Carnival

"Never mind, Pomeroy, I'll get it—it's probably for you anyway!"

SENATOR SOAPER SAYS:

It is urged that the ex-GI be given 40 years to pay for the house, and anything that solid could have the mortgage cut in the cornerstone.

According to Moscow radio, Russians were first to invent the electric light, telegraph, radio, steam locomotive and penicillin. All this in addition to the automatic No.

Public safety is not much imperiled by a five-cent drop in the price of steak. It has a long way to go before felling the man in the street.

"Every time I disagree with somebody they call it a disagreement," says Sam Goldwyn, who seems as puzzled by it all as Vishinsky at U. N.

The noted composer, Stravinsky pilfers one of his own tunes and retitles it "Summer Moon" for the popular trade. Except to denounce the fellow as a foreign cartel, tin pan alley is helpless.

Those neglecting to put aside something for taxes next year are warned that 1948 calendars are now in production. There will be a next year.

Dora is so enthusiastic over her boy friend's shepherd plaid, he has promised to take her to the country to see a plaid sheep.

Biology, too, marches on, and in the last few months has evolved a cow, it seems, which is totally devoid of cheaper cuts.

"Things are so tough at home," said the voice on the morning bus, "we're using up the leftover from leftovers."

Q. Who sponsors the Freedom Train? C. M. C.

A. The Freedom Train is sponsored by Attorney General Tom C. Clark and indorsed by President Truman. Details were prepared by the American Heritage Foundation, of which Winthrop W. Aldrich is chairman of the board of trustees.

Q. How tall was the giant Goliath? W. C. H.

A. Goliath, the famous giant of Gath against whom David fought and whom he killed, is described as being "six cubits and a span" (I. Kings 17) in height, which is over nine feet at the likeliest reckoning.

Q. Did any of the ancient writers explain how the Egyptian pyramids were built? C. J.

A. Herodotus describes the method employed. The smooth surface pyramids were first built as step pyramids, like a staircase of steps. The stone blocks were hoisted to the first landing by means of machines constructed of short wooden beams, and then lifted to the second. The top of the pyramid was the first portion to be smoothly faced and finished, the builders proceeding downward.

Q. How long has the Navy Nurse Corps been in existence? V. R.

A. The corps was established by law May 13, 1908. The first Navy nurses were assigned to the Naval Hospital, Washington, D. C. Their number consisted of a superintendent, a chief nurse, and 19 nurses.

Q. Who wrote the hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers"? A. D. L.

A. The words were written by the Rev. L. Sabine Baring-Gould, for a school festival in a village of Yorkshire, England, in 1865. The pupils of the Horbury School were invited to attend. This school lay at some distance from the place of celebration, so the minister composed the hymn for the children to sing while they marched from one village to the other. Sir Arthur Sullivan wrote the stirring music.

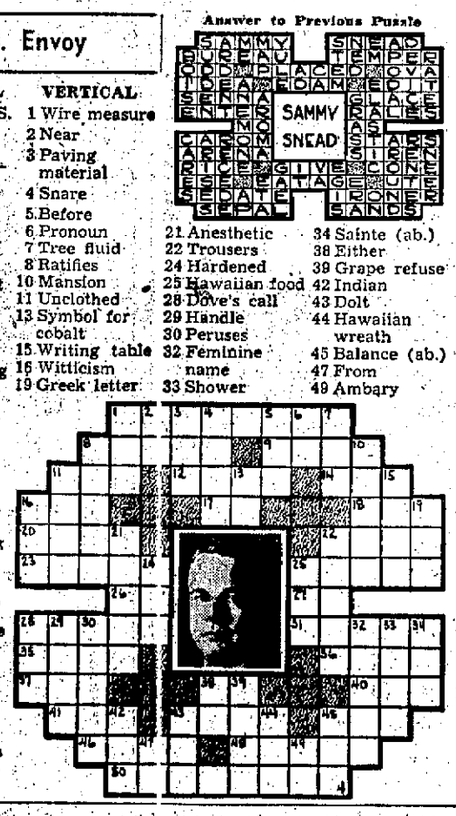
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Let's Explore Your Mind

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

Yes, probably, because women are more governed by their feelings about things—their so-called "intuitions"—and less governed by cold, logical analysis. However, men are more dominating than women and they, too, like to throw the last bombshell. So I guess it's a stand-off. What is your last word in this argument?

Answer to Question No. 2

Joseph Duninger, magician and bunk demolisher, says all "prophecies" are either lucky guesses, are based on inside knowledge, or else are made after the events occur. Several "psychics" prophesied the second World War, but several days after it started. A good many statesmen knew it was coming without any prophecies. Mark Twain said, "Don't prophesy unless you know." Smart Mark.

Answer to Question No. 3

No. The late J. David Houser, founder of Houser Associates, business consultants, found by getting at the inner motives of workers, from shovelers to executives, that not more than 15 out of 100 want to be promoted. They shrink from the responsibility of a larger position. He found most people want to do good work where they are; and have it recognized, not only by good pay, but by being made to feel important in the business.

INSULT TO HEN

INVENTIVE SCIENCE has conceived the ultimate affront to the hen. A square plastic "egg shell" has been devised, in which the content of an egg is placed for boiling and storage. It withstands boiling temperatures, eliminates breakage losses and cuts down shipping space. Whether or not it is embellished with gold dollar signs, symbolic of the current price of hen fruit, our source does not say.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

ODD, INDEED!

I HAVE often wondered why the rate of suicide among music teachers is not higher. It is a dreadful thing to know how beauty sounds, and then to hear it hammered out in all shapes and forms.—Gretchen Finletter in the Atlantic.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

Many people are surprised to learn of the charity activities of the American Contract Bridge League. During the war the league organized War Orphans Scholarships, Inc., and now it has transferred its activity in the field against cancer to a new corporation known as Children's Cancer Fund, Inc.

One of the people most interested in this new activity is Bob Hawk of quiz fame. Bob has done a great deal to foster charity causes of the league.

Here is a nice defensive play that Bob made in a recent game. Dummy played the jack of spades on the opening lead and East covered with the queen. Declarer refused to win this trick and laid off the spades until the third round.

Then he led the eight of hearts.

The rule is for second hand to play low, but if West plays the four-spot on this trick, declarer will finesse the nine in dummy. East will be forced to win with the queen, and without a spade to return, he can do nothing to prevent declarer from winning the balance of the tricks. On the next heart play dummy's jack can be finessed and the ace will pick up the whole suit.

However, instead of playing low on the first heart, Bob went up with the king. Declarer had to win in dummy with the ace, otherwise Hawk would have cashed the rest of the spades. South returned to his hand with a diamond and led the other heart. When Hawk played the four, dummy's nine was finessed.

Naturally South knew that Hawk did not have the queen, or he would have played it in order to cash the spades. East won the second heart trick and exited with a diamond, and South found it impossible to make more than eight tricks, not being able to cash the hearts.

CORRECT

"TO SAY that gambling is a sin in itself is to promulgate a falsehood."—The New Zealand Tablet, Dunedin, New Zealand.

This reminds us of a letter we got from a California Chamber of Commerce after we had referred to the number killed in the San Francisco earthquake of 1906. "You will be interested to know," the California booster wrote, "that in all known records, no person has been killed in California by earthquakes. The deaths were due to falling buildings."—Milwaukee Journal.
