of assaulting Mrs. Adeline Schwartz, Waterloo, formerly of Rock county.

Branigan had charged Matheson refused to issue a criminal warrant upon complaint against the alleged assailant. Other state witnesses also denied Branigan's charges.

The defendant based his motion for mistrial on the testimony of his last witness, George Sullivan of Janesville. Sullivan told of a conversation he said he had with Mrs. Olea Grunke, Janesville, one of the jurors in the case, on Sept. 2. Branigan charged that she was prejudiced, but the court ruled that her remarks to Sullivan were unimportant in the case and did not disqualify her.

Judge Wickham ordered Branigan's bond of $5,000, which was forfeited Monday when the defendant reported 40 minutes late, to be kept in force. Branigan was allowed to return to his home, subject to immediate call of the court for passing of sentence.

John Louis, Janesville publisher, appeared before the court on a libel charged and filed an affidavit of prejudice against Judge Wickham. The judge denied the affidavit, saying it should have been filed Monday.

"Just because you don't want me is no reason why I should shirk my duty in the matter," the judge declared.

Then Louis filed an affidavit seeking change of venue on account of "prejudice of the people." It was denied for the same reason.

A third affidavit of indigence then was filed. Louis said he wanted counsel appointed because he did not have enough money to pay costs himself. He suggested J. G. McWilliams, Janesville, who formerly served a short time as county judge by appointment.

McWilliams, however, asked to be excused because he said he had business in the federal court in Madison. His request was granted.

Raymond C. Fett, Janesville, was appointed counsel for Louis and selection of a jury began.

Healy's 'Ex' Joins Widow in Search for $500,000

HOLLYWOOD —(INS)—In the belief that the late Ted Healy, film and stage comedian, left a $500,000 fortune, his widow and his ex-wife planned a conference today with an attorney to see whether it could be located.

They believe Healy had made the money in a secret real estate deal.

Mrs. Betty Braun Healy, former wife of the comedian, said that if the money were located, the majority of it would go to Healy's widow, Mrs. Betty Hickman Healy, who was left virtually penniless with Healy's baby son.

"I want justice done to this young widow and her baby," the first Mrs. Healy said.

Pair Admits Portage Holdup After Arrest

PORTAGE—Two young men arrested in Plymouth, Sheboygan county, admitted they had held up Dallas Johnson at his filling station at the junction of highways 16 and 23, Aug. 29, Sheriff H. N. Hibner has been informed.

In their first confession, the young men said they had committed a robbery in Baraboo among other places. Later they admitted the Johnson holdup was the one to which they referred.

Sheriff Hibner said providing they are given an inadequate sentence for one or more of their crimes, no action against them will be taken.

L. C. Garretson, Shorewood Hills, driver of one car, was taken to a Darlington hospital. He suffered torn ligaments in the leg and cuts around the face.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank HeilmanZ Rewey, was taken to a Platteville hospital. Heilman was driver of the other car.

Sheriff J. W. Metcalf and Undersheriff Oscar Mosely investigated the accident.

Kurt Pressentin, Long Ill, Dies

Kurt Pressentin, 54, son of the late Charles Pressentin, died Monday night at a Madison hospital after a long illness. He was a grandson of the late Carl Pressentin, Sr., early Madison watchmaker and at one time city treasurer, and a half-brother of O. E. Pressentin, city plumbing inspector. Mr. Pressentin was unmarried and lived at 130 S. Hancock st. He was a member of the Madison Turnverein. The body is at the Frautschi funeral home.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Thursday in Turner hall. County Judge George Kroncke, Sr., will deliver the funeral address. Burial will be in Forest Hill cemetery.

RICHLAND CENTER—Herman Riggs, Ralph Olson and Irvin Minett were each sentenced to a year in the penitentiary and each paroled by Judge Levi H. Bancroft on Tuesday.

Riggs pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the Backmiller tavern at Lone Rock on Aug. 14. Olson and Minett pleaded guilty to beign accessories. Olson and Minett both admitted to having been previously convicted of crimes and Minett was on parole.
