80-DEGREE DAY SEEN THURSDAY

Another day of 80-degree temperatures faced Lima residents Thursday as the heat claimed four Ohio victims.

Partly cloudy, and slightly cooler Thursday night, was the U. S. weather bureau's prediction.

Local thermometers showed nearly 80 degrees at noon Thursday, with a low reading of 62 at 6 a. m. The previous day's high was 86 at 2 p. m. Columbus recorded 88 degrees Wednesday, Cincinnati 86 and Cleveland 84.

Violent thunderstorms early Thursday left acres of flooded land in Huron and Erie-cos. The Canton and Akron areas were visited by electrical storms for the second successive day.

Victims added to Ohio's growing list of those who have drowned while seeking relief from the heat were Joseph Zeisler, 17, who lost his life in Crane Creek near the Ottawa-Wood-co line; James Black, 14, who slipped while wading in a clay pit near Talmadge; Larry Linn, 11, drowned in the Rocky river at Cleveland; and Richard Sampson, 14, near Degraff, drowned in the Miami river.

Outstanding Cast Featured In Quilna Preview Picture

"Four Sons" To Open Friday Evening With Don Ameche In Lead Role; Fine Double Bill At State

A brilliant cast is featured in the timely drama, "Four Sons," commencing Friday night at the Quilna theatre, with Don Ameche, Eugenie Leontovich, Alan Curtis, Robert Lowry and Mary Beth Hughes in star roles. Showing now for the last times are "Babies for Sale," an expose of the adoption racket, and "Blondie on a Budget," another hilarious episode of the Bumstead family.

The story of the brilliant scientist whose research led to happiness and longer life for the people of today is told in "Dr. Erlich's Magic Bullet," with Edward G. Robinson starred in the title role at the State. Months of seemingly endless experiment provide a dramatic and suspenseful background for the cinematic tribute to one of the great men of science. Also showing is "Geronimo," the story of the much-feared Indian.

"Forty Little Mothers" brings Eddie Cantor to the Sigma screen in the role of an earnest, rather timid professor, in a human interest story. Judith Anderson, Ralph Morgan, Rita Johnson and Bonita Granville are featured in the cast. Also showing is another Hop a long Cassidy adventure, "Hidden Gold," starring William Boyd.

An adventure film telling the story of the courage of the British colonial forces and the hazards they daily faced is contained in the Lyric feature, "Four Feathers," with Ralph Richardson, C. Aubrey Smith and John Clements. Also showing is Joe Penner in "The Day the Bookies Wept". Commencing Friday at the Lyric is "Death of a Champion" and "Law of the Pampas."

One day remains for those who have not yet witnessed the great tribute to the inventor of the electric light, "Edison, the Man," starring Spencer Tracy and now showing at the Ohio theatre. The struggles of the great inventor and the suspense involved in each experiment are ably captured by producers of the picture.

Showing at the Majestic is "Picture Brides" and on the stage are Miss New Orleans and Miss Universe of 1939.

QUILNA

"Four Sons," unanimously hailed by previewers as "an emotional masterpiece, splendidly convincing," comes on Friday night to the Quilna theatre. The compelling power and the force of the emotional drama of the new film moved critics to label it in advance as "a picture that must be seen."

Outstanding players include Don Ameche, Eugenie Leontovich, Mary Beth Hughes, Alan Curtis, George Ernest, Robert Lowery, and many others.

Surpassing anything he has ever done, Don Ameche heads the brilliant case. Fresh from his great triumph in "Lillian Russell," he is said to "reveal a new manner in a truly outstanding performance."

Said to be the most powerfully dramatic role of them all, the character of the mother is enacted by Miss Leontovich. By her portrayal in "Four Sons" previewers agree that she "promises to be a new screen sensation."

Alan Curtis is splendidly convincing in his role. He has a part which calls for strength, force and determination. His portrayal should add greatly to his reputation for fine performances.

As a reward for the excellent work she did in recent pictures, Mary Beth Hughes was selected to play the leading romantic role in "Four Sons" opposite Don Ameche. She takes a long step forward with a beautiful performance which is said to prove conclusively her potentialities as a major screen personality.

As the two other brothers in the story, George Ernest and Robert Lowery have turned in splendid performances. Lionel Royce and Sig Rumann are also featured in the cast.

The impact of its emotional outcry and depth of feeling on preview audiences left them with the feeling that they had "seen one of the timely and great pictures of the year."

SIGMA

Eddie Cantor is now at the Sigma in "The Story of Forty Little Mothers." Cantor, who heretofore was identified with choruses, ensembles, gags, gals and rhythm, changes his technique in this picture and emerges as an actor. In fact, he sings only one song and that is a lullaby, "Little Curly Hair in a High Chair," which he sings to a baby.

"The Story of Forty Little Mothers" is based on the French comedy "Monsieur Petiot," and is the story of a timid professor who inherits a baby and a lot of problems. The story is one that blends pathos, comedy and even drama, which is far afield from the antics of Cantor as his thousands of fans have known him.

Also lending dignity to the production is the presence of Judith Anderson, Broadway stage star, in the cast. She plays the head of a girls' boarding school where most of Eddie's troubles transpire, and is in effect the heavy of the story.

Also featured in the cast are Ralph Morgan, Rita Johnson, Bonita Granville, Diana Lewis and Nydia Westman together with eight-months-old Baby Quintanilla, hailed as an acting "find" that will be the talk of movie audiences for months to come.

Hard riding and smoking guns bang their way to the fore at the Sigma theatre when "Hopalong" Cassidy comes back with his pals "Lucky" and "Speedy" in his latest action-packed Clarence E. Mulford Western, "Hidden Gold."

OHIO

Modern mechanical and electrical skill aided in the effectiveness of more than one crude invention scene in "Edison, the Man," dramatic biography of Thomas Edison, starring Spencer Tracy and now at the Ohio theatre.

In duplicating Edison's early model of the phonograph, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer craftsmen made the replica record so well that Spencer Tracy's voice was played back five times in scenes. As far as is known, Edison was satisfied he had invented a talking machine after one reproduction of his voice on tin foil.

Working solely from photographs and drawings, studio men made a model of the machine which the inventor built for $18. It comprised a hand-turned cylinder around which was wrapped tinfoil. In the scene Tracy repeated "Mary had a little lamb . . ." into a cardboard horn leading to a diaphragm which caused a needle to make a groove in ordinary tinfoil. He then placed the needle on the groove and played back his voice clearly. For various angles the same tinfoil was used five times without the voice fading.

Modern methods of boosting current made another scene effective. The action showed Tracy turning on electricity for Edison's first bulb, a platinum filament light. The metal glowed a dull red, then died out. The bulb was a copy of Edison's in every way, even to standing only six volts, which was what Edison used. Hence, to make sure the filament burned out quickly without wasted footage, electricians attached it to an off-stage rheostat and at a given signal shot up the voltage and got the dramatic effect.
