BULLETIN

The second hearing on the Fitzsimons bill, relating to married women in public jobs, will be broadcast by WIBA at 2 p. m. Thursday.

The birthday anniversary of George Washington will be observed in a variety of ways on the air tonight—with music, drama, and questions—in regular and special broadcasts.

"Story Hour at Mt. Vernon" will be presented on WIBA at 6:45 by pupils from the Madison public schools under the direction of Miss Ethel Cotts. Jim McWilliams will devote his Ask-It Basket on WBBM at 6:30 to questions about American history. Patriotic music will be featured on WGN's Music Counter at 9:30, with Harold Stokes dedicating his program to 400 members of the Reserve Officers Training Corps in Chicago high schools.

Other highlights tonight:

Dramatic

7 p m.—Gang Busters (WBBM): and the Laurel line killers, who perpetrated a $70,000 robbery on a tralley car and shot all the passengers.

8:30 p. m.—Wings for the Martins (WENR): new ideas in education.

11:30 p. m.—Lights Out (WIBA, WMAQ): "The Survivor"—story of sailor who survives a fire at sea.

Musical

Spring Green, Center Play to Settle Title

GAMES THURSDAY NIGHT
Consolation
7:30 p. m.—Black Earth vs Sauk City.
Third Place
8:30 p. m.—Reedsburg vs. Ridgeway.
Championship
9:30 p. m.—Spring Green vs. Richland Center Independents.

SPRING GREEN—Survivors of semi-final play Tuesday night, the Richland Center Independents and Spring Green C. Y. O., earned the right to meet in the finals of the second annual Spring Green amateur basketball tournament Thursday night.

Spring Green defeated the Reedsburg Orioles, 25-22, and the Richland Center Independents topped St. Bridget's C. Y. O. of Reedsburg, 27-22, in title flight games Tuesday night.

Spring Green Rallies

The Black Earth Bacon Drugs upset the highly touted Arena Merchants, 25-23, in two overtimes and the Sauk City Cardinals bested the Richland Center Hardwares, 30-27, in semi-final games of the consolation flight. They meet Thursday night at 7:30 for the solace crown; Reedsburg battles Ridgeway for third place at 8:30. The championship game starts at 9:30.

A 14-point spurt in the second quarter provided the Richland Center Independents with victory; "Mac" McKenzie, forward, garnered 10 of the points. Richland Center had a 23-13 lead at the close of the third quarter and withstood Ridgeway's late rally. McKenzie had 13 points to lead the scoring.

John and Ned McGinley set the pace with 10 and eight points, respectively, as the home team battled Reedsburg on even terms for three periods then stepped out early in the final session to bag the decision. Reedsburg held an 18-17 lead at the start of the fourth quarter; two baskets by Ned McGinley, one by John, and one by Jess Turner then shoved Spring Green into the lead to stay. Hal (Whitey) Leutkins and Herb Wolter sparked Reedsburg, the former getting 10 points, six on gift shots.

Schulenberg Sets Pace

"Darky" Schulenberg was the hero in Black Earth's upset win over Arena. His two free throws in the closing seconds of the regular game brought his team a 23-all tie and his basket from midcourt provided it with victory in the second overtime. Schulenberg also was high scorer of the game with nine points.

Sauk City maintained a slim lead over Richland Center Hardwares throughout their game. The winners led, 19-16, at the half. Kennedy, Hardwares' forward, led the scoring with 12 points; Fran Zantow was high for Sauk City with 10. The box scores:

All-Middleton Battle Looms for Title

GAMES TONIGHT
Third Place Flight
7 p. m.—Oregon vs. Marshall.
8:10 p. m.—Barneveld vs. Hollandale.
Championship Flight
9:20 p. m.—New Glarus vs. Middleton Bar.
10:30 p. m.—Middleton Merchants vs. Mt. Horeb.

VERONA—The second annual Verona city team basketball tournament advances into the semifinals tonight with Middleton's two strong contingents, the Merchants and Circular Bar, and the Mt. Horeb Dunlap Millers and New Glarus still in the running for the championship.

The four quintets won the opening games Tuesday night over Barneveld, Hollandale, the Marshall Lazer's Hotshots, and Oregon Firemen. The four losers continue in the third place flight in the first two games tonight.

All-Middleton Fight?

Evan Nicholas' Middleton Merchants club today appeared headed for a second straight tournament title here. It was favored to defeat Mt. Horeb tonight while its city rival, the Circular Bar, was expected to best New Glarus and thus make it an all-Middleton championship battle Thursday night.

The defending champions romped to an easy triumph over Barneveld in the opening tourney game Tuesday night. With Ernie Stricker and Nordeen Offerdahl pacing a high-powered offensive, the Merchants easily ran up a 22-3 lead in the first half and continued to have things their own way in the final two quarters. Stricker netted 12 points and Offerdahl had 10.

Mt. Horeb Takes Lead

Mt. Horeb flashed a well-rounded scoring attack to defeat Hollandale. Playing a steady brand of ball, Mt. Horeb stepped off to a 12-4 lead in the first half and after matching the losers' spurt in the third quarter, it went on the defensive to protect its lead. Norm Hanson, Hollandale center, ran off with scoring honors on 11 points. Mt. Horeb's points were well divided, Romie Endres leading with seven.

The Marshall Lazer's Hotshots looked like a winning team in the first quarter of their battle with New Glarus, but thereafter the New Glarus team controlled the play. The losers took a 10-7 lead in the first quarter and New Glarus forged to the front, 15-14, at the half and continued to increase its lead easily in the second half. Hoesly, New Glarus forward, was high scorer on 10 points.

Here's The Thriller

It remained for the Circular Bar and Oregon fives to furnish the thriller of the night. The two teams fought nip-and-tuck in the first half which ended with the Middleton club leading, 9-8.

The victors boosted their advantage to 17-12 in the third period but were then overtaken by Oregon's consistent play in the fourth period. Oregon trailed, 23-20, with two minutes left. It then took over the lead on a long shot by Steve Madsen and a hook shot by George Litch.

The final horn sounded a split second after Ed Schwenn had put the Circular Bar back into the lead on a sleeper basket. Schwenn had four baskets as the leading scorer. Litch and Charles Lundy had seven points apiece for Oregon.
