QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q—Who was the only Englishman that ever became a Pope?

A—Pope Adrian IV was by birth an Englishman and the only one of that nation who has ever occupied the papal chair.

Q—What do the letters SOS stand for?

A—The letters SOS are the international radio distress signal and have no verbal significance. This particular combination of letters was adopted because it was easily sent and readily understood. It is popularly thought to mean "Save Our Ship."

Q—Why is Raphael's "Madonna della Sedia" circular in shape?

A—According to legend, the artist is said to have been strolling along a Roman street and chanced to see a woman seated, with one child on her lap and another at her knee. He stopped and at once sketched the group on the head of a barrel—hence his picture was found.

Perfect Guest Always Welcome

By ANGELO PATRI

SUMMER time is visiting time for many children. They will be the guests of friends and relatives. Thus, it is important that they know how to be the perfect guests, to know what such a guest does and how he does it; so that when he leaves at the end of his visit, he leaves the door open behind him and a welcome awaiting his return.

The perfect guest arrives on time, and he leaves—in spite of any invitation to the contrary—on the day and hour he arranged to go.

On his arrival he is shown his room, and he puts his belongings in their places and keeps them there for the duration of his stay. Never does he scatter them about the house, nor about his room.

He watches the routine of the household and fits into it. He makes no suggestions for his own entertainment, but waits for the plans set for him by his hosts. Then he falls in with them cheerfully and as though they were the only things needed for his complete enjoyment. He always must indicate he is enjoying his stay, enjoying whatever is offered him as food, recreation and entertainment.

He sees where he can be helpful without being intrusive. Maybe there is a younger child who needs to be entertained while his mother is occupied. Maybe there are little chores about the house that can be done—like changing the flowers, putting in fresh ones and removing the leftover materials. There is always some little duty that a guest can take over and so lighten the tasks for someone else. Once taken over it must be faithfully performed.

The guest does not use anything belonging to the family without first asking permission, and he does not ask unless he is very sure that it can be granted without any sacrifice or inconvenience on their part.

The visitor is especially careful to consider the older people in the house—rising when they enter a room, seeing they have a comfortable chair if they do not at once go to an accustomed one, and in all ways considering their habits and comfort, remembering to wait to be addressed before talking to them.

This means attention to the task in hand, that of being a perfect guest, and it means work. Well, nothing worth-while, ever was gained in any other way, and being a perfect guest is very much worth-while.

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

George W. Beynon, a national tournament director of the American Contract Bridge League, gave me today's hand. George is the author of "Tournament and Duplicate Bridge," which is the only tournament manual available to tournament directors at the present time.

When a director gets a chance to play bridge, he does not miss many tricks. He is always on the lookout for the unusual, and Beynon found it in today's hand. West took the opener and shifted to the jack of clubs, which Beynon won with the king. He led a small heart to dummy's queen and East won.

East returned the queen of spades, which was trumped in dummy with the four of hearts. Now the five of hearts was played, East followed with the seven and Beynon overtook with the eight. He led a diamond to dummy's ace, and when the singleton king dropped, Beynon played another diamond from dummy and won with the queen. The third round of diamonds was trumped by East with the deuce of hearts.

At this point East made the mistake of returning a spade. Beynon discarded a diamond and trumped in dummy with his last heart, the six-spot. Now he cashed the ace and queen of clubs, and on the queen discarded his last diamond. Thus he was left with the ace and ten of hearts, while East was left with the jack and nine of hearts. Beynon led a diamond from dummy and he had East couped. East trumped with the nine, Beynon overtrumped with the ten and laid down the ace for the last trick.

A Reaction Due to Allergy

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MENIERE'S disease is one of the strangest of the many disorders now thought also to be due to allergic reactions.

People afflicted in this way are apparently well unless they eat some food or come in contact with something to which they are allergic and then a most unpleasant episode ensues. The first reaction is likely to be extreme dizziness and impairment of the hearing in one ear, the sounds of the outside world being replaced by a persistent and annoying ringing in the affected ear. During an attack, the patient grows pale and often suffers from cold sweats, sickness at the stomach, and vomiting.

Unpleasant Symptoms

The exact reason why an allergy should take this form in some people is yet to be found, but the unpleasant symptoms can be accounted for by the fact that the reaction brought about by the allergy involves the blood vessels supplying the ear, which is not only the organ of hearing but also houses the body's balancing mechanism.

A number of different forms of treatment have been employed. One of the most recent consists of the use of histamine diphosphate. When persons are allergic, histamine is formed in excessive amounts in the body. Hence the object of this treatment is to make the patient less sensitive to histamine.

In employing the treatment, the histamine diphosphate is given slowly at the rate of 40 to 60 drops a minute by injection into a vein. The histamine diphosphate is dissolved in about a half pint of salt solution.

The treatment is given daily for ten days. At the end of this time, if no improvement is noted, the process is repeated for another 10-day period. Then, the preparation is given by injection under the skin, starting with a small dose which is gradually increased until some discomfort is produced. Reactions may consist of flushing of the face and a feeling of heat.

More than a hundred patients were treated in this way, and about three-fourths of them were completely relieved of the ringing in the ear, while the remainder had marked improvement. The hearing was improved in nine out of ten cases, and the dizziness relieved in about the same number.

In older patients, who had signs of deficiency in vitamin B-complex as shown by redness of the tongue and lining membrane of the cheek, the vitamin B-complex was given by injection into a vein three times a week. Later on it was given by mouth.

Of course, treatment of this type must be carefully carried out under the direction of the physician who will determine in first what causes it may prove of value.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. C.: What is the cause of a basal metabolism reading of 24 minus?

Answer: The exact cause of the low metabolic rate cannot be stated. It may be due to a thyroid deficiency.

Treatment with thyroid extract would probably be helpful. It is suggested that you consult your physician concerning the proper dose to be used.

(Recipe for Starred Dish Follows)

MEXICAN RAREBIT ON CRISP CRACKERS: Measure about 1-2 cup ripe olives and cut away the olive meat from the pits in as large pieces as possible. Heat 1 1-2 tablespoons salad or olive oil and cook 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper and 2 tablespoons chopped onion in it lightly. Sprinkle 1 tablespoon of flour over the vegetables and stir well to coat them; now add 3-4 cup canned tomatoes, 1 cup whole kernel corn, 1 tablespoon salt and a grinding of black pepper, and 1-8 teaspoon of chili powder (more if desired). Cook over low heat until thickened and bubbly. Beat 2 eggs lightly and add slowly to hot mixture, stirring constantly over very low heat, until eggs are done, about 5 to 10 minutes. Blend in the olives and a cup of grated cheese and serve over crisp salted crackers. Makes 4 servings.

Dust and cobwebs on light bulbs light but also may create a fire not only cut down the amount of hazard.
