Tire Survey Station Opens

A central truck tire inspection station has been set up at the Municipal service garage, 555 W. Washington ave., where all truck operators living in Madison or the immediate vicinity must submit all truck tires and passenger tires used on trucks, together with applications for replacement of these tires, before the applications are submitted to the ration board, the Madison war price and rationing board announced today.

The central inspection station will be open from 9 to 11:30 a. m., Mondays, Tuesdays, Fridays, and Saturdays, and from 1 to 3 p. m. Wednesdays and Thursdays. No tire applications will be accepted by the ration board unless certified by the central inspection station.

Truck operators living outside of Madison and vicinity may have applications certified by the Madison inspection station if they desire. According to the board, the procedure may be extended later to all of Dane county.

The board also reminds both buyers and sellers of passenger cars that a recipt must be secured in duplicate from a ration board for the surrender of rations outstanding in the name of the former owner before the new owner will be able to obtain rations or register the vehicle in his name with the vehicle license bureau.

Virginia Had Two "Record Snowfalls" in Single Month

People in California like to talk about their climate. When a visitor speaks of something he doesn't like about the weather, the residents are almost sure to have a quick answer of some sort.

For example a person may complain about the lack of snow in the Los Angeles area.

"Oh," says the Californian, "you can get all of that you want by going to the mountains!"

The trouble with that answer is the simple fact that most persons never get around to "going to the mountains." If snow doesn't come their way, they just do without it.

People who go without snow, year in and year out, miss one of the interesting gifts of Nature. It may be a bother at times, but it offers delight to boys and girls, and many adults enjoy some things about snow. It offers the thrill of sliding, skiing, snowshoeing and tobogganing, and it provides the material for building "snow men."

A we travel northward, we usually find more and more snow. Yet that is not true in all cases. Certain cities and villages get more snow than others which are hundreds of miles to the north.

Virginia is a southern state which does not have extremely cold winters, but it has a good deal of snow it some years. Going back to 1798, we find a record of two remarkable snowfalls at Norfolk, Virginia, in the same month. On Feb. 4 of that year, 60 inches of snow fell. Ten days dater, 40 more inches of snow came down!

Few places in the United States have records of such heavy snowfalls in a single month.

In three days of February, 1899, there was a heavy storm in the area between Philadelphia and Atlantic City, with a total of 44 inches of snow. That was a great deal, but it did not equal the first of Norfolk's storms in 1798.

On the northern shore of Lake Superior is the little city of Port Arthur, Ontario. Its average winter snowfall is given as 31 inches.

In the state of New York is the village of Adams Center, near the eastern end of Lake Ontario. This village is about 300 miles closer to the equator than Port Arthur, but its average winter snowfall is 185 inches!
