Fishing Tales To Be Spun By Moore On Elman Program

Piscatorial Fables Promised By Musical Comedy Star As Highlight Of Hobby Lobby Show

Piscatorial fables of the kind that would make Izaak Walton turn in his grave will be told by Victor Moore, musical comedy star, on Dave Elman's Hobby Lobby Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. over WJZ.

Moore, according to advance reports, is not only an accomplished deep sea fisherman, but has developed the technique of fish stories to an even high art. The star of the Pulitzer Prize musical comedy "Of Thee I Sing," and a host of other Broadway productions and screen successes, he is currently appearing in "Leave It To Me."

Among the other hobbies that will be described on the program are racing automobiles, tin can xylophones, umbrellas, fox horns and cold fire. Announcer Alan Kent will aid Dave Elman in his interviews, while Harry Salter and his orchestra will background the show with musical selections.

Miss Patsy Smith, a petite Southern lass who swallows swords along with her "R's", will be interviewed by Fred Allen as his "Person You Didn't Expect To Meet" on "Town Hall Tonight" Wednesday, at 9:00 p. m. over WEAF.

Miss Smith, of Lexington, Ky., suh, looks as tho she'd be more at home with magnolia blossoms than with two-edged steel swords, but she's just about tops in her trade. For the last five years she has been a feature attraction with Ringling Brothers, and now is performing with that circus at Madison Square Garden in New York preparatory to going on tour.

The daring criminal careers of the two Bird Brothers and a lifelong accomplice, dating from their youth, will be dramatized in the next two Gang Busters broadcasts over WABC Wednesday, at 8:00 p. m. and Wednesday, May 3, at 8:00 p. m. A law enforcement officer associated with the case will describe details of it to Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf.

The two Bird brothers, Charles and Frank, and their accomplice, James Widmer, first met as youths in a reformatory at Boonville, Missouri. Each had committed a series of petty thefts, and after their release, they entered upon careers of big-time crime.

Candidates for diplomas at Kay Kyser's College of Musical Knowledge will be put thru their final examinations during the Professor's broadcast Wednesday, from 10:00 to 11:00 p. m., over WEAF. The oral examination, based on questions submitted by radio listeners, will test the contestants' knowledge of contemporary music and musicians. The "student" making the highest score will be graduated "magna cum laude" and the music professor will fatten his purse with the cash prize. During breathing spells in the examination, Kyser's "makes you wanna dance" music will be heard, with Virginia Simms, Harry Babbitt and Sully Mason as vocalists.

Shirley Ross, screen star playing a personal appearance engagement in New York, will be a guest of Tommy Dorsey and his orchestra on their WEAF program Wednesday, at 8:30 p. m. She will sing "The Lamp Is Low," an adaptation from Ravel's "Pavane" by Peter de Rose, Bert Shefter and Mitchell Parish, and "The Lady's In Love With You," from her new picture, "Some Like It Hot."

This will be Miss Ross' third visit to the Dorsey program within a year. While the orchestra was playing in Hollywood, Miss Ross was the only girl to compete in the Dorsey Amateur Swing Contest with Bing Crosby, Jack Benny, Ken Murray and Dick Powell.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes will discuss the plight of intellectual refugees in an address before a dinner of the American Guild for German Cultural Freedom to be heard over WJZ at 10:00 p. m.

The dinner, arranged by the American Guild for German Cultural Freedom as a tribute to Secretary Ickes, will be held at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria and will be attended by more than 800 people.

Life Of Bell Told In Film Opening On Quilna Screen

Change In Booking Brings Hit Here At Preview Wednesday; Great Cast In Production

Due to a change in bookings, the Quilna theatre will open with "The Story of Alexander Graham Bell" at a preview Wednesday night. This film is based on the life of one of history's greatest inventors, Bell, who thru his hopes and dreams, invented a device over which persons could talk, namely the telephone. Don Ameche is cast in the title role with Henry Fonda as his assistant. The Young sisters, Loretta, Sally Blane, Polly Ann and Georgiana are seen in supporting roles.

"The Hound of the Baskervilles" starring Basil Rathbone and Richard Greene will close Wednesday at the preview.

Opening Wednesday at the Sigma will be Hopalong Cassidy's latest western thriller, "Silver on the Sage" in which he again captures the bad men.

"Fisherman's Wharf," is the second new feature at the Sigma. Bobby Breen, Henry Armetta and Leo Carrillo head the cast in this unusual story.

Continuing at the Ohio is "The Story of Irene and Vernon Castle" featuring Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire in the title roles. Edna Mae Oliver and Walter Brennan also have important roles in this delightful story of two young people who started a new dance fad.

Boris Karloff, the spine-chiller, is seen in another of his horrible monster roles in the film, "Son of Frankenstein" which opens Thursday at the State. Basil Rathbone, Lionel Atwill and Josephine Hutchinson are in supporting roles.

"Comet Over Broadway" is the second feature coming to the State.

Two hits, "Little Orphan Annie" starring Ann Gillis, Robert Kent and June Travis, and "Sky Giant," featuring Richard Dix, Chester Morris and Joan Fontaine, are now showing at the Lyric.

STATE

A duplicate of the 1910-model airplane in which Bleriot made his record-breaking flight across the English Channel appears in an important sequence of "Men With Wings," the technicolor cavalcade of aviation at the State theatre.

William A. Wellman, director and producer of this story of the growth of aviation during 35 years, secured the antique plane from Mrs. Catherine Daugherty, widow of Earl Daugherty, greatest of the early California pilots, who has had the plane in storage since the days it was flown.

