Van Buren Editor Will Be Heard With Burns On Radio

Scribe Is Proof That Folks Bob Talks About Do Exist; Pearce And Gang In Gotham

Another of Bob Burns' Arkansas friends proves that he really exists when Hugh Park, editor of the Van Buren Press Argus, Bob's home town paper, is heard between the acts of "The Arkansas Traveler" which stars Bob Burns in the Radio Theatre Monday. This play, with Fay Bainter supporting Burns, will be broadcast over WABC at 9 p. m.

Hugh Park, to whom Bob has often referred in his regular programs with Bing Crosby, will be cut into the Radio Theatre from Van Buren, Arkansas, probably the Best known town of its size in the United States.

"The Arkansas Traveler" in which Bob Burns plays the title role — a hobo who has no name but "The Traveler" — is the story of a small town newspaper and how the Traveler who dropped off a train one night saved it from a scheming local politician.

Van Buren, Arkansas, is a town of 5,182 inhabitants, the same size perhaps as the one in the play. Hugh Park, editor of the Press Argus (published every Friday, circulation 1500) is representative of the best type of small town American editor.

Radio City, New York, will be broadcasting headquarters indefinitely for Al Pearce and His Gang, beginning with the broadcast Monday at 8:00 p. m., over WEAF. Since the NBC Hollywood studios.

Harry Von Zell will be chairman of the reception committee and then will take his place as regular announcer for the show during the Radio City engagement. Accompanying Al will be all his principals, including Tizzie Lish, Arlene Harris, and the orchestra leader, Carl Hoff. The theme of the first Radio City broadcast will be "Arrival in Manhattan."

The picturesque figure of Mark Twain, the man "who shook the sides of the world" with his merriment, will be recreated in Cavalcade of America's radio dramatization of the life of the famous novelist and wit, to be heard Monday over WABC.

Not the first American to enjoy a joke, but certainly the first to make known to the Old World that broader, more zestful brand of humor now classified as characteristically American, Mark Twain is, 28 years after his death, still well up in the best-seller class. The epic scope and abounding color of his tales of the Mississippi, the timelessness of his wit in "Huckleberry Finn" and "Tom Sawyer" today place the total sales of his works at more than ten million volumes.

"Lohengrin's Farewell" from Wagner's "Lohengrin" will be sung by Richard Crooks, tenor, during the Voice of Firestone program Monday at 8:30 p. m., over WEAF. The Metropolitan Opera star also will sing Herbert's "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," Taylor's "Life and Death," and Kreisler's "The Old Refrain." Alfred Wallenstein will conduct the orchestra in the "Zampa" Overture by Herold Dance from Massenet's "Scenes Napolitaines," and the Strauss waltz "Thousand and One Night." The broadcast will originate in Chicago where Crooks will be making the first in an extensive series of concert appearances which eventually will take him as far as Australia and Africa.

Eddie Cantor will lead his merry mountebanks into Earl Carroll's patented patent-leather nitery in Hollywood. Earl Carroll will be on hand to personally guide the radio audience thru the wonders of his emporium, and Dixie-drawl announcer Bert Parks will double in song with "Sweet Little Headache." The air-circus will be heard Monday at 7:30 p. m. via WABC.

Ticket sellers from New York's teeming Grand Central Terminal, old hands at answering all sorts of questions, will bring their talents to the air Monday in the weekly True or False program at 10:00 p. m. over WJZ. Opposing them will be a team of modern American dancers.

The ticket sellers are: William L. Littell, captain, Gustave George, William W. Gaul, Russell J. Fredericks, John V. Cotter and Joseph Lackey. The dancers' captain is Klarna Pinsha, and her team mates are Hilda Sheldon, Selma Rubin, Kathleen O'Brien, Lily Mann and Francysca Del Burgos.

FRANKLIN AND JOHNNY—WHO'S KIDDING WHOM?

It's all smiles and good fellowship in this picture of the President and vice president, but the good-natured inscription by Roosevelt on the above autographed picture comes from the heart as the chief executive and Vice President Garner clash over the White House WPA appropriations bill. Garner wrote, left, in this autographed picture of Dr. George W. Calver, capitol physician: "To 'Doc' Calver—thanks for making me 'try' to behave." Then FDR wrote: "For Dr. Calver—keep on trying."

Crashing at the parking lot of the North American Aviation plant at the municipal airport at Los Angeles, an experimental Douglas bomber for the Army is shown in flames just a few minutes after the tragedy. Test pilot John Cable was killed when he leaped from the falling plane and a second man was seriously injured.

DOCTORS FIGHT TO SAVE 12-YEAR-OLD WIFE AND HER INFANT DAUGHTER

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 — (INS) — As authorities today debated on what should become of 12-year-old Jennie Renello Rota and her baby, death still stood by waiting for a chance to settle the problem in its own way.

