Toscanini To Wield Baton On Switzerland Broadcast

Verdi's "Requiem" To Be Heard From International Music Festival At Lucerne

Arturo Toscanini will conduct a performance of Verdi's "Requiem" during a broadcast from the International Music Festival at Lucerne, Switzerland, Wednesday from 3 to 4:45 p. m. over WJZ.

Soloists will include Zinka Milanov, soprano, Kerstin Thorberg, contralto, and Nicolai Moscana, basso, all of the Metropolitan Opera Company. They will be accompanied by a choir and a picked orchestra of 90 men selected from outstanding Swiss orchestras.

The broadcast will be Toscanini's third and concluding radio appearance from Lucerne, and will preface his return to this country to conduct the NBC Symphony Orchestra in its third season of concerts.

Stanley Baldwin, former prime minister of Great Britain, will be heard over WJZ from 9:30 to 10:15 p. m. as he addresses the Congress on Education for Democracy at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York City. Baldwin's talk will be titled "Democracy at Work."

Lowell Thomas, famous news commentator, will pinch hit for Dave Elman as "Dean of Hobbyists" on the Hobby Lobby program over WJZ at 7:30 p. m. Thomas will be the fourth substitute on the program. Elman is due back the following week.

Literary names will be featured by Arlene Francis and Fred Uttal on their "What's My Name?" quiz program at 8 p. m. over WEAF. Clues to the identity of literary figures have been selected from among the 60,000 submitted by listeners since the program's inception six weeks ago. Music between interviews will be supplied by Peter Van Steeden's orchestra.

Remaining in Hollywood to complete work on their new motion picture, Kay Kyser and his musical troupe will broadcast their College of Musical Knowledge program from the film city from 9 to 10 p. m. over WEAF. The "professor" will enroll members of the studio audience in his class and quiz them on their knowledge of contemporary music and musicians.

The Bible as a textbook for individual freedom will be illustrated in a talk on "Europe Discovers the Bible," by the Rev. Francis C. Stifler at 11:30 a. m. over WEAF. Rev. Stifler, editorial secretary of the American Bible society, is the weekly speaker on the devotional series, "The Truth That Makes Men Free."

LEARN HOW TO TRAVEL ON VERY LITTLE MONEY

Satisfy Your Wanderlust.

Travel is in the air this year! World's Fairs in full swing—everyone seeing new sights—and many discovering for the first time how little travel can cost.

The Fairs themselves suggest the many delightful trips nearby. From New York you may take a six-day cruise by freighter to Nova Scotia for $55. Hawaii is less than a week from San Francisco by passenger boat.

And do the foreign exhibits at the Fairs urge you to see the world? You can gratify that urge at less cost than you think.

On one four-month freighter trip you can go from New York to Los Angeles via the Panama Canal, visit Japan, China, the Philippines—see the mysterious Orient. The cost? About $1 a day.

Passenger boats to Europe have reasonably priced accommodations—some for less than $100. Hiking or bicycling your way thru Europe, you need to spend very little and you get delightful, intimate glimpses of the life of the people.

And not far away are Central America, South America, Mexico! Modest-priced trips to those and other parts of the world are given in our 32-page booklet. Tells how to see the Orient, Europe, the Americas, has pointers on passports, travel offices, clothing.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of HOW TO TRAVEL ON LITTLE MONEY to The Lima News, Home Service, 635 Sixth-av, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

WOMAN RIDER TO SHOW HERE

Miss Lucy Belli, the only woman in the world doing a double somersault on the back of a galloping horse, will be seen with Lewis Bros. Big Three Ring Circus when it will exhibit at Lima Thursday afternoon and evening on the Bellefontaine-av and Kibby-st show ground.

LEWIS BROS. CIRCUS TO PRESENT UNUSUAL ACTS IN TWO LIMA SHOWINGS

Thursday morning Jumbo Lu will bring the last circus caravan of the season to Lima. The attraction is Lewis Bros. Circus, now in the foremost rank of tented enterprises and Jumbo Lu, the giant elephant and the star of the remarkable elephant act with this show, is one of the score of features that keeps this three-ring circus in popular favor.

Just as the Lewis circus is quite different from other circuses in many ways, so is Jumbo Lu's remarkable act. This big beast, weighing over three tons, concludes her clever performance by turning her immense bulk completely around on an elevated six inch plank, and then she returns to the menagerie tent to continue to beg humbly for peanuts.