"Men With Wings" tells the story of three young Americans caught in the tremendous surge of aviation from the flight of the Wright Brothers in 1903 to the present day. As the three friends are swept forward by the swift current of aviation progress, the great events of the history of flying are seen in the background—the flight at Kitty Hawk, Bleriot's crossing the English Channel, the World war sky battles, the first airmail flight, Lindbergh's epoch-making New York-to-Paris hope and, finally, the breathtaking round-the-world flights of Wiley Post and Howard Hughes.

OHIO

That the fashion cycle swings around every twenty years is proved by the screen re-creation of "The Story of Vernon and Irene Castle," in which Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers are starred at the Ohio in the two name parts.

Laid in the pre-war period, the story is based on the lives of the late Vernon Castle and his wife, Irene Castle, and the costumes are those of the 1910-1918 era. However, with the exception of one bustle dress worn in an early sequence of the film, all Miss Rogers' clothes could be worn today and not be out of style.

Designed by Mrs. Castle, who also acted as technical director on the picture, the clothes worn by Miss Rogers are adaptations of many of the fashions launched by Irene Castle during the days that she and her husband were an internationally famous dance team. They include a tailored street outfit patterned after the uniform worn by Castle when he was a captain in the Royal Flying Corps; a Russian adaptation including an Astrakhan cape and high turban hat, grey wool dress, belted with red suede and Russian boots in red calf skin; and a tunic evening gown trimmed with grey fox.

Appearing in support of the two stars in the Castles picture are Edna May Oliver, Walter Brennan, Lew Fields, Etienne Girardot, Janet Beecher and many other ranking players.

QUILNA

Out of the stirring past of this great nation emerges a drama of accomplishment that symbolizes the tradition of America—the story of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone. His is the dramatic romance of one who dreamed and struggled, loved and achieved. Simple, human and inspiring, the magnificent motion picture coming Wednesday to the Quilna theatre pays homage to his genius and to a woman's devotion. Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Story of Alexander Graham Bell," a production with Don Ameche (in the title role), Loretta Young and Henry Fonda sharing stellar honors, tells with power, with humor and with profound humanity the drama of a great man and the love that inspired him.

Bell's is a story that belongs to America—the obscure young scientist, his discouraging struggles, his invention of the telephone, his desperate battle against public ridicule and powerful opponents, his ultimate triumph, the flame of his genius kept alight by the love and faith of the woman he adored.

SIGMA

Music steeped in the romance of the Mediterranean is intermingled with modern melody in "Fisherman's Wharf," the new picture in which Bobby Breen is starred at the Sigma.

Frank Churchill, who collaborated in writing the tunes for "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," composed a medley of familiar Italian songs which Bobby Breen will sing. The lyrics for them were prepared by Paul Webster.

"Sell Your Cares for a Song," a thoroly modern melody was written by Victor Young, with the lyrics by Charles Newman. Young, famed as an orchestra conductor, is also musical director of the film.

Also in the film will be heard the very first musical effort of two young college boys—Farlan Myers and William Howe. Students of the University of California at Los Angeles, the two composed "Fisherman's Chantie," and sold it to Producer Sol Lesser as their first professional offering. Musical critics declare the number indicates smash hit possibilities.

Boyd meets girl—but Boyd never gets girl!

The watchfulness of Producer Harry Sherman again saved William Boyd from breaking his record as the screen's No. 1 woman-eluder!

It all happened during the filming of "Silver on the Sage," the latest "Hopalong Cassidy" range drama at the Sigma theatre, featuring Boyd, George Hayes and Russell Hayden. As the cameras ground away on location on a California ranch, Boyd put his arm around lovely Ruth Rogers, as the script demanded.

"Cut!" cried out Producer Harry Sherman, who had issued a ukase forbidding all love-making — or anything approaching it—in scenes featuring Boyd. Some time ago "Cassidy" fans made it clear that they believe feminine entanglements detract from their hero's he-man character. And so he ordered a romance-less retake!

* * *

LYRIC

The rivalry between a famous pilot and a student flier over a girl, forms the romantic basis of "Sky Giant," the Lyric's exciting picture of modern aviation.

With Richard Dix sharing starring honors with Chester Morris and Joan Fontaine, the film is laid against a background of a big flying school, and reveals interesting sidelights on the training of student pilots. Harry Carey and Paul Guilfoyle play the chief supporting roles.

Carey is the strict commandant of the school and Dix his right-hand man, an old-time flier with little sympathy for Carey's stern ideas of discipline. When Carey's son, Chester Morris, comes to the school as a student, the romantic and temperamental conflict begins. The stirring climax comes during an attempted mapping flight across Alaska for a new air route to Europe, and furnishes countless new thrills in screen entertainment.

It will give your heart a lift to go down to the Lyric theatre and see the comedy drama, "Little Orphan Annie." Throbbing with the unselfish deeds of the title character—whose doings in the picture are along the same lines of those of the famous comic strip character created by Harold Gray—this is the sort of filmfare which any moviegoer enjoys. Ann Gillis, who found high favor with moviegoers when she appeared as Becky Thatcher in "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," brings the favorite of the "funnies" to life on the screen.

In a simple straightforward way, the drama tells the story of the little orphan's efforts to get along in New York, after leaving her farmer-adopter because of his unkind treatment. She is helped on her way by a young truck driver whose object in life is to make a success as a prize fighter. Later she meets up with him again, and does her best, with the help of her newly-found friends in the city, to aid him in reaching his goal.