Both the child wife and her infant daughter remained in a critical condition at the Loretto hospital but each hour that passed found them stronger and with a better chance of surviving.

Apparently dead when born Saturday, the 4-pound, 11-ounce baby was revived by injections of a heart stimulant and use of a trachea catheter into its lungs to permit breathing. It has since been kept in an incubator.

Outside the door of the room where Jennie continued to fight for breath under an oxygen tent, paced the 24-year-old husband, Frank Rota, with whom she eloped last summer.

As soon as the marriage became known, they were separated by the juvenile authorities. Rota was ordered to remain away from his wife until she became of age but the rule was relaxed when their child was born.

Both hoped it would be the means of bringing them back together. In one of her first conscious moments, the girl whispered:

"Can we have our own home now? Will the judge let me have Frank?"

Rota, who met and wooed Jennie when she was in the seventh grade and he was a roomer in the Renello home, was joined by the girl's parents in wishing that the ban would now be lifted.

"It's foolish for her to go back to school as the court told her to," said Frank. "She's already had more education than I had. I only went thru sixth grade."

REJECTED LOVER SHOOTS HIMSELF AND TWO WOMEN

CHICAGO, Jan. 30—(INS)—Miss Georgia Fitzhugh, 47, and William Harley, 52, a rejected suitor, were in a critical condition today from bullet wounds inflicted, police said, when he shot her and then tried to kill himself.

Less seriously injured was the woman's sister, Mrs. Virginia McAlpine, who was in the apartment when Harley broke in last night. The women were said to be descendants of the revolution patriot, Patrick Henry.

Harley, married and the father of a 24-year-old son, fired three bullets into his head after wounding Miss Fitzhugh five times and shooting her sister in the hand, police said.

CORONER RULES MAN KILLED HIS WIFE AND SELF

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30—(AP)—A verdict of murder and suicide was returned today in the deaths of Harry A. Menke, 45, a jeweler, and his wife, Jennie, 38, found dead in their home.

Coroner Frank M. Coppock, Jr., said Menke strangled his wife and then shot himself. City Fireman William E. Kinzel, a neighbor, and detectives forced their way into the residence yesterday and found the bodies on the bed. Officers said the home was in disorder and broken dishes were scattered in the rooms, indicating the couple engaged in a struggle. A cloth was tightly drawn about Mrs. Menke's neck and a pistol was in her husband's hand, Coppock said.

The coroner said he learned from relatives that Menke and his wife had been despondent since the death of a daughter two years ago. He said the couple had been dead since Thursday.

Famous Comedy Scheduled To Open Tuesday At The Lyric

"You Can't Take It With You" Has All-Star Cast; "Jesse James" Continues At Quilna

"You Can't Take It With You" the picturization of the Pulitzer prize-winning stage play by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart will open Tuesday on the screen of the Lyric. The story concerns itself with the astonishing happenings in the household of Grandpa Vanderhof, played by Lionel Barrymore. The all-star cast includes Jean Arthur, James Stewart, Edward Arnold, Mischa Auer, Spring Byington and many other favorites. "He loved an Actress" is also scheduled to open at the Lyric Tuesday.

The valiant story of a man who lived to avenge his mother's death is told in the film, "Jesse James," which is now showing at the Quilna theatre. Tyrone Power in the title roll is supported by Randolph Scott, Henry Fonda and Nancy Kelly.

Clark Gable gives a really amusing performance as a "ham" song and dance man, in the screen version of the stage play, "Idiot's Delight," which is now showing at the Ohio theatre. Norma Shearer as his leading lady and Edward Arnold, Burgess Meredith and many others complete the cast.

Basil Rathbone continues the work of his father in giving life to the inhuman monster, as he portrays the role of Baron Wolf von Frankenstein in the film, "The Son of Frankenstein," at the Sigma theatre. Boris Karloff, Bela Lugosi, Josephine Hutchinson, Lionel Atwill and Donald Donagan complete the stellar cast.

James Cagney as a no good gangster and Pat O'Brien as a priest interested in the welfare of boys in the slums, co-star in the dramatic story, "Angels with Dirty Faces" which is now current at the State. The Dead End Kids, Humphrey Bogart and Ann Sheridan complete the cast.

"I'm from the City" a western comedy starring Joe Penner and Lorraine Krueger is the second State feature.

QUILNA

The unfailing regularity with which Darryl F. Zanuck produces outstanding motion pictures has prompted his biographers to endow him with a positive genius for film-making.

But Zanuck possesses an even more amazing trait than that. Evidenced in the nonchalant manner in which he has turned his hand to the production of an ever more widely diversified list of subjects, it may perhaps be not too extravagantly described as a "magic touch."

