Fibber M'Gee And Company Start Fifth Year On Radio

27 Canadian Stations Added To Chain; Molly Expected To Return To Show In About A Year

Fibber McGee and company will observe their 200th appearance on the air and the beginning of their fifth year on NBC in a broadcast over WEAF Tuesday at 9:30 p. m. with three special events to be celebrated:

1. The sponsor's birthday gift of the entire Canadian network, (27 new stations,) added to the McGee hook-up.
2. Molly's probable return to the show next fall.
3. A brand new 52 week contract for Fibber.

With this new audience of untapped millions to coax into a listening radius, possibilities of Molly's return to the program, and a new contract in his pocket, Fibber starts his fifth year with the odds all on his side.

Molly has recovered from the illness which has kept her off the show for more than a year, and doctors say she will be back with Fibber on the program as soon as she is sufficiently recuperated.

The McGee show goes into its fifth cycle as one of the ten most popular programs on the air, altho when it was launched, April 16, 1935, its principals, its format, and even the names of Fibber GcGee and Molly were completely unknown to the radio audience.

Roland Young, loveable and befuddled star of the "Topper" series, will visit Bob Hope Tuesday, at 10:00 p. m. over WEAF. Young's insanities, plus those of Bob Hope, the mad professor, Jerry Colonna, Pasty Kelly, Jack Smart, and Elvia Allman, will add up to a dizzy score during the course of the half hour broadcast. Skinnay Ennis and his orch, with the Six Hits and A Miss, will provide the musical background.

A mystery thriller based on the question, "Who poisoned the aunt?" written by Max Marcin, popular playwright, will be dramatized on Johnny Presents over WEAF Tuesday, at 8:00 p. m., as another of "The Perfect Crime" stories. Directed by Jack Johnstone, the drama will be enacted by a picked cast of radio's better known artists.

Johnny the Call Boy, as master of ceremonies, will introduce music under the baton of Johnny Green with a number of vocalists including Genevieve Rowe and the Swing Fourteen. Numbers will be "Sing a Song of Sunbeams," "Ta Hu A Hu Waii," "Penny Serenade," "The Touch of Your Hand," "The Moon Is a Silver Dollar" and "Step Up and Shake My Hand."

Latest reports on what goes on in New York and in Hollywood will be given by a variety of personalities in interviews by George Jessel, master of ceremonies, on the For Men Only program Tuesday. The Hollywood report will come from Colonel Lemuel Q. Stoopnagle, inventor of such novelties as cellophane eight-balls for people who want to look ahead. He's just back in New York from the film city.

Others to be heard over WEAF at 8:30 p. m., will be Ethel Barrymore Colt, daughter of famous Ethel Barrymore and herself a stage star; Lucius Beebe, bon-vivant, man-about-town and columnist; and Billy the Oysterman, restaurateur and popular New York character. The Merry Macs, swing singers, will be heard with Peter Van Steeden's orchestra.

Two voices, until now known only as those of Popeye and Olive Oyle, of pen-and-ink movie fame, will for the first time speak for themselves when their actual owners, Jack Mercer and Margie Hines, appear on "We, The People" over WABC Tuesday, at 9:00 p. m.

Others to be interviewed by Gabriel Heatter, host of the program, will include Irene Castle McLaughlin; Fred Lowry, blind whistler with Horace Heidt's band; Ike Smalls, a grocer whose profits go for medical aids for indigent people, and Roy Bassett, teen age detective.

Mercer and Miss Hines will tell of the difficulties involved in having their identities submerged in the two comic characters created by the late cartoonist, Segar. They will sing the picture's theme song, "I'm Popeye, the Sailor Man", and indulge in a special "sound track" sequence in character.

Mrs. McLaughlin will reveal interesting phases of her work as technical advisor of the new Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers picture, "The Story of Vernon and Irene Castle", which is based on her own professional life and that of her former husband. She will reminisce on the carefree days preceding the World war when she and Vernon popularized intimate dancing in America.

Doctor Rockwell's sensational prescription for a life-span of 150 years, with payoffs on the installment plan, will be explained during the seventh session of Doctor Rockwell's Brain Trust, broadcast Tuesday, over WJZ at 9:30 p. m.

The true basis for enjoying 150 years of life on this earth is a strong constitution and a ravenous appetite, contends the Doctor, and with the aid of his co-braintrusters he will explain how these can be acquired while paying off installments for the privilege of extra time on your hands.

