State Sen. Taylor Brown (R-Oshkosh) says that, in many instances, movies are responsible for juvenile delinquency.

Brown spoke before the interim committee of the state legislature at Fond du Lac Tuesday. It is investigating juvenile delinquency in a four-county hearing.

Brown reminded the committee that, during the early 1930s, there were bands of youngsters roaming with sawed-off machine guns, pretending they were gangsters. The state senator appeared at the hearing as an interested citizen. He is not a member of the five-man committee, headed by Sen. R. M. Schlabach of La Crosse.