His latest production, "Jesse James," Technicolor epic of the most colorful outlaw who ever lived, which stars Tyrone Power, Henry Fonda, Nancy Kelly and Randolph Scott at the Quilna theatre, marks a complete departure from everything that has gone before. And, judging by all advance reports, his success with it is so phenomenal that the picture is being hailed as the greatest achievement of the producer's brilliant career.

Some idea of the staggering variety of subjects the adventurous Zanuck has essayed along the road to this supreme success can be gleaned from a glance at the hits which preceded it.

Let us go back to "Lloyds of London." Here was a powerful drama of a love that changed the destiny of an empire, produced on a magnificent scale. The picture starred Freddie Bartholomew and the beauteous Madeleine Carroll and boasted the additional distinction of carrying a handsome unknown named Tyrone Power to overnight stardom.

OHIO

Robert Sherwood's Pulitzer prize-winning play, "Idiot's Delight," comes to the screen at the Ohio threatre with Norma Shearer and Clark Gable in the memorable roles created by Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne.

Clarence Brown directed and a cast of notable players appears in support of the stars. Among them are Edward Arnold, Charles Coburn, Joseph Schildkraut, Burgess Meredith, Laura Hope Crews, Skeets Gallagher, Peter Willes, Pat Patterson, William Edmunds, Fritz Feld and a group known as "Gable's Glamour Girls," who dance with him in a burlesque number.

The group consists of Virginia Grey, Lorraine Krueger, Paula Stone, Virginia Dale, Joan Marsh and Bernadene Hayes, appearing as a chorus when Gable sings "Pattin' on the Ritz," his initial attempt at song on the screen.

Sherwood seized the wider range of the cameras and wrote a new opening which introduces Miss Shearer and Gable as the vaudeville troupers on tour in Omaha. In the stage play this incident was established only in retrospective dialogue.

The story follows the lives of these two, as the girl strives for an exalted position in life and becomes a fake countess. The hoofer, still what he was back in Omaha, meets her in Europe at a critical moment in the international scene. War breaks out as they are stranded in a border town with a group of strange people. Under the shower of bombs from enemy planes they realize that their love was born far back in Omaha and has strengthened with the years.

SIGMA

Aimed to surpass all former entries in the field of blood-chilling shockers, "Son of Frankenstein," now playing at the Sigma theatre, achieves that mark thru the sheer force of its eerie drama.

Vivid, living portrayals that make the spine tingle are created out of human and inhuman characters by a talented cast headed by Basil Rathbone, Boris Karloff, Bela Lugosi, Lionel Atwill, Josephine Hutchinson, Emma Dunn, Donnie Dunagan, Edgar Norton and others.

Rathbone is starred as Baron Wolf von Frankenstein, young scientist who elects to follow the life-creating experiments of his infamous father. Wolf brings the destructive monster back to life, only to have it cut a bloody path of killings.

Karloff, as the half-human Frankenstein creation, and Lugosi, as the broken-necked peasant, top their grim characterizations of the former "Frankenstein" and "Dracula" thrillers.

Rowland V. Lee directed and produced the sensational new drama.

ECONOMY DRIVE DRAWS PRAISE

Head Of Citizens' Tax League Urges Local Officials Follow Example

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 30—(UP)—Samuel P. Bush, president of the Citizens' Tax League of Ohio, said today that economies effected by Gov. Bricker amount to four per cent of the state government's annual cost and recommended that local officials follow the governor's economy policy.

Bush said the league "commends the governor for the fine start he has made and recommends that other tax-spending agencies in the state follow his example." He said the governor saved $3,000,000 during his first three weeks in office.

He added that a $50,000,000 annual saving could be realized if county, municipal and township officials would reduce their governmental expenditures.

"This is the first time in my 48 years of personal observation," Bush said, "that I have seen a governor of Ohio actually roll up his sleeves and start saving the people's money. If Gov. Bricker or the Republicans close to him . . . spend taxpayers' money foolishly, we shall be just as firm in our denunciation as we were of his predecessor."

The league was formed during progress of the senate graft investigation of the former administration.

PELTIER TELLS CLUB HOW HE FINDS COMETS

(Lima News Bureau)

DELPHOS, Jan. 30—The business of discovering new comets is simple, according to Leslie C. Peltier, of Marion-tp, who explained it before the members of the Toledo Naturalists club at Toledo Friday night where he lectured on "Astronomy."

All you have to do is to watch the skies with a telescope," Peltier said. "If you see a comet at a spot where no comet is scheduled to be, then you telegraph to Harvard university," he added, "and there they check to see, first, if it is a comet, and second, if it is an old comet making a return visit, and thirdly if it is a new comet."

If the comet is new, then Harvard tells the Franklin Foundation at Philadelphia, the club was told. If the finder is the only one who has discovered it, then it is given that person's name and also is numbered with the figures of the year and given a letter. The comet discovered by Peltier Jan. 19 is numbered 1939A, the first to be discovered this year.
