Marlene Dietrich Will Be Guest Of Crosby Thursday

Glamorous Star Will Compete With Bing For Vocal Honors; Virginia Bruce Returns To Airlanes On "Good News" Program

Bing Crosby will have competition in the Music Hall on Thursday, when Marlene Dietrich cuts loose with a song. Frank Albertson, of Hollywood sound stages, will be another guest with the regular company of Bob Burns, the Music Maids, and John Scott Trotter's orchestra for the broadcast over WEAF at 10:00 p. m.

Her work in the horse opera, "Destiny Rides Again," to be shown at the Lima Sigma soon, put Marlene Dietrich back in the top-bracket of Hollywood stars overnight. She'll engage in banter with Bing and Bob before a session of warbling in the inimitable Dietrich style.

Bing will sing "The Little Red Fox," "If I Knew Then," "Devil May Care," "To You, Sweetheart, Aloha," and for his memory song of 1864 he borrows "Beautiful Dream" from the pen of Stephen Foster.

Funnyman Victor Moore, star of outstanding film and stage presentations including the Pulitzer Prize winner, "Of Thee I Sing," will be among George Jessel's guests on "The Celebrity Program," Thursday from 8 to 8:30 p. m., over WEAF. Another guest will be Kirke D. Austin, who counts noses. Austin is manager of the New York Census Bureau and will relate interesting sidelights on the business of census-taking—which begins in April. A third guest, to be announced later, also will appear, together with Benay Venuta, vibrant song stylist, and Peter Van Steeden and his orchestra.

A dramatization of May Edginton's well-known short story, "Purple and Fine Linen," will bring Virginia Bruce back to Good News of 1940, after a long absence, on Thursday, over WEAF. Edward Arnold, master-of-ceremonies, will play opposite Miss Bruce.

"Daddy's Nightmare," another episode in the topsy-turvey life of Baby Snooks, will feature Fanny Brice and Hanley Stafford as usual. Then too, there'll be more scintillating music from Connie Boswell and Meredith Willson's orchestra.

Joe Penner will demonstrate his faculty for getting himself into trying situations during his program over WJZ Thursday, at 8:30 p. m. The Penner penchant for finding trouble where none previously existed will keep Russ Brown, and the rest of his companions busier than the proverbial paper hanger. Kenny Stevens, tenor, and Jacques Renard's orchestra will relieve the tension with musical interludes.

Dr. Walteter Damrosch, general music counsel, will head the list of speakers to discuss the question, "Is There a Revolution in the Arts," on America's Town meeting of the Air, Thursday at 9:30 p. m., over WJZ. Other speakers will be William Lyon Phelph, professor emeritus of Yale university, and Clifton Fadiman, literary critic of New Yorker and master of ceremonies of NBC's "Information Please" program.

Jim McWilliams will pop questions on such subjects as birds, opera and the glamour girls of history when he brings four contestants before his Ask-It Basket mirrophone, Thursday at 8:00 p. m. over WABC. In another "Anything Can Happen Basket," participants will have to do most anything from singing a current love ballad to reading Shakespeare backwards.

Authenticated incidents from one of the most amazing shipwrecks in navigation history, the sinking in the Persian Gulf of the merchant vessel, Adler, by a flock of butterflies, will be dramatized on the Strange As it Seems program, Thursday at 8:30 p. m. over WABC. Alois Havrilla is master-of-ceremonies.

SPENCERVILLE

SPENCERVILLE, Feb. 15 — Mr. and Mrs. Carl White and daughter of Forest, and Miss Ruth Hays of Shelburn, Ind., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hays.

Honoring the 90th birthday anniversary of Fred Roeder, a celebration was held at the home of a son, Math Roeder, on Feb. 4. Four generations were represented by several families. A birthday cake displaying 90 candles was baked by Roeder's granddaughter, Martha. Attending the dinner were: Charles Roeder, Mr. and Mrs. Darell Niles, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roeder, Mr. and Mrs. A. Baber, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Deafendenfinn, Mrs. Fay Sunderland, Mrs. P. A. Shingledecker, Mr. and Mrs. Burl Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Copus, Robert Roeder and Charles Copus, all of Lima; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Albright of Dayton, Mrs Charles Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Roeder, Mrs. Ross Crites and son, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Trippy and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Roeder, Mr. and Mrs. Math Roeder, Betty June Roeder, Jerry Koenig and Martha Roeder.

