NEW YORK, April 27—(AP)—Early prices in today's stock market were slightly uneven.

Market encouragement was provided by the federal reserve summary disclosing the country's department store sales, for the week ended April 20, topped the like period last year by 7 per cent. It was the best year-to-year comparison since the week of March 23.

Notice was taken of the department of commerce estimate that merchandise exports in March exceeded the same month a year ago by 31 per cent and the comparable 1938 period by 27 per cent.

FIGHT FLARES IN WEST FRONT

PARIS, April 27—(INS)—Violent hand-to-hand fighting between French and German troops flared in the Western front's No Man's Land today, it was reported in semi-official French military quarters.

Without located the scene of the fighting, these quarters said the battles resulted in "losses" and ended only when both sides withdrew.

Most of yesterday the Allies and Germans hurled shells at each other in the Saar sector in what was described as a heavy artillery duel.

West of the Vosges mountains a German raid with concentrated artillery preparation necessitated the rushing of reinforcements to a French outpost. The position was held, but it was semi-officially admitted the Allies suffered "proportional losses."

Meanwhile, a French high command communique, describing action at the front, said "there was nothing to report."

Armstrong Wins Technical Knockout From Paul Junior

BOSTON, April 27 — (AP) — Thanks to a merciful referee and Champion Henry Armstrong's tolerance, Paul Junior, courageous Lewiston, Me., battler, was able to boast anew today that he never has been knocked out officially in any of the 300-odd bouts he has fought during his 10 years in the professional prize ring.

But the 30-year-old Junior stepped far out of his class when he faced off against the fast-punching Armstrong, who successfully defended his world welterweight title at Boston Garden last night for a $15,000 guarantee.

Armstrong, in the opinion of most of the 16,469 spectators, could have settled the issue in the very first round if he had desired but he was obliging enough to prolong the scheduled 15-round title match until the 65th second of the seventh round when Referee Johnny Martin halted the action.

Altho Junior is the holder of the New England lightweight title, he actually weighed more than the defending champion, 141 pounds to 139 1-2. Junior was accompanied here by about 5,000 of his Maine admirers, one of whom, Owen F. Shields, 71, of Saco, Me., collapsed in his seat and died of a heart attack shortly after in a dressing room.

CHANCES SLIM FOR CHILD WHO SUFFERED BURNS

Little hope is held for the recovery of five-year-old Gloria Groves, Memorial hospital attaches said Saturday. She suffered second and third degree burns about the entire body Friday afternoon at her home at 1126 Carlisle-av.

The little girl, hospital authorities were told, was playing in the back yard near a smoldering fire when her dress caught fire. Her mother, Mrs. Alice Groves, attracted by the child's screams, tore the burning clothing from her body and rushed her to the hospital.

The child's father, James Leroy Groves, was killed in an industrial accident at the Lima Locomotive works 14 months ago. Besides Gloria, Mrs. Groves is the mother of five other children, all of school age.

PASSENGER TO THE RESCUE

ASTORIA, Ore., April 27 — (INS)—Thanks to the presence of mind of a fellow traveler, six bus passengers escaped possibly serious injuries when the driver of a bus collapsed at the wheel as the machine rounded a mountain curve. When Driver John Stangland slumped over the wheel, an unidentified passenger leaped forward, seized the wheel and coolly navigated the difficult turn and stopped the vehicle.

TREASURER ELECTED

COLUMBUS, O., April 27 — (AP)—The Ohio Chamber of Commerce announced today that J. J. Stevenson of Columbus had been elected treasurer to succeed the late B. S. Wellman of Columbus.

OLD SHAVING DEBT PAID

LONDON, April 27 — (UP) — Private Charles Kay of the Canadian Expeditionary Force walked into a barber shop and paid for a shave he had 18 years ago. In 1922 Kay had a shave and found he had no change to pay for it. "Pay the next time," said the barber.

WAR CALLED STRUGGLE FOR DOMINATION THRU FORCE AT BAR MEETING

COLUMBUS, O., April 27—(INS)—The present European conflict is nothing but a struggle for world domination thru force, and Americans must learn to look at it in a cold-blooded way.

That was the message left today by Prof. James Grafton Rogers, master of the Yale university law school, with attorneys attending the spring meeting of the Ohio State Bar Association. The conclave ends today.

"We must have no illusions about the aims of either side in the present European war," Rogers told the delegates. "It is simply a struggle for power, and we must learn to look at it in a cold-blooded way.

"We must learn to guard against our emotions. We already are tangled up in them, and things are getting worse and worse.

"Victory by Germany would mean they would dominate the world by military force and that would greatly alter the United States in which we now live. It would mean that Germany would sell its goods at the point of a bayonet, much as Spain and Great Britain did three centuries ago."

He explained that the German point of view s that they insist they must "have a place in the sun, and that there will be no peace in Europe except under their domination.

"On the other hand, the British feel they cannot afford to stand by and see the rise of Germany as a great power," Rogers added. "The protection of their lives depends on there not being another strong power dominating Europe.

