The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. "Five Centuries in Los Angeles." Mrs. S. Fred Hogue. World-wide News, 7 a.m., 12:30, 5:50 and 9:55 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

A national survey just concluded revealed that the average length of time a radio set is used each day is four hours—so be that as it may, you will not find it hard tonight to use up those four hours in concerts that predominate the programs.

First up after the dunes are cleared away—Nathan Abas conducts the Standard Symphony Orchestra—KFI at 7:30 o'clock—the music to be of various types, including operatic and symphonic compositions. The overture and prize song from Wagner's "Die Meistersinger" are two of its delightful high lights.

Another excellent half-hour is always the Inglewood Park concert—the large concert orchestra under the baton of Frederick Stark—tonight it offers "Covered Wagon Days"—in which the march of civilization to the Pacific is musically pictured. Here is a spot in which you will find the songs you love extolling the West—singers, too. Just tune KHJ at 8:30 o'clock.

KFRC, San Francisco's Don Lee-Columbia chain station, is not to be outdone—for it sends through KHJ at 9 o'clock tonight—well, we'll let them tell it in their own words:

"The folk festivals of both the Old World and oriental nations yield up their treasures of music and song—gay peasant songs, procession music and dance tunes. Caltana Christoph is the featured soloist—and Earl Towner conducts the orchestra."

Words come often too easily to publicists—but we'll be badly fooled if it is not as we believe a real high spot for your evening.

And now let's step over to the High Lights for a lot we haven't room for here.