Mrs. F. G. Heasley of New Castle, Pa., returned to her home after spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Curtiss.

G. W. Sowards and Mrs. J. M. Reynolds spent Sunday in Jerry City with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Sowards.

Mrs. Arthur Baldwin returned home from a visit in New York with her two sisters. She was accompanied home by her mother, Mrs. J. A. King.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Griffin and son Tommy of Springfield and son George were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Griffin and family.

Those from here who attended the funeral services of Ike Detrick at Grover Hill were Mrs. Ollie Price, Mrs. Robert Harris, Mrs. Sam Heiss, O. W. Cottman, Jacob Stelzer and W. F. Townsend.

Mrs. Ora Leis was hostess to the members of the Stitch and Chat club in her home last Tuesday. The afternoon was spent informally. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Those present were Mrs. Glen Harris and Mrs. Orlo Ross of Lima, Mrs. Leon McCray, Mrs. Stanley Boyer, Mrs. Ralph Clay, Mrs. Arthur Place, Mrs. Fred Place, Mrs. Corine Mitchell and Mrh. J. J. Dillon.

Mrs. H. B. Sunderland, assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Don Furry of Elida and Mrs. S. J. Dickman of Lima, entertained the members of the Poinsetta club in her home Thursday afternoon.

The American Legion auxiliary entertained the second district president, Mrs. Raymond Edgington, and members of the Cairo unit, Mrs. Lloyd Kelly of Kenton and Mrs. Del Copensparger of Delphos also were present. Following their regular session the ladies were joined by the Legion and all were invited into the auditorium where refreshments were served.

The Vesper Guild of the Methodist church met in regular session Monday evening at the church. Mrs. Arthur Miller presided. Forty-three members responded to roll call. Miss Mary Neidhart, Mrs. Howard Post, Maxine Griffin and Marjorie Mille, were in charge of the program. Those appearing on the program were Martha Sunderland, Betty Clantz, Mrs. Goldie Teegarden, Mrs. Ruthella Kennedy, Mrs. Carmyn Miller, Joan Griffin and Jack Jarvis.

At a meeting of the Sunshine class of Olive Chapel church held in the home of Mrs. Ruby Son recently, new officers were elected as follows: president, Daisy Coit; vice president, Freda Golliff; secretary-treasurer, Mildred Eutsler.

Births in the community include a girl to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Pikerd; a son, James Lee, to Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Mauer; a son to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Eutsler; a girl to Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Weger of Delphos, formerly of Spencerville; a girl, Shirley Ann, to Mr. and Mrs. Gail Moorman.

Mrs. Melvin Stose of Detroit, Mich., is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, near here.

Mrs. L. W. Wolfe entertained the members of the Bridgette club and six invited guests, including Madames Grover Schoesker, Walter Neidhart, Vernon Hydaker, George Bowers, Homer Rider and W. H. Wein. Mrs. Rider and Mrs. Wm. Miller received prizes at the close of the game of bridge.

"Gone With The Wind" Will Open At The Ohio Friday

Clark Gable And Vivien Leigh Stars Of History-Making Film; Showings Set At 2 And 8 P. M.

The long awaited "Gone With the Wind", which is making movie history, will open Friday at the Ohio theatre with performances at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m.

Starring Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh the picture has been heralded thruout the nation as the finest since the advent of talking pictures. The film features a cast of many prominent actors and thousands of extras, and represents several millions spent in production.

Pat O'Brien, Roland Young, Reginald Gardiner and George E. Stone, Broadway alumni, join with the Hollywood personality, Olympe Bradna, in a tale of romantic glory on the fabulous boulevard in "The Night of Nights" at the Sigma theatre. Also at the Sigma is Lupe Velez in "Mexican Spitfire," with Donald Woods and Leon Errol featured.