"The French attitude, on the other hand, is merely one of self-preservation against an ancient enemy.

"The present war in Norway is merely a skirmish. However, it will have a vital effect upon the outcome of the generel struggle. If England proves it can protect Norway, the other small nations may seek its aid; otherwise, they may submit to German demands without a struggle."

Rogers asserted that the present war and general chaotic conditions in the world, including the rise of Communism, are the result of machinery throwing millions out of work.

Juvenile Screen Stars To Frolic On Benefit Program

Mickey Rooney And Judy Garland To Help With Presence In Children's Crusade For Children

Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, and a group of juvenile screen stars will frolic with Edward G. Robinson as master of ceremonies in "Hollywood Pennies," on Saturday at 9 p. m. over WEAF. This program is part of the Children's Crusade for Children Campaign to have each child in the country contribute a sum in pennies in accordance with his age for the benefit of child refugees.

Col. Roscoe Turner will tell the story of Ray Ott and Danny Gleeson, two American pilots, who were kidnaped by a Mongolian war lord while flying transport planes for the Chinese-American air line, on Sky Blazers, Saturday at 7:30 p. m. over WABC.

Ott and Gleeson were captured in 1930 by General Si Yun, sinister Mongolian bandit chieftain who was plundering the up-country provinces. He needed pilots to teach his men to fly in order that he might rain bombs on Chinese cities that did not pay tribute. How Ott and Gleeson contrived to escape and to bring about the downfall of the war lord forms an exciting climax to the adventure.

How two silver dollars actually cost the lives of a police officer and a pair of gun-crazy North Dakota killers will be told on Gang Busters when the career of Clarence and Orelle Easton is reviewed by Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf and an officer conected with the case Saturday at 8 p. m. over WABC.

During a police chase in Illinois, the Eastons amazed law enforcement officers, who were following in an armor-plated car, by shattering supposedly bullet-proof glass. This they did by hitting the same spot on the windshield with four bullets in succession.

The capture of the gunmen, later in the chase, will provide a thrilling climax for the Gang Busters dramatization.

Arturo Toscanini will bring to a close his regular series of Saturday night radio concerts for the current season on Saturday at 10 p. m. over WJZ. The concert will be Maestro Toscanini's 15th broadcast of the season with the NBC symphony orchestra.

If all the world's a stage—with the aurora borealis a neon lit marquee, and the ionized upper air its polished copper ceiling—then all the universe is merely one gigantic radio tube. Dr. Orestes H. Caldwell will show during his Radio Magic program over WJZ Saturday at 5 p. m.

Using as an example the recent "blackout" by sunspots of short-wave, cable, telegraph and telephone communications, Caldwell will explain in words of no more than four syllables how a whirlpool on Old Sol acted as a gun to squirt a stream of electrons at the earth just as the hot filament in a vacuum tube projects infinitely smaller electronic streams at the plate.

CLOCK-MONKEYING TIME HAS ARRIVED

Complications Scheduled For Midnight To Save Daylight, But Ohio Will Not Participate

By WALTER KIERNAN

NEW YORK, April 27—(INS)—Tonight at midnight New Yorkers will turn the hands of their clocks one hour ahead—or forget about it and feel foolish tomorrow.

Time which is normally a smooth flowing, established thing, neatly divided into zones, becomes terribly complicated at midnight and will continue that way until Sept. 29.

Not everybody agrees or conforms to daylight savings time. There are rebels here and there asserting their good old American right to string along with standard time and there are communities and states which pick their own date for clock monkeying.

(Ohio will continue to observe eastern standard time.)

In Tennessee, for instance, Memphis will continue standard time until May 12. Atlanta and four other Georgia communities accept daylight saving time.

Binghamton, N. Y., will start May 5, Ogdensburg, May 26, Norwich, May 11 and some communities in New York won't touch the thing.

The entire state of New Jersey goes on daylight saving time at midnight, so does most of Connecticut but court clocks and railroad clocks will register standard time.

Most of Rhode Island takes the new time, New Castle-co in Delaware, the Chicago Metropolitan area, that section of Indiana which includes Hammond, Fort Wayne, South Bend, and all of Maine's large cities and most of the small communities.

Upper peninsula cities of Michigan also take on daylight savings time approximately 179 communities in Pennsylvania and most of Vermont.

Over the border, observance in Canada is about on the same basis.

Overseas, Great Britain, Belgium and France have been on daylight savings time since February, Germany went on April 1 and the Netherlands will take up on May 19. Cuba takes it from June 2 to Sept. 1.

Brother—can you spare the time?

MEN'S CLOTHING COLORFUL AGAIN

By SETH MOSELEY

NEW YORK, April 27—(AP)—Women's partiality to bright colors has definitely influenced the breadwinner's taste in spring suits and accessories, a canvass of leading men's shops showed today.