19 ARE INDICTED BY GRAND JURY IN MERCER-CO

(Special To The Lima News)

CELINA, O., April 4—Nineteen indictments, three of which were secret, were returned by the April term of Mercer-co grand jury here late Monday afternoon, after a one-day session during which testimony from 22 witnesses was heard.

Two indictments were returned against Stanley Galbreath for burglary and larceny; two indictments against Florian Rosengarten for forgery; two indictments against Ivan Garwood and DeLoyd Garwood, for grand larceny; Ed Soetheer for statutory offense; Morton C. Schlegel for grand larceny; Frank Lang, Louis Ungerer and Harley Campbell, for non-support; Floyd Steele, James L. Wager and B. Ainsworth, for issuing checks without sufficient funds.

CANDIDATES FOR HONOR SOCIETY ARE SELECTED

(Lima News Bureau)

KENTON, April 4—Plans for the selection of members of the Kenton high school chapter of the National Honor society by members of the school faculty and student body are well under way, it was announced today by Charles Secoy, school principal. The selection will be final and announcement of the successful candidates will be made May 12, he said, and induction ceremonies will be held May 15.

Rev. Herbert E. Pfister, pastor of St. John Evangelical Reformed church, will deliver the address at the services to be held at that church. The ceremonies will be conducted by charter members of the group, named last year.

DEGREES TO BE CONFERRED

DELPHOS, April 4—First and second degrees will be conferred upon a class of 18 candidates in Leatherwood grange hall Thursday evening. The work will be put on by the Leatherwood team. The third and fourth degrees will be conferred upon the same class on April 13, when Jackson grange of Allen-co will exemplify the work.

The first American almanac was published by William Pierce, of Cambridge, Mass., in 1630.

SCOTT MAN IS APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATOR'S POST

(Special To The Lima News)

VAN WERT, April 4—Fred Douglas of Scott has received the appointment of investigator in the Van Wert-co office of the Division of Aid to the Aged.

Douglas, who assumed his new duties Monday, was unanimously endorsed for the position several weeks ago by the county Republican Central committee. He has been a precinct committeeman at Scott for years.

J. Howard Apger of Delphos, recently appointed inspector for the Ohio Liquor Control Board, has announced his resignation.

New Jones Family Film And Race Drama On Quilna Bill

Great Stars In "Everybody's Baby" And "Road Demon;" Comedy And Prison Story Ohio's Fare

"Everybody's Baby," featuring the Jones family, and "Road Demon," starring Tom Beck, Henry Arthur, Henry Armetta and Bill Robinson, are the two features now showing at the Quilna theatre. In the first picture, the Joneses welcome a new member to their family. Their daughter and son-in-law present Ma and Pa Jones with a new granddaughter and this causes excitement no end among the whole family.

The comedy, "Yes, My Darling Daughter," taken from the successful Broadway stage play of the same name and starring Priscilla Lane and Jeffery Lynn, is one of the features now showing at the Ohio.

"Within the Law," an unusual drama featuring Paul Kelly, Ruth Hussey and Rita Johnson, is the other picture current at the Ohio.

Tuesday is the final day for the showing of "Blackwell's Island," starring John Garfield and Rosemary Lane and "Almost a Gentleman," starring James Ellison and Ace, the wonder dog, at the Sigma theatre.

"Stand Up and Fight" and "Annabel Takes a Tour" are the twin features current at the State. Robert Taylor and Wallace Beery are the stars of the former feature and Jack Oakie and Lucille Ball head the cast in the latter film, which is the second in a series of comedies.

Opening Tuesday at the Lyric is the first in the series of "Blondie" features starring Arthur Lake as Dagwood, Penny Singleton as Blondie and Larry Sims as Baby Dumpling. The title of this feature is "Blondie". "The Storm" starring Preston Foster, Tom Brown, Charles Bickford, and Andy Devine is the second Lyric picture.

SIGMA

A terrific clash of wills between a belligerent chief engineer on a vessel and a determined ship's-physician, motivates the exciting plot of the Sigma's "Pacific Liner," which serves as a starring vehicle for Victor McLaglen and Chester Morris.

With its action transpiring on board an ocean steamer, the story presents McLaglen as the masterful chief of the ship's engine and fire rooms. Morris as the vessel's doctor and Wendy Barrie as a nurse.