Bob Burns is featured at the Lyric in his most outstanding picture so far, "Our Leading Citizen." It is a vivid, colorful film dealing chiefly with a vital problem of American life. Also showing is "Here I Am a Stranger," with Richard Dix, Brenda Joyce and Richard Greene in the starring roles.

A gay and sophisticated comedy, the Quilna attraction, "He Married His Wife," stars Joel McCrea and Nancy Kelly, with Mary Boland, Cesar Romero and Roland Young. The picture deals with the troubles of an ex-husband who is searching for a suitable spouse for his ex-wife. How he finds him provides a clever and novel angle.

Charles Bickford and Barton MacLane are starred in a two-fisted he-man drama, "Mutiny in the Big House" at the State theatre, showing for the first time in Lima. Also current is "Pride of the Bluegrass" with Gantry, the blind horse, featured in a deeply emotional film depicting the life of this famous animal that overcame the greatest handicap.

Dorothy Lamour and Jon Hall are starred in the Majestic film, "Hurricane" a story of romance and adventure in the tropics. Also at the Majestic is "Only Angels Have Wings."

OHIO

Every motion picture critic has a vision of some day encountering a screen epic which is a picture so perfect that it beggars all superlatives, so outstanding that it defies description. Such a picture is David O. Selznick's "Gone with the Wind," which opens Friday at the Ohio theatre.

Most films have highlights on which to concentrate. "Gone with the Wind" has so many that a reviewer is mentally handcuffed. It is one supreme composite highlight — the entire picture, from the impressive presentation of the title, to the last pictorially inspiring fade-out. It is truly the greatest picture ever made and, since it follows so faithfully Margaret Mitchell's story of the Old South that one is left wondering how it was ever achieved, it must follow that Miss Mitchell's story must be the Great American Novel.

The whole world felt that Clark Gable was the perfect Rhett Butler. He is, and gives his greatest performance. Technicolor even enhances his amazing personality. As for Vivien Leigh, she emerges as a star whose perfection as Scarlett is almost beyond belief. Not only is she an overnight star but the greatest film discovery of this or any other year. She and Gable make Scarlett and Rhet so real that cinema magic seems to turn into life itself.

It is difficult to conceive of Olivia de Haviland ever giving a greater performance, so magnificent is she as Melaine. Leslie Howard always is great but he's never been greater than as Ashley. There are perhaps several dozen other players on which one could well go into ecstacies, but space does not permit. Several supporting players do deserve mention. Thomas Mitchell is outstanding as General O'Hara. Hattie McDaniel doe as much for her race with her portrayal as Mammy as any of the greatest Negroes in history. Barbara O'Neil, Ona Munson, Laura Hope Crews, Carroll Nye, Harry Davenport, Alicia Rhett, Rand Brooks, Evelyn Keyes, Ann Rutherford, Butterfly McQueen, Oscar Polk, Victor Jory, Eddie Anderson, Fred Crane, George Reeves, Jane Darwell, and Everett Brown are among the superb supporting players.

Of all those who are proud as a result of "Gone with the Wind," none can be more rightfully so than David O. Selznick, who courageously and faithfully produced the picture, and Victor Fleming, who breathed life into a story that will be remembered as long as there is such a thing as entertainment. And no review of the picture could close without a tribute to the work of the cameraman for giving the world the most pictorially beautiful screen epic to date.

LYRIC

Highlighted by the gay and amusing events in a home where everyone does as he pleases, the comedy drama, "The Family Next Door" opens Friday at the Lyric theatre.

Hugh Herbert is seen as the whimsical father who has reason to doubt whether he is really the "head of the house," Ruth Donnelly, popular comedienne, has the role of the mother who spends her time trying to marry off her pretty daughter, Joy Hodge. Eddie Quillan portrays the elder son who has a million ideas for getting rich, and Junnita Quigley appears as the small daughter. Benny Bartlett, last seen with Shirley Temple, in "Just Around the Corner," has the role of the brother.