One of the distinctive characteristics of the Lewis Circus this season is the presence of so many young but talented performers. Beauty and youth prevail among the scores of the feminine performers and the vigorous young men with new thrillers and daring stunts do their share to amaze and surprise the circus fans.

The often repeated statement "when you have seen one circus you have seen them all" cannot apply to the Lewis Bros. Circus. It is vastly different from all and offers a two-hour program filled with acts not to be found with any other circus and where any act similar to other acts is found it will be noted to excel.

Every circus has a wire act but none have any such daring, clever act as that seen with the Lewis Circus produced by Bobby Gordon. Dog acts are common, but never before has a troupe of acrobatic chow dogs been seen and the chow dog has always been thought incapable of being trained.

Every circus has an elephant act, but none to compare with the one of which Jumbo Lu is the star with the Lewis Show. Riding acts are common, but the work of Mlle. Lucy, a recent importation from the big European circuses thrills the crowd as she turns a series of somersaults and flip flops on the back of her galloping horse. No such comedy is to be seen with any other circus as the comical stunt of a complete baseball game by Paul Miller and Blinky Hoffman, two of the score of clowns with the Lewis Circus.

A big, high class circus at popular prices is the policy of the Lewis show. Like most big shows, the Lewis Circus does not parade but instead gives a series of free acts on the show grounds prior to each exhibition.

Doors will open Thursday at 1:30 and 7:30 and performances start promptly at 2:15 and 8:15 p. m.

HURT SLIGHTLY IN PLANE CRASH

LANCASTER, O., Aug. 16 — (INS)—Twenty-four-year-old Vernon Hill of Zanesville nursed minor injuries today as the result of a plane crash on a farm near Lancaster.

Hill told police he was banking on a turn at 600 feet when the tiny monoplane he was piloting took a nosedive into a field on the farm of Porter Kauffman. A passing motorist pulled the pilot free of the badly damaged craft. The plane did not catch fire.

The plane was owned by Sam Smith and Ray Giles of Lancaster.

Top-Flight Film Fare Now Showing For Quilna Patrons

"Frontier Marshal" And "Chicken Wagon Family" Are Attractions; "Hotel For Women" Opens Friday

Lima movie fans Wednesday will have the opportunity to see pictures dealing with mystery, comedy, and love.

Continuing to draw crowds at the Quilna are "Frontier Marshal," and "Chicken Wagon Family." Principals in the western picture are Randolph Scott, who portrays a law enforcer, Nancy Kelly, beautiful brave western girl, and Caesar Romero, who portrays a deadly killer. The other picture shows how Jane Withers, Leo Carillo, Spring Byington and Marjorie Weaver roam the country in a mule-drawn wagon trading trinkets to farmers.

Beginning Friday evening will be "Hotel for Women."

What life means to four girls who enter the nursing profession, is revealed in "Four Girls in White," half of the Lyric bill. The four are Florence Rice, Una Merkel, Ann Rutherford and Mary Howard.

"Boys Town," the story of a priest who builds a home for homeless boys, completes the Lyric bill.

Virginia Bruce, Walter Pidgeon, Lee Bowman and Ann Dvorak have the leading roles in "Stronger Than Desire," current picture at Ohio. A girl who was looking for excitement finds plenty of murder, blackmail and love. Pidgeon portrays a prosperous lawyer who fights for his wife after she has been accused of murder. This picture will continue thru Friday.

The startling, stunning expose of a society doctor who played with a band of ruthless killers is depicted in "Undercover Doctor," now at the Sigma. J. Carrol Naish portrays the doctor who is being hunted by G-man Lloyd Nolan.

"Heritage of the Desert," a story of a devil-may-care youth on an exciting trail of adventure and romance, also is current at the Sigma. Donald Woods has the leading role.

Two new pictures will open Thursday at the State. "Juarez," is the thrilling drama having Mexico as a setting and other will be "They Asked For It."

Closing Wednesday night will be "Sergeant Madden," the story of a cop who is ordered to capture his killer-son, and "Love Affair," featuring Charles Boyer and Irene Dunne.

