ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

By HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Long Beach Press-Telegram Information Bureau, 210 Rye St., N. E., Washington 3, D. C. Please include three (3) cents for return postage.

Q. Is there in Florida a co-operative colony for retired postal clerks? A. L.

A. The Post Office Department says that there is a co-operative colony for retired postal clerks at Clermont, Fla., in Lake County, 27 miles west of Orlando. Private homes are built and there are acres of orange groves there. This colony has been established for about 20 years and was originally for railway postal clerks. It is now open to other postal employes. The name is Postal Colony Coompany.

Q. What breed of hen lays the largest eggs? C. V. S.

A. Among the largest eggs on record are one of 9½ ounces laid in Connecticut in 1942, and another in Michigan, weighing 7½ ounces/and measuring 10 inches by 7½ inches in length and circumference. These eggs were laid by Rhode Island Reds and the reports were published by the poultry breeders of the different states.

Q. Please explain the significance of the letters T. D. on clay pipes. J. O'C.

A. The initials T. D. on pipes stand for "Tommy Dowd" or "Tommy Dodd," who was one of the first clay pipe manufacturers in Scotland. He made the plain 5-cent smoking pipe which has been popular with the Irish and the Scotch, and he used the initials T. D. as a mark for his pipe.

Q. Where is the Hazen Military Road? B. D. G.

A. It is in Vermont. The road was started in 1776 with George Washington's approval and runs from Wells River, Vt., towards St. John's, Que., the plan having been to shorten the striking distance for Colonial troops.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

Yes, but one investigator asked 100 women this question and got 10 different answers. Here are some: "Father and mother always quarreling, wanted to escape"; "Got tired of the boarding house, so did he"; "All nice girls marry, seems the thing to do"; "Tried stage career, failed, just then an old lover showed up"; "Wanted a Prince Charming. Got him! Glorious!" All said they would do it over again.

Answer to Question No. 2

Yes, at least he is born that way, although he later loses the swimming ability and has to learn over again or drown. Psychologist Myrtle McGraw found that babies, 11 days old, if put in water will make rhythmical movements like a trained swimmer. If the baby's head sinks, his breathing automatically stops, so he does not strangle. In a few months babies lose this breath-stopping reflex, and strangle if their heads go under.

Answers to Question No. 3

Yes. Myron Stearns relates that pickpockets usually work in threes, and often stage a fight between two while the third does the picking. Often they post a sign "Beware of Pickpockets." This makes men snap their hands on their wallets. Then the "lifters" know where they are. It's a hard business to learn but offers rich rewards for deserving young men and women—if you are not caught, which always happens.

'HOW TO WIN AN ARGUMENT'
By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Presenting the scientific findings—based upon the study of 20,000 interviews. Six practical principles are explained. This booklet should prove of immense practical value to businessmen and women, salesmen, lawyers and all who contact the public. Sent upon request. Include self-addressed stamped return envelope and extra 3-cent stamp to cover printing. Address Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam, care of this newspaper. Just ask for "Winning Arguments."

DISAGREE

Henry Wallace has called universal military training "the first decisive step on the road toward fascism." We doubt that Henry's good friends in Russia would agree with him on this point, since compulsory military service in one form or another has been required of Soviet citizens since Jan. 15, 1918.—Kansas City Times.

MANY beginners at contract say "I have learned how to bid but I do not seem to be able to master the play of the hand." The most important lesson to learn in the play is to count your tricks. After you have learned that, one of the first plays you will be able to master is the endplay situation.

Today's hand gives the simplest form of the strip and endplay. Declarer wins the opening lead of the jack of hearts with the king.

Now we will look over the situation. We unquestionably have a heart loser. If we can guess where the queen of diamonds is, we will have no diamond loseers, but if we guess wrong we will go down on the contract needlessly.

Here is the procedure for a strip and endplay. Take two rounds of trumps, which pick up the outstanding trumps. Cash the ace and king of clubs, thus eliminating clubs from the North and South hands. Now cash the ace of hearts and lead the four of hearts, and you do not care who wins it because either East or West will have to lead back a diamond.

If East wins and leads the diamond deuce, South plays the eight-spot and West has to put on the nine or queen. That gives declarer three diamond tricks. If West is in the lead, he must lead up to the ace-jack of diamonds.

As I said above, this is a strip and endplay. You strip the North and South hands of hearts and clubs so that if East or West elects to lead a heart or a club instead of a diamond, you can discard a diamond from one hand and trump in the other, and be able to trump the third diamond.