Filmed from an original screenplay by Mortimer Offner, "The Family Next Door" shows what happens when an ambitious mother gambles the family bankroll in an attempt to impress her neighbors and attract a husband for her daughter.

"Stressing the comic aspects of family life, the picture was directed by Joseph Santley and produced by Max Golden, who originated the current trend for "family" dramas on the screen. Milton Krasner did the photography.

"Heroes of the Saddle" will also commence Friday at the Lyric theatre with the Three Mesquiteers, deals with a gigantic orphanage graft perpetrated by members of a state board of institutions.

QUILNA

Jane Withers takes her special brand of freshness to "High School" and meets some unusual experiences as a freshman in the new comedy of that name which comes to the Quilna theatre Friday night.

Real authentic background is a highlight of the picture, for it was filmed with the cooperation of San Antonio's famous Thomas Jefferson High School. Jane even becomes a member of the renowned Girls' Lasso club at the school.

Jane is quite a "young lady" these days and all set to step out on dates in gay party dresses and, of course, being Jane, she's always ready for a classroom prank or a campus shining.

Blowing into high school straight from a Texas ranch, Jane, accompanied by a ranch hand in the person of Cliff "Ukelele Ike" Edwards, gets into trouble right at the start by stealing the reception planned for a very important visiting official.

"Slats", the school football hero, played by Joe Brown, Jr., a freckle-faced lad whom studio officials discovered when they saw his face grinning from an advertising poster, goes for Jane in a big way. But the rest of the school gangs up on her and decides to teach her how to "take it."

Jane gets into all sorts of trouble at first, but finally wins the school's okay by saving the day for "Slats" when he gets into trouble with a gang of auto thieves.

Besides Joe Brown, Jr., and Cliff Edwards, the supporting cast also features Lloyd Corrigan, Claire Du Brey, Lynne Roberts, Paul Harvey, Lillian Porter and John Keilogg.

The latest adventures of O. Henry's lovable outlaw of the Old Southwest will come to the screen of the Quilna theatre Friday night when "The Cisco Kid and the Lady" presents Cesar Romero as the new Cisco, Marjorie Weaver and Virginia Field supply the romantic interest to this most romantic of all American outlaws and plenty of excitement, action and laughs are promised.

SIGMA

Paramount's "The Night of Nights" is the picture of pictures for all-around entertainment, it is clearly demonstrated on the screen of the Sigma theatre. Masterfully adding a chuckle and a smile to heartfelt adventure in the wings of the Broadway stage, the film opens with one of the year's best scenes and improves on even that as it progresses.

Pat O'Brien, Olympe Bradna and Roland Young have caught the mood of the film in their wonted and beguiling fashion. Director Lewis Milestone, whose record of successes began with "All Quiet on the Western Front," has made a swift-paced hit of Donald Ogden Stewart's screenplay. Stewart, it will be recalled, has consistently maintained the high standard he set with films from "Smilin' Thru" to "Marie Antoinette."

With Pat O'Brien cast as Dan O'Farrell, playwright, actor and producer, and Roland Young as Barry Trimble, his bosom and barroom pal, the film begins on opening night of a new Dan O'Farrell play. On that fateful evening, Dan's misbehavior reaches a degree that his wife cannot endure. She deserts him, leaving a note revealing that she is soon to have a child.

Dan searches tirelessly for her, finally returning to Broadway. His world crumbled, he slides down the ladder, watching Barry marry an income, and J. Neville Prime, Lambs club attendant, rise to take his place in the theatrical sun.

Dan, masquerading as a prosperous producer, meets his daughter, whose deep-rooted devotion leads her to penetrate the disguise. With her at his side, Dan steps forth to re-conquer.

Screen comedian Leon Errol, former Ziegfeld comic and more recently a star of two-reel comedies, has the leading role opposite Lupe Velez in the Latin star's film, "Mexican Spitfire," also at the Sigma, riotous sequel to Lupe's "The Girl From Mexico."
