William L. Ethun Wounded on Guam

PFC. WILLIAM L. ETHUN

Pfc. William L. Ethun was wounded in the action on the island of Guam July 26, according to word received Friday from the war department by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Ethun, 162 Jackson st.

Pfc. Ethun enlisted in the marines corps in February, 1942, and received his training at San Diego and Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif. He attended East high school before his entry into service.

He began his overseas duty in January, 1943, and was stationed on New Zealand for several months, after which he took part in the Bougenville campaign, going in with the initial landings. Acording to letters received by his parents he had been in "foxholes somewhere" since the first of June.

Celebration Finds Him Back in Jail

MILWAUKEE—(U.P.)—So well did William E. Fitzgerald, 44, St. Paul, Minn., celebrate his release from jail after 90 days for larceny that he was back in Tuesday for another 90 after one day's freedom.

District Judge Harvey L. Neelen gave Fitzgerald his choice of another jail term or $100. Fitzgerald's funds left him no alternative.

The Twin Citian was jailed on a disorderly conduct charge. He was accused of invading the kitchen of the Gay Time tavern, grabbing a toaster, causing a short circuit that put out the lights, and knocking the tavern manager to the floor.

First Unitarian Society to Resume Broadcasting

A Little Saturday Talk:
Letters About Buffalo Bill

Many readers have sent me letters about the stories we had on Buffalo Bill last month.

Mr. C. S. Caldwell tells me that he was a boy about 10 years of age when he watched the first show Buffalo Bill gave in Nashville, Tenn., and adds that he believes the year was 1888.

"To this day," he says, "I have a picture in my mind of how he performed in front of the grandstand. I can see him riding about and breaking colored balls which an Indian who was riding on ahead of him threw into the air. In 1896 I went to live on a large Texas ranch, and the original Buffalo Bill show was 100 per cent true of the old west as I saw it then.

"In 1910 I took my son to see a Buffalo Bill show in Birmingham, Ala., but it had become more or less of a circus, and had lost its western atmosphere."

Another letter about Buffalo Bill, or William Cody, has come from Mr. F. N. Reynolds, who is the assistant general manager of a large railway system. He writes:

"I was particularly interested in your write-up on William F. Cody, because I saw a great deal of him in 1893 when he was showing in Chicago during the Columbian exposition. In that year he lived on 33rd street near Michigan avenue, two doors from where I lived.

"I had entry behind the scenes, so to speak, because I was a 'wild westerner' myself. As a boy of 15, I had put in 10 months driving mules on the Deadwood trail in South Dakota.

"You said you wondered what happened to the bullets which Buffalo Bill shot inside the tent. What he used was a small bore shotgun, of the pumpgun variety, as I remember. The shells were specially made, and were loaded with some material (not lead) about one-tenth the size of birdshot. This gave him a much better chance to hit his target and kept him from hurting people, or shooting his tent canvas full of holes."
