TRUMANEWS: Margaret Truman, daughter of the president, has applied for membership in the American Guild of Musical Artists (AGMA). An official of the union said the application was sent from California five days before her Hollywood Bowl concert. AGMA'S board of governors will act on it Wednesday. . . . The union said Miss Truman's action was voluntary, since she would be free to appear in solo recitals or with an orchestra without joining. But Miss Truman plans an opera career, and most opera companies—including the Metropolitan—have AGMA contracts.

A Hollywood recording firm said it had offered her $25,000 for making a four-disc album, but she said she hadn't received such an offer.
