'University by Sea' Soon to Ask for Added Room

THE CITY COUNCIL soon is to be presented a petition urging that the present facilities of the "University by the Sea" on Rainbow Pier be extended another 40 or 50 feet to accommodate the growing number of visitors attending its daily session, according to A. C. Martin, chairman of the executive committee of the "university." He also disclosed that the committee will ask that a lattice roof be built over the "classroom" to ward off the direct rays of the sun. More than 500 signatures have been added to the petition, he said.

This "university" which its admirers modestly call "America's Greatest Institution of Learning," though outsiders have less complimentary nicknames for it, was established as an open forum by the city council in 1935 for the purpose of promoting freedom of speech and general entertainment. That it has fulfilled its purpose is attested by the attendance of three to four hundred interested persons each day and as many as 3000 on weekends. Main course of study is formal public speaking, with lesser "courses" in arguing, debating, singing and just plain visiting.

MODERATOR ELECTED

"Classes" at this fresh air institution open each afternoon at 2, 1:30 on Saturday and Sunday, with election of a chairmman who governs the speakers. Probably nowhere else will you find such a diversified group of individuals enjoying one of the great rights of every citizen of this nation, the right to get up and speak his mind on any subject he wishes, and some of the speakers cover a lot of ground in the fifteen minutes allotted them. You can find here rich man and poor, retired contractor and rancher, salesman and trainman, aged and young, in eager attendance, listening and expressing their opinions on all manner of topics.

The daily program generally starts off with several speakers on religious subjects. Here Christian and non-Christian, believer and nonbeliever are given free rein to express their opinions. They are followed by speakers who talk on a wide range of subjects from President Truman's foreign policy to the way Leo Durocher is managing the Brooklyn Dodgers. Surprisingly enough, despite the many contradictory opinions expressed, there have been few disturbances to mar the conduct of the forum. These came mostly during the war when servicemen sometimes disagreed violently with the views outlined by the self-appointed "professors."

The Recreation Commission, which has charge of the "university," does not interfere in the activities of the forum unless its assistance is asked by the committee of nine which acts for the student body. It is this committee which unites the diverse groups into one organization and prevents the arguers and singers from disturbing those who wish to hear the speakers.

With the advent of summer, entertainers are more frequent and the programs of instrumental music and singing are greatly enjoyed at this spot which slowly is becoming as well known as Hyde Park in London, Columbus Circle in New York or the Commons in Boston.
