JACOBY ON BRIDGE

— By Oswald Jacoby —

One of the most important bridge tournaments of the year is the annual Bridge Week, held this week in Los Angeles, and at the end of August in San Francisco.

The quality of the play in this West Coast classic may be gauged from the hand shown today, played by Clarence Strouse, of Hollywood, in last year's Bridge Week.

Mr. Strouse's decision to bid four spades was based largely on the fact that the opponents had bid clubs so strongly.

It seemed highly probable that North had no high cards in clubs and must therefore have some strength in the red suits, where it could be used.

West opened the deuce of diamonds, and Mr. Strouse properly spotted this as a singleton.

He therefore put up the ace of diamonds at once and tried to draw trumps quickly with the ace and jack of spades.

West took the second round of trumps with his king and led a heart, still hoping to get a ruff.

Mr. Strouse blocked this plot by taking the ace of hearts instead of trying a finesse.

He then led the ten of spades from dummy and dropped the nine from his own hand. With the trumps thus drawn, he led the nine of diamonds from dummy, intending to let it ride for a finesse if East played low.

East saw that his diamonds were located, so he put up the king of diamonds and returned a low club.

Mr. Strouse had to ruff the club, but now it was easy to cash the queen of diamonds, ruff a low diamond in dummy, and force entry to his hand by returning a heart.

East could take the third defensive trick with the king of hearts, but then declarer had the last trump and two good red cards to win the rest.

Ag Extension Workers Course Set at U.W.

Some 124 county agricultural extension workers from 30 states will study extension methods, consumer education, communications, and sociology at a three-week summer session at the University of Wisconsin beginning June 9, the university announced Friday.

Instructors in the course, the fifth at the university, will be Maurice White, university farm radio director; Robert Clark, state 4-H club leader; J. Neil Raudabaugh, extension specialist, Iowa State college; P. K. Connelly, assistant county agent leader, Indiana; John T. Mount, assistant state 4-H club leader, Ohio;

Mary L. Collings of the division of field studies and training, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.; J. B. Kohlmeyer, agricultural economist, Purdue university; and Alice Linn, extension clothing specialist, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Grace Church to Hear Nes, Seminary Dean

The Very Rev. William H. Nes, dean of the Nashotah House Episcopal seminary, Nashotah, will be the speaker at the Festival of Pentecost observance Sunday at 11 a.m. in Grace Episcopal church here.

The festival, commonly called Whitsunday, concludes 50 days of observance in the Episcopal church that began on Easter Day.

Members of Grace church will begin ceremonies with baptism at 3 p.m. today and on Sunday with the Holy Eucharist at 7:30 a.m. and the Liturgical procession and Holy Eucharists at 9 and 11 a.m.
