Admiral William Leahy To Give Principal Address At Navy League Dinner In Capital

With a campaign song, Archie hopes to become alderman without even kissing a baby, when he announces his candidacy in the broadcast from "Duffy's" over WJZ on Tuesday, at 8:30 p. m.

"Who Cares?" will be the plaintive opening tune of Billy Mills' orchestra on the Fibber McGee and Molly program Tuesday, at 9:30 p. m., via WEAF. The King's Men will feature "Conchita Lopez," and the orchestra will close with "Everything I Got Is Yours." Fibber McGee and Molly, with the other residents of 79 Wistful Vista will be doing business at the same old comedy stand that has made them nationally famous.

Xavier Cugat and his orchestra will be featured on the "Spotlight Bands" program on Navy Day, over WJZ.

Admiral William Leahy, Chief of Staff to the President, will be heard over WJZ Tuesday, when he makes a special Navy Day address at a Navy League dinner at the Mayflower hotel here.

The special Navy Day broadcast from 10.15 to 11:00 p. m., will also bring Rear Admiral John Downes, commandant of the 9th U. S. Naval District, to the microphone.

Sidney Baxter, small - time sleuth, will be up before the studio jury when "Famous Jury Trials" puts him on the stand Tuesday, at 9:00 p. m., over WJZ.

A private detective badge found near the corpse of a strangled woman led to Baxter's arrest for the murder of Gertrude Brent. Altho Baxter will furnish an alibi, there will be many who know he had been hired by a jealous wife to see that Miss Brent left town.

Among the witnesses will be an embarrassed night watchman and a drunkard, who totes his bottle to court. Betting on the verdict among BLUE listeners will remain about even until a surprising turn in the testimony shows the jury its duty.

MADAGASCAR ONCE SOLD TO AN AMERICAN BUSINESS FIRM

Count Maurice-Augustin-Aladar Beniowski (1741-86), Slovak-Hungarian-Austrian-Polish adventurer and soldier of fortune, was elected Manjaka-Be (King in Chief) of Madagascar in 1774. He tried to sell the island to France, but the king of France spurned his offer. He then applied to England to take the kingdom off his hands, but England was not interested. He finally went to Baltimore, Maryland, to sell Madagascar to an American business firm. The deal was concluded, and when Beniowski returned to Madagascar to turn it over to the Americans, he was killed by a French patrol.

Heroism At Wake Island Portrayed In Ohio Film

Brian Donlevy, MacDonald Carey And Robert Preston Cast In Roles Of Courageous Marines

The current Ohio film, "Wake Island," tells the story of the most stirring and courageous stand of a band of fighting men since the Alamo. The name tells where the action occurs, while the men who fought and died at that place are portrayed by the cinema stars, Brian Donlevy, MacDonald Carey and Robert Preston.

The new films scheduled for the Sigma theatre commencing Wednesday are "Sin Town" and "Get Hep to Love." Showing for the last times Tuesday are "Seven Sweethearts," starring Van Heflin, and "Eyes in the Night" starring Edward Arnold and Ann Harding.

The current attraction at the Quilna theatre is called "The Pied Piper," and offers Monty Woolley in the starring roles as a bruff Englishman who becomes a guardian for several refugee children, fleeing from the advancing Nazi horde in France. Also on view is "Just Off Broadway," starring Lloyd Nolan.

Those pessimistic personalities who thought Abbott and Costello could not keep up the comedy pace they set in their early hits are withdrawing their predictions as the pair launch another laugh riot, "Pardon My Sarong," equalling their other films. The picture is now at the State theatre where it is being shown with "Pacific Rendezvous," starring Lee Bowman and Jean Rogers.

Thrill-seeking society school girls are the targets of a crooked gambling ring in "Gambling Daughters," the current film at the Lyric starring Cecilia Parker and Roger Pryor. Pryor portrays the right hand man of a mysterious and unseen club operator, and to him falls the task of luring wealthy young misses to the roadhouse wherein the ring operates. "Escort Girls" is the co-feature.

QUILNA

Otto Preminger's first screen role shows him cast as a Nazi Gestapo agent. That is not strange, because his role on the stage in "Margin For Error" was also as a Gestapo agent. So the noted actor feels right at home in the screen version of Nevil Shute's sensational best seller, "The Pied Piper," which is now at the Quilna theatre with Monty Woolley, Roddy McDowall and Anne Baxter.

Mr. Preminger is being typed by unanimous consent. More than that, he is being typed at his own insistence. A noted stage director, he stumbled into this business by accident, discovered that he had a particular genius for one role, at any rate, and is content to play this part and nothing else until the day when Hitler is overthrown and the Gestapo is only an ugly memory.

Mr. Preminger hates the Nazis with a cordiality that makes him enjoy the hisses he gets—on the stage of course—and which permits him to inject venom into his role by a sort of inverse rationalization. He feels he is performing a public service in making the role as subtly hateful as he possibly can. His Gestapo chief is a human enough fellow, with weaknesses and moments in which the man peeps thru the official mask—but he is all the more dreadful on that account, Preminger thinks. That is to say, precisely because he is real.

J. Carrol Naish tops the supporting cast of "The Pied Piper," which was written and produced by Nunnally Johnson.

LYRIC

Girls, gags, mirth and mystery mix in "Gambling Daughters," lively package of solid entertainment, now at the Lyric theatre, with Cecilia Parker and Roger Pryor in the leading roles.

The story of a ring which preys upon the sub-debutante students of the exclusive Lakeside School for Girls, the setting provides the cameraman with plenty of opportunities to go to town in swimming pool, gymnasium, classroom and dormitory sequences.

When starlets Gale Storm and Janet Shaw discover "Angels Roost," they are easily persuaded to try their luck in the gaming rooms by suave gang lieutenant, upon orders of a mysterious higher-up. Only Pryor and one other man know the real identity of the boss, and all the audience is permitted to see of him is the back of his hand as he crushes the petals of a flower. That very habit causes his downfall later in the film, when Gale, who has been forced to steal the family jewels to make good her gambling losses, recognizes the movement in a hitherto totally unsuspected character, and denounces him.

Cecilia Parker and Robert Baldwin, are the romantic young couple. Roger Pryor is a suave and sinister gang lieutenant.

Others in the cast are Al Hall, Judy Kilgore and Charles Miller.

HOW 10,000 TANK CARS WERE PULLED OUT OF THE AIR

This is a story of headlines.

The first headline reads, "Navy Announces Two Tankers Sunk in Atlantic"

The second headline says much the same—"Tankers Torpedoed—Fuel Runs Low in Massachusetts"

Hot water becomes a luxury in New York. Homes can't be kept quite warm enough. Cars without gasoline stand idle in Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Virginia, and Maine.

What to do?

America turns to her railroads. Can they carry a greater share of the load?

They can and they do

Starting with normal shipments of 12,000 bbls. of oil a day, the Erie together with other railroads double this figure. Then we double it again and again and again until we are carrying 850,000 bbls. a day. Seventy times as much today as in 1941!

Phenomenal? Yes, but no trick of magic. It takes years of "know-how", the pooling of facilities, and the interchange of new operating ideas to make one train do the work of many—to pull 10,000 tank cars out of the air.

The wholehearted support of government agencies helped. So did the cooperation of civilian shippers and car owners. But the most important factor was an intangible—a will to serve the American people that is present all the time, in peace as well as in war.

In spite of every submarine in the Nazi navy, fuel oil and gasoline are going through.

And the last headline reads, "Threat to Comfort and Health of America's Homes Banished".