The hard-boiled chief engineer resents the doctor's daily inspection of the stokehold crew, as well as his more than professional interest in the pretty nurse, and a bitter conflict develops between the two men. This condition is further aggravated when a deadly epidemic breaks out below decks and the engineer's steel-walled domain is put under quarantine by the physician.

The domineering engineer's efforts to keep the engines running at top speed with a slowly diminishing crew, his final succumbing to the dread malady himself, the doctor's struggle to save him, and the unusual romantic triangle provide suspense-laden events which are said to bring about one of the most gripping climaxes seen on the screen in many months.

Directed by Lew Landers, "Pacific Liner" also features in the cast Barry Fitzgerald, Alan Hale and Allan Lane. Robert Sisk produced.

Those men who may have wondered what goes on in the inner sanctum of a luxurious beauty salon will have their curiosity rewarded with the showing of "Beauty for the Asking," in which Lucille Ball plays the top role.

Most of the action of this entertaining film takes place in a swanky beauty establishment where the latest and most involved devices for beautifying milady are shown in action. And such screen lovelies as Frances Mercer, Whitney Bourne, Leona Maricle and Ann Evers do the demonstrating with reducing machines, vibrators, steam cabinets and paraffin baths!

Other featured players are Patric Knowles, Donald Woods and Frieda Inescort.

This film is also showing at the Sigma.

QUILNA

As the slightly hen-pecked and bewildered husband of Bonnie Jones in the famous Jones Family series, Russell Gleason has had little or no opportunity to assert himself. That is why he looked forward to his role as a brand-new father in the latest of the comedies, "Everybody's Baby," at the Quilna theatre.

In the role of a proud father Russell expected to swagger all over the set, distributing cigars in the traditional way and bragging about his "little one." When the day for shooting this particular scene arrived, the confident actor quipped to Director Mal St. Clair: "Well, Mal, today I am a man!"

"That's what you think," St. Clair replied. "Your first lines today will be: 'Woo-woo! Da-Da! Kitchy-Coo!'"

"Everybody's Baby" features, in addition to the familiar members of the Jones Family, Reginald Denny, Robert Allen, Claire DuBrey and Marvin Stephens. The screen play was written by Karen DeWolf, Robert Chapin, Frances Hyland and Albert Ray.

Two prominen members of the cast of the second of Sports Adventure series, "Road Demon," also at the Quilna theatre, are very boastful about their famous ancestry.

Tom Beck's great-great-great-grandfather was John Loudon McAdam, inventor of the method of road construction and surfacing which bears his name — the macadam road. He completely rebuilt England's highway system.

Jonathan Hale, who plays a "heavy" in the film, is a great-great-great-nephew of Nathan Hale, one of America's most renowned patriots.

Henry Arthur, Joan Valerie, Henry Armetta and Bill Robinson are also included in the cast of "Road Demon," which was directed by Otto Brower.

OHIO

Priscilla Lane and Jeffrey Lynn are romantically teamed again and some of the foremost practitioners of the art of light comedy are seen also in "Yes, My Darling Daughter," film version of the successful stage play of the same name at the Ohio theatre.

The two young players who contributed such tender and moving moments in "Four Daughters" are themselves strictly comedians in their new team venture, and in their quest for laughs they have the expert assistance of such notables in the field as Roland Young, May Robson, Fay Bainter, Genevieve Tobin and Ian Hunter.

The plot of the stage play by Mark Reed is followed rather closely in the screen version written by Casey Robinson, but points of emphasis have been lightened here and there to anticipate any possible objections by boards of censorship.

Gustav Machaty, the Continental director in charge of "Within the Law" film also at the Ohio, attempted a novel experiment, shooting the same scene twice, each with a different technique. In one he follows the play by Bayard Veiller, in which Mary Turner screams at the court when she is unjustly sentenced to prison, Ruth Hussey emoted as Jane Cowl did in the original Broadway hit in 1912 and was carried from the scene, clawing at the court attaches, screaming maledictions

"Now," said Machaty, "we'll try it as a modern girl would face it. She smiles and walks out gracefully. She chews no wall paper. We play it almost in silence."

Ruth Hussey took her place before the bar of justice, smiling calmly. Machaty was about to call for action.

"Wait a minute," Miss Hussey called out, "if I can't chew the wall paper I can at least have a wad of gum." And she did.