OHIO

Virginia Bruce and Walter Pidgeon in their second appearance as a romantic team score again in "Stronger Than Desire," melodramatic romance of New York society, now playing at the Ohio theatre. The story is a combination of happy married life, legal intrigue, a blackmail plot growing out of a flirtation, and a murder mystery with a photographic clue that provides something new in the unraveling of crime puzzles.

Pidgeon plays a prosperous lawyer whose wife suspects him of a flirtation and retaliates with one of her own, to discover that she has been playing into the hands of a blackmailer who threatens to compromise her. In a struggle over her letters he strikes her. She instinctively picks up a revolver on his desk, shoots him, and flees, to undergo inward torture while his wife goes to trial for murder, and her husband struggles to save her from the chair. The solution to the crime and clearing of the situation comes in a dramatic episode in the courtroom after the husband has found the clue which points to his own wife, then the second clue which clears both women.

Pidgeon is engaging and at times rises to dominate situations as the lawyer husband. Miss Bruce, wearing a profusion of gorgeous gowns, handles both her comedy and dramatic moments with skill. Ann Dvorak is a poignant figure as the accused wife. Ilka Chase plays a clever character comedy role as Jo, the commonsense family friend of the couple, and little Ann Todd plays their small daughter with all the skill of a veteran actress.

Lee Bowman plays the engaging villain as the blackmailer specializing in victimizing women, and Richard Lane provides comedy as Brody, the investigator. Lavish settings representing fashionable homes and penthouses, a colorful fashion salon and swank night clubs, prison scenes and other New York details are realistically handled.

SIGMA

Gun play, fierce fighting, ruthless treachery and tender romance—all expertly interwoven by Zane Grey—comes to the screen of the Sigma theatre Wednesday when "Heritage of the Desert" had its local premiere.

The other reasons why this western is so successfully translated from the original to the screen are: the direction by Lesley Selander, veteran western director, and the unusual all-star cast whose realistic interpretations lift "Heritage of the Desert" from the rank of the run-of-the-mill westerns. Filmgoers will readily recognize such Hollywood luminaries as Donald Woods, Evelyn Venable, Russell Hayden, Robert Barrat, Sidney Toler and C. Henry Gordon.

The film unfolds the fortunes of an eastern sophisticate, who weary of his soft, easy life, goes west to search for adventure and fortune. He gets a good measure of both, and more, when he encounters a lovely damsel of the desert who saves his life.

The tenderfoot is almost murdered by his treacherous representative when along comes a kindly, pious rancher who saves his life from an agonizing death in a quicksand pit. The rancher's daughter nurses him thru the crisis. Not much time is wasted. For before long, the tenderfoot discovers he's fallen in love with his benefactress. A jealous cowhand tries to make things tough for the stranger but only succeeds in ruining his own chances.

Heather Angel, who plays the socialite finance of J. Carrol Naish in "Undercover Doctor," which comes to the Sigma theatre on Wednesday, was educated in England, France and Switzerland before she went on the stage, making her debut in "Christmas Eve" at the old Vic theatre in London. Her first featured role was in "The Sign of the Cross."

QUILNA

Comes summertime and millions of jalopies suddenly sprout like dandelions from dank garages, overloaded with happy families heading for the open road and the great outdoors. The golden months of June, July and August are the signal for laughter and joy that walls just can't hold, so it's out-in-the-world for more folks than you can count.

But picture a family on the move not only during those months without an "R" but all the year 'round. A family whose every worldly possession is stowed away, not in a gasoline buggy, but in a mule-drawn covered wagon. And in addition to household goods the wagon carries a cargo of trinkets and merchandise for trading with those lucky folk who have a roof over their heads.

"That's the "Chicken Wagon Family," whose adventures are told in the new Quilna picture starring Jane Withers with Leo Carrillo, Marjorie Weaver, Spring Byington and Kane Richmond.

But altho their mobile roof-tree is on the move 12 months of the year, the Chicken Wagon Family's life is much to be envied. There's excitement and romance around every bend of the road and all their cares are wrapped in a flashy red bandanna and stowed away deep in the "innards" of the wagon.

Rangy Randolph Scott confides that he once worked for two years as an "administrative engineer," without having the vaguest idea of what an administrative engineer was.

When two years had passed and he still hadn't been able to find out, Randy walked out and went to Hollywood, where is currently appearing as Wyatt Earp in the title role of the production, "Frontier Marshal," at the Quilna theatre.
