THREE IN CRIME QUIZ FACE CONTEMPT MOVE

WASHINGTON, June 5 — (AP) The Senate Crime Investigating committee voted today to recommend contempt of Congress charges against a trio of witnesses—two of them reputed leaders of Chicago's Capone gang.

Chairman O'Conor (D-Md.) told a reporter after a closed-door meeting of the committee that the vote was unanimous.

Two of those it agreed to ask the Senate to cite for contempt are Rocco Fischetti and Murray L. (The Camel) Humphreys. The third is George S. May, owner of a Chicago engineering company bearing his name.

The crime probers previously have listed Dischetti and Humphreys as among the leaders of the Capone mob, which it has called one of the nation's two major crime syndicates.

All three witnesses, long-sought by the committee, were questioned here May 28 at a closed hearing. O'Conor announced afterward that they had refused to answer numerous questions, claiming their constitutional right against possible self-incrimination.
