"Hellzapoppin" Rowdies To Visit Paul Whiteman Show

John Charles Thomas Program Ranges From Sanderson To Prokofieff Sunday; Spitalny Features Gershwin

A double portion of madness and music will be the "Paul Whiteman Presents" offering Sunday, WEAF 8 p. m., EWT. Comedyland's wackiest wacks, Olsen and Johnson, will be Pop's headline guests. During the quieter moments, Dinah Shore will sing, Pops will conduct the orchestra and Bill Goodwin will try to tie the proceedings together as if the "Hellzappoppin" rowdies weren't in the house.

The John Charles Thomas show for Sunday at 2:30 p. m. EWT, over WEAF, will offer a wide range of musical selections. Programmed for summer listening, the bill presents a recent movie tune, "For Me and My Gal" alongside such a standard work as Kreisler's "Caprice Viennois" and such a musical novelty as the "Peter Theme" from Prokofieff's "Peter and the Wolf." John Nesbitt, the program's story-teller, will salute the men of the sea in a tale called "Merchant Marine."

The Hour of Charm, featuring Phil Spitalny and his all-girl orchestra, pays tribute to one of America's great musical geniuses when they devote the entire program to the works of George Gershwin. The Hour of Charm can be heard at 10 p. m. EWT over WEAF Sunday.

Preston Foster, director of the new "Silver Theater" series, will do "double-duty" on the program Sunday, at 6 p. m., EWT over WABC when he co-stars with the guest of the evening, screen-star Ellen Drew, in a drama entitled "China Bridge."

A musical pot-pourri, sprinkled with red hot gags and left to simmer for a half-hour, will emerge as a new dish known as "Full Speed Ahead," this to be the "Sneak Preview" presentation for Sunday, at 5:30 p. m. EWT, on WJZ.

Actress Judith Evelyn will step out of character to make a plea for nurse recruitment following the play on "That They Might Live" Sunday, WEAF, 12:30 p. m., EWT). And she'll be speaking from the heart. For Miss Evelyn, who will be heard in the play as a Red Cross nurse's aid, owes much to Red Cross aid at the most crucial moment in her life.

Tenor Jack Smith joins Al Goodman, his orchestra and chorus in a spirited opening number—Vincent Youmans' "Flying Down to Rio"—that sets the pace for this second Sunday of the "Family Hour" summer series. (WABC) 5 p. m., EWT.)

"The Murdered Never Die," a harrowing whodunit with a dilly of a denouement, written by that arch mystery writer Milton Lewis, is "Inner Sanctum Mystery's" cheerful pulse-pounder for Sunday, at 8:30 p. m., EWT, over WJZ.

Warm summer nights and moonlit skies inspire the "Album of Familiar Music" to turn to another page of love and romance for Sunday (WEAF, 9:30 p. m. EWT). Frank Munn and the choir sing "The Night Is Young and You're So Beautiful."

Col. Lemuel Q. Stoopnagle, world's foremost example of the selfishness of mother-love, reveals another side of his amazing versatility when he appears as guest star with the "Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street," Sunday at 9:15 p .m., EWT, over WJZ.

Nan Merriman, lovely young mezzo-soprano, feels like a modern Cinderella. This time, however, the Fairy Godmother's magic wand is really the magic baton of Maestro Arturo Toscanini, who has selected Nan to sing with the Summer Symphony orchestra in the all-Verdi program Sunday, (WEAF) 5 p. m., EWT).

J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will be the principal speaker on the "This Is Official" broadcast over WJZ, Sunday, at 1 p. m., EWT, answering queries reflecting the work of his G-Men in wartime.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Text: Deut. 21:18-21; Proverbs 23:20, 21; I Corinthians 6:9-11.

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The problem of intemperance began early as the Bible forcefully reminds us, and intemperance continues to be a problem, possibly a problem far greater than we realize in its bearings upon the world and social reconstruction.

The late Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, the famous minister of Broadway Tabernacle church—the church that stands almost upon the very edge of the "Great White Way" of New York—preached a sermon shortly after the close of World War I on Noah. With all the eloquence that he could command Dr. Jefferson portrayed the opportunity that confronted Noah with all the old barriers and landmarks washed away, and with every invitation and inspiration to build a new world. Yet in that day of wonderful opportunity Noah got drunk!

The shameful story is told in the Bible, but the story is not more fanciful or more tragic than what has happened again and again in the history of mankind. The world today is being led astray thru drink. The psychology of much of our social life, and even the psychology of some of our war effort is very largely a psychology of drinking. Where a generation ago we were sure that sobriety and total abstinence were good, there are many today who doubt that either in theory or in practice, or in both theory and practice.

Men will need clear minds, and understandings unaffected by abnormal stimulants and intoxicants, if they are to build the new world on solid foundations. What the Bible tells us concerning alcohol has come out of the experience of mankind, as men of insight have observed evil ways and evil habits and their consequences.

Hence the three passages, from Deuteronomy, Proverbs, and I Corinthians, are worth heeding. The matter of drinking is not one in which we need be Pharisaical, or sit in judgment upon others. Many of us who are total abstainers may be inferior in character and service to some who do not follow our rule of total abstinence; but this does not alter the essential truth concerning the nature of alcohol.

The fact that men may disregard the rules of health in other respects, and yet thru their strength of constitution, or for other reasons, escape the results of careless habits, does not alter the fact that in general bad habits and unhealthy ways bring upon men evil consequences.

Mock Murder Trial Slated

A thrilling drama of a young husband and father on trial for killing his wife will be offered Aug. 1 at the Grace Methodist church when a real tragedy based on court records will be unfolded.

With the exception of the "prisoner" and the "prosecuting attorney," the cast of the drama, "Prisoner at the Bar," will be composed of local talent.

Samuel J. Kickel of Westerville will be the state's attorney, while the prisoner's role is handled by Rev. F. W. Wilkinson of Cleveland. Both performers are members of the Methodist Board of Temperance. The others of the cast are as follows:

Judge Forsythe, Benjamin S. Baumgardner; defense attorney, Alvin A. Zurflub; Ed Johnson (officer), Patrolman Ralph J. Frankhouser; Tom Hamlin (fingerprint expert), Inspector Kermit L. Westbay; Mrs. Frank Hall (star witness), Mrs. Gretchen Beaumont; Dorothy Jones (prisoner's daughter), Marilyn Stedcke; clerk of court, Fred Schlumbohm, and court bailiff, George W. Nice.

The story deals with the husband who kills his wife in a moment of drunken debauchery, and the trial that follows.

Members of the jury include Harold Rose, E. L. Neiswander, Roger V. Hyde, C. L. Nichols, W. E. Kleinoeder, Mrs. Maude Neiswander, Mrs. Gertrude Foulk, Mrs. Ota Nichols, Mrs. Bessie Blasser, Mrs. Maude Kleinoeder and Mrs. Marion Franklin.

ANNIVERSARY TO BE OBSERVED BY REV. GRAESER

Rev. Paul E. Graeser, pastor of the First Evangelical and Reformed church, will mark the 20th anniversary of his entrance into the ministry at his regular church service Sunday morning. He has chosen as his sermon topic, "Finding God in His Sanctuary."

Rev. Graeser began his first charge on July 8, 1923, in the First Reformed church at Wausau, Wis., and served there until Feb. 1, 1935, which he believes is nearly a record for length of service in a pastor's initial charge.

During the 20 years he has held only three charges. After leaving Wausau, he was at the Salem Reformed church in Ft. Wayne, Ind., from Feb. 3, 1935, to April 9, 1939, and since April 10, 1939, has been at the Lima church.
