Dog-Handling Clue Seen in Freund Case

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—A famed dog trainer said today that the brutal murderers of Otto E. Freund, wealthy retired businessman, either were known to the victim and his dog, or were experienced in the handling and commanding of dogs.

Michael von Motzeck, the trainer, participated in a re-enactment of the crime at Freund's palatial suburban home Sunday and watched the dog's reactions as detectives and members of the family acted-out the slaying.

Investigators have been puzzled by the dog's calmness in the face of his master's slaying and the near-fatal beating of the family's maid, Marie Held, 51.

Nearly 50 per cent of those wishing to join the Eire army are rejected.