While cautioning the well-dressed male to shun the more bizarre outfits, the men's wear department has come up this spring with the wedge canvas shoe, the light green hat (again) and many another sartorial steal from the distaff side. And sales are brisk.

Once again, following last spring's lead, women are proving successful in urging upon their husbands and friends the odd spring combinations for country and town wear alike.

Some of these combinations, regarded by the fashion leaders as the smartest, are matched or blended in color, others are contrasting. Any way you mix them will do the trick, as long as the colors do not clash. Here they are:

A combination of darkish brown covert cloth trousers with a tan camel's hair sport jacket . . . tan gabardine trousers with a jacket of mixed tweed of brown shot with dashes of color (but don't wear tweeds daily in an office, they get baggy) . . . Green gabardine jacket and tan gabardine jacket and tan gabardine trousers—or reverse.

Smart and conservative is the gray flannel jacket worn with navy blue flannel trousers.

Another popular combination is the gray tone glen plaid jacket with tan gabardine trousers . . . The most popular suit for early spring wear is the slate-blue unfinished worsted, particularly for the young huisness man.

BETTER UNDERSTANDING IS BIG ACCOMPLISHMENT OF ECONOMIC PARLEYS

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD

WASHINGTON, April 27 — (INS)—The results of the Allied-American economic conversations that have been in progress for six weeks were viewed by American offirials today as having brought about a better understanding of war trade problems on both sides, altho they could point to few concrete accomplishments.

M. Charles Rist of the French minister of blockade and Frank Ashton-Gwatkin of the British ministry of economic warfare concluded their conversations with the state department last night, and plan soon to return to Europe. They have been in Washington since March 6. Results of these talks were summarized by the state department in a communique which included the following main points:

1. The British and French agree to reexamine applications, previously rejected, from American importers for special permission to buy goods in Germany, necessary to the conduct of their business, which they cannot purchase elsewhere.

2. The Allied representatives agreed that their governments would try, insofar as their vital need for foreign exchange permitted, to continue their usual purchases of such items as tobacco and canned fruit, which have been sharply curtailed since the outbreak of war.

3. The economic envoys stated it to be the long-term policies of their governments to abandon "restrictive measures rendered necessary by the war" as soon as possible, and to cooperate with the American government in breaking down tariff barriers and freeing clogged trade channels.

No mention was made in the communique of such controversial matters as the searching of American ships for contraband, interference with American mails or the freedom of American trade with European neutrals. If any agreements were made or understandings arrived at on these subjects, they remained secret. The state department, however — apparently referring to these moot questions—said:

"The representatives of the American government on their part made it clear that in discussing individual cases with the view to mitigating the inconvenience to American interests it must be understood that the government of the United States reserves all of its rights under international law and is not to be understood as accepting any principle of interference with bona fide neutral trade."

The general statement of the British and French positions was made in these terms:

"The representatives of the French and British embassies have stated in these conversations that their governments desire to diminish the inconveniences caused to neutral trade and interests in every practicable way so long as this does not lessen the effect of the contraband control in all its branches which the United Kingdom and France consider an absolutely necessary part of the war in which the two countries are at present engaged."

Special Mile Mark Menaced At Penn

PHILADELPHIA, April 27—(AP)—Headlined by a special mile race, matching three of the nation's outstanding performers, the 46th annual Penn Relay carnival reaches its climax today.

The meet record for the special mile appeared to be the only major event mark threatened. Chuck Fenske, Gene Venzke and Walter Mehl, the three rivals, might collaborate to better the 4:11.8 time set by Glenn Cunningham in 1934.

Two runners and two relay teams from Ohio placed yesterday.

The first Methodist church in the United States was established near Westminster, Md.

CIVILIAN SCHOOLS HELP ARMY BOOST OUTPUT OF AIR PILOTS FOUR-FOLD

By DEVON FRANCIS
(AP Aviation Editor)

TULSA, April 27 — With the help of civil aviation schools, the army air corps has been able to boost its pilot output more than four-fold under the $300,000,000 aid defense program, Brig. Gen. Jacob E. Fickel, assistant chief of the corps, said today.

Speaking before the third annual southwest aviation conference, General Fickel said that whereas the graduates of Randolph and Kelly fields, in Texas, used to number only 250 a year, the output under the recently instituted speedup program will add 2,300 pilots to the corps in two years.

Nine civilian schools are employed to give candidates primary training but he emphasized "standards of training have not been lowered."

General Fickel remarked, "these of our citizens who have believed that we will always be successful in war because we love our liberty and because we are Americans, have seen other peoples who love their liberty, who are brave, and who have the will to fight, defeated and even subjected.

"Others who felt that our geographical position has given us immunity from attack have seen our ocean barriers shrunk and have come to realize that we may no longer depend too much on these barriers to protect us."

A leading aviation insurance executive told the conference that one out of every three light airplanes in the United States crashes each year—and that manufacturers were taking steps to remedy it.

But, he added, "a so-called 'safe' airplane does not make a safe pilot."
