The following programs are compiled from reports provided by the broadcasters. No responsibility assumed for last-minute changes which sometimes are made.

DIAL LITES — TONIGHT

6:00—KNX—"All My Sons," the story of a greedy war profiteer who not only causes the death of many unknown men but brings grief and death to his own family, is the "Radio Theater" presentation tonight. Burt Lancaster, Edward Arnold, Scott Brady and Ann Pearce play the leading roles.

6:30—KFI—"Proudly We Hail" presents its two hundredth broadcast on this station tonight. Lee Cleary is featured in the light comedy "My Brother Abe," the story of an old man who outwits his grasping relatives.

8:00—KHJ—The warped psychological disposition of a brilliant man who takes delight in managing the lives of others is the background of George Valantine's latest adventure, titled "The Chair of Humanities."

8:00—KECA—Martha Lou Harp, singing star of the south, and "Fletch" Philburn, noted trombonist, joins Henry Levine in the musical funfest "Strictly from Dixie."

9:00—KFI—Jascha Heifetz, soloist on tonight's "Telephone Hour" plays the composition with which he made his American debut in 1917. The work is Respighi's setting of Vitali's "Chaconne."

TELE-TIPS

7:00—KECA (7)—"Miss Pilgrim's Progress," the story of an American girl's experiences in England, starring Yolande Dolon, Michael Rennie and Garry March, will be the feature film on "Triple Theater" tonight. In addition, another top grade movie, "Shanghai Gesture," starring Gene Tierney, and a western will be shown.

8:30—KFI (9)—A boy and girl charged with engineering a yacht explosion to collect $1,000,000 insurance are placed on trial on "You Be the Jury." "Verdicts" are submitted by home-viewers, and the winner will be announced the following week.

9:30—KTTV (11)—Louise Albritton and John Baragrey will star in "Torrents of Spring." This is the sad tale of a young man who forsakes his fiancee, returns to reclaim her love, and finds that she has married and emigrated to America. This is a "Studio One" production.

10:00—KTSL (2)—William Dieterle and other show business luminaries help "Mr. Show Business" N. T. G. launch his new television variety act.

If Plays Assure Making Bid, Being 'Generous' Pays-off

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"THE trouble with most bridge players," said Generous George, "is that they're too stingy. I like the people who play bridge against me, and I enjoy making them happy. So I hand them a trick now and then just to see them smile."

"Very kind of you," I muttered. George would really give you the shirt off his back—for a small profit. However, his bridge hands are usually worth listening to.

"The opening lead was the queen of hearts," reported George, "and the first trick was taken by the king of hearts. I was all set to play my other heart to the second trick when I found that the jack of diamonds had been led back at me. What do you think of that?"

"Neat plot," I said admiringly. And neat was the word for it. East planned to take his ace of trumps as soon as spades were led. Then he would lead a low heart in the hope that his partner could win the trick.

This risky play would work, of course, since West had the jack of hearts. West would return a diamond, and East would set the contract by ruffing the second round of diamonds.

"Nothing neat about it," said George. "Just dirty tactics. Trying to take the bread out of my mouth, that's all. Well, you know me. If they want a trick that badly, I'll always give it to them.

"I took the second trick with the king of diamonds and played some clubs. On the third high club, led from the dummy, that robber at my right hand played a trump.

"Well, he looked so hungry for a trick that I really didn't have the heart to overtrump. I just threw my other low heart on the trick."

"Also very neat," I commented. For now George could not be set. He hadn't actually given away a thing, because he was always bound to lose a second heart trick. However, he had made sure that East won the second heart trick; and East could not ruff a diamond because his partner would never be able to lead that suit.

"Nothing neat about it," said George. "Just brotherly love. Live and let live."

Actor Threatened

HOLLYWOOD, May 1. (AP) Cesar Romero has received a threat through the mails. Detectives said the letter reads in part: "The next time you walk on a movie set be careful something doesn't fall on you from above." The actor told officers that last week he had an argument with a man in a Hollywood bar and the management asked the heckler to leave.

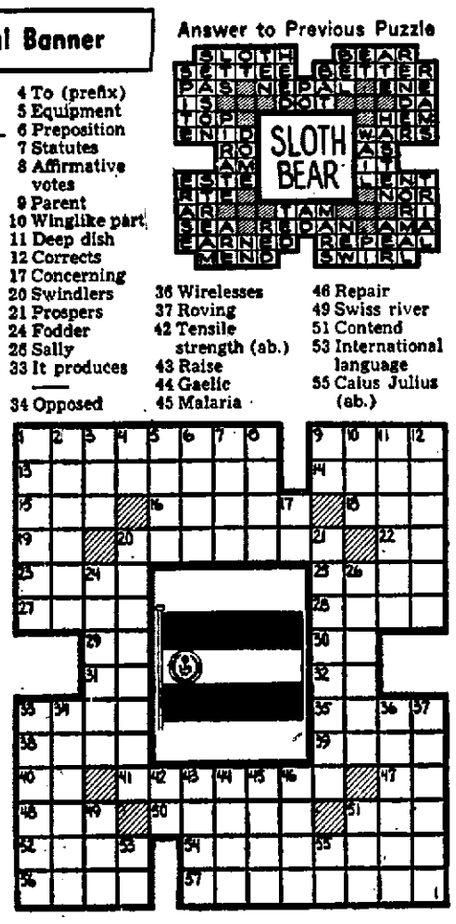
Answer to Previous Puzzle



'Prefers' Blondes, Weds Brunette

NUTLEY, N. J., May 1. (AP) Yvonne Adair, who plays a leading role in the current Broadway hit, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," yesterday demonstrated that they marry brunettes.

The dark-haired actress was married here to Harold John Patterson of Bergenfield, N. J.

Miss Adair said there would be no wedding trip as she could not take time off from her appearances in the musical.

The groom is a professional orchid grower.

On Honeymoon

PALM SPRINGS, May 1. (UP) Film actress Helen Walker, 27, honeymooned today with Los Angeles furrier Edward Nicholas Uddomaine, 41. The couple was married here Saturday. Miss Walker said they would spend four or five days here and then leave on a trip to Laguna Beach and Mexico. It was the second marriage for both.
