

FORUM FEATURE CHANGE SLATED

"Times" Radio Period Will Have Two-Speaker Bill

State Realty Leader Listed for One of Talks Today

Deputy Police Chief Davis to Be Heard on Traffic

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. Peter Hanson, president of the State Realty Board: "Realty Values." Deputy Chief James Davis: "Traffic."

BY WILLIAM HAMILTON CLINE

The Times Forum, scheduled for 1:30 p.m. daily except Sunday over KHJ, was omitted yesterday, offering its time by courtesy to an international broadcast.

But today The Times Forum resumes its place; and it is hoped, through new arrangements and plans, that it will be more important and informative to listeners-in than ever before, fine as its past record has been.

As a feature of the daily Forum hour it is planned to have at least two speakers on each period. Those who have been so popular in the past will be retained, but they will be supplemented and added to from new sources. Thus there will be a double incentive to make the Forum one of those periods which you just cannot miss.

Today's Forum, as an example, will have a talk by Peter Hanson of Glendale, just elected president of the State Realty Board. Mr. Hanson, a long-time handler of real estate, will outline briefly his ideas for the coming year and also will have something to say about the inherent value and basic worth of realty as the foundation of all wealth.

Following him, Deputy Police Chief Davis will talk about traffic conditions here and measures that must be taken to curb the drunk driver, the greatest menace to life and limb that exists today. Pertinent facts will be disclosed and Chief Davis will not mince words in relating them or suggesting remedial measures.

Tomorrow, of course, we will have the usual fine talk by Dr. Frank McCoy, whose health column in The Times is a daily feature highly prized. It also will be supplemented, this time with a chat arranged between Murial Babcock of The Times dramatic staff, and a well-known actress. This will be something novel, but we are sure it will meet with a hearty response.

Those who follow the daily announcements will find listed each morning an intriguing and interesting Forum program. Tune in at 1:30 p.m. every day (except Sunday) and get the benefit of these offerings.

Of course, the usual Times periods of world-wide news will be on the air as before—at 7 a.m., 12:30, 5:20 and 10 p.m. The last period also has been prolonged to ten minutes, as the news makes it imperative, and an attractive survey of happenings up to the very hour will be given in brief. You will, we trust, find these periods more informative and up-to-the-minute than ever before.

Now, turn to your usual high lights and your log for radio doings the rest of the day and evening. Thank you.
