Gilda Gray And Joe Howard To Be Armchair Detectives

Headline Vaudeville Entertainers Set As Ellery Queen's Guests For Broadcast On Saturday Evening

Gilda Gray and Joe Howard, headline performers of today as well as yesterday, will match wits with Ellery Queen as guest armchair detectives engaging in "The Adventure of George Washington's Dollar," on Saturday at 7:30 p. m. over WEAF.

A few years ago, well-meaning friends warned a certain young woman that, after marriage, she would have to play second fiddle to her husband's hobby—model railroads. Rather than let this happen, the young lady, now Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey, of Kingston, N. Y., decided to take a personal interest in model railroads.

After visiting model railroad clubs with her husband-to-be she decided that two could build railroad models as cheaply as one. On Dave Elman's "Hobby Lobby" program at 8:30 p. m. over WABC Mrs. Eighmey will prove the truth of this theory when she unveils her amazing collection of home-made trains.

Another interesting hobbyist will be Raymond C. Schindler, of New York, whose hobby is helping underprivileged boys make good. Schindler is a well-known criminologist and devotes his spare time to stamping out juvenile delinquency. Schindler will describe some of the more interesting adventures he has met with while pursuing his humanitarian hobby.

Altho the presence of Lieut. Commander Eddie Peabody lends a patriotic note to each broadcast of "The National Barn Dance" from the stage of the Eighth St. theatre in Chicago, members of the cast will go all out for patriotism during the pre-George Washingtoin's birthday program to be presented Saturday at 9:00 p. m. over WEAF.

Adolph Busch, renowned violinist, will be the guest star on "America Preferred" over WOR Saturday at 10:15 p. m. He will be heard with the Alfred Wallenstein orchestra and Deems Taylor as narrator. Music includes "Romance in G Major—Opus 4" of Beethoven; "Coriolanus Overture" by Beethoven and "Romance in F Major, Opus 30" also by Beethoven.

STRICTER SUGAR RATION RULES SEEM PROBABLE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(UP)—Stricter sugar rationing regulations appeared imminent today, following on the heels of the war production board's disclosure of tentative rationing plans for industrial sugar.

Cuts up to 40 per cent in some industrial uses and restriction of individual consumption to 12 ounces a week may undergo further alteration as a result of unexpected war shipping problems and consequent uncertainty of normal importations from Cuba and other sources.

No mention was made of the possible cuts in industrial rationing plans, but it was indicated officials are planning to reduce the individual consumer's weekly ration to half a pound.
