Sunset Beach Folk Seek Easing of Building Setbacks

SUNSET BEACH, March 10. Easing of building setback requirements here will be sought from Orange County Supervisors by the Sunset Beach Improvement Association, William F. von Der Ahe, secretary, disclosed today.

"The county requires setbacks of five feet on side yards, 25 feet on rear yards and 50 feet from the center of the front street. Most of our lots are only 30 by 90 feet, so the setback leaves little on which to build," explained von Der Ahe. "The requirements are greatly hampering development of our community by discouraging prospective builders."

Harold St. Johns, County Planning Commission secretary, in a letter to the association, pointed out that variances have been granted in many Sunset Beach cases, permitting less setback of buildings.

"We admit that variances have been granted, but they haven't gone far enough," von Der Ahe said. "Setbacks off the street front still are required."

The association also is contacting the County Road Department to determine possibilities of extending Broadway north into marshes to provide access to fishing areas. Portions still exist of an extension built by an oil company sometime ago during exploration operations in the marshes, von Der Ahe said.

T. F. McLain is president of the association. Serving with him and von Der Ahe on the board of directors are: Victor Knoweleski, treasurer; Jerry Nordin, Jake Proctor and A. H. Arthur.

L. B. Band Lauded by Detroit Leader

Bandmaster Leonard Smith, Detroit, one of the nation's youngest big-time band leaders, has high praise for the Long Beach Municipal Band. He was here yesterday.

The 36-year-old musician directs four bands in Detroit, conducts lecture clinics on the trumpet and is guest conductor for top band concert events throughout the country.

"Your band is known wherever bandmasters gather," said Smith to City Manager Samuel E. Vickers yesterday. "The Long Beach Band has grown to be an American institution. The symphony orchestra has a foreign implication, but a band, someway, represents the heart of America. We need more city bands."

Smith believes that the Long Beach band is the only municipal band that plays the year 'round.

Smith directs the Shrine Band, the Belle Island City Band, which plays in the summer only, and the University of Detroit Band, as well as a band of his own, all in Detroit.

Fatal Firing Details Told

Two witnesses testified in the manslaughter trial of Joseph R. Brossett, 24, Wilmington laborer, in the Superior Court of Judge George Francis late yesterday that shortly before Johnny W. Ramoriz was shot to death they heard someone cry out, "Don't shoot!"

The witnesses admitted under cross-examination by Atty. C. Ransom Samuelson that the voice did not sound like that of Rameriz.

Dep. Dis. Atty. Ted Shield contends that Brossette was "trigger happy" when he shot Rameriz to death Nov. 27 in the rear of buildings at 1142 E. Anaheim St. in Wilmington.

Samuelson contends that Rameriz was attempting to burglarize a store in which Brossette was interested. When Brossette discovered the attempted burglary Rameriz ran and, after ordering Rameriz to halt, Brossette claims he fired three warning shots on a foggy night and one of the shots by accident struck Rameriz, injuring him fatally. The trial will continue Tuesday.

Widow's Pension Claim Delayed in Court Trial

Decision on a petition for a writ of mandate brought by Mrs. Thelma M. Filian, widow of a former Fire Dept. captain, Elmer G. Filian, against the City of Long Beach to force the city to pay her a widow's pension was delayed in the Superior Court of Judge Percy Hight yesterday.

A jury on Wednesday held that Filian's duties as a fireman had aggravated an ailment and hastened his death.

Yesterday Deputy City Attorney Clifford Hayes and Mrs. Filian's attorney, Kenneth Sperry, were scheduled to argue whether Mrs. Filian is entitled to the pension, but Hayes, in a surprise move, moved for a new trial on the ground that the evidence did not justify the jury's verdict and that there were irregularities in the hearing.

Within 10 days Hayes must file affidavits to substantiate his claims and then Sperry will have a similar period to answer before the new trial motion is decided.
