The United Press reports today from Philadelphia:

The Republicans are going to say it with music.

Meyer Davis, general musical director of the convention, rehearsed his 75-piece band right up to the opening rap of the gavel. His musicians were memorizing the favorite songs of the favorite sons, which will be heard often and loud during the convention.

"We want to be ready," says Davis, "for any action on the part of the delegates the moment it occurs."

* * *

Immediately upon a buzzer signal or telephone call from Chairman Walter Hallanan at the far end of the convention hall, Davis will baton his musicians into action.

They'll play either "A Date in Forty-Eight," the Republican campaign song, or one of the favorite songs of the favorite sons.

Davs has invited every favorite son and serious contender to lead the band when it plays his favorite song and during demonstrations. He'll present an individually-inscribed baton to each of the contenders for the nomination.

Each candidate and favorite son has been canvassed by Davis as to his favorite song. Here they are—and where more than one song is listed, the first is the favorite:

Senator Taft: "I'm Looking Over A Four-Leaf Clover," "Fight Team," an Ohio State university song; "Stout Hearted Men," "The Beautiful Ohio."

Gov. Dewey: "The Michigan Victors," University of Michigan song.

Harold Stassen: "Rouser Song," University of Minnesota song; "Anchors Aweigh," "Hail Minnesota," and "My Minnesota Home."

Gen. MacArthur: "I Dream of Jeanie With The Light Brown Hair" and "On Wisconsin."

Gov. Warren: "California, Here I Come."

Senator Martin of Pennsylvania: "Khaki Bill."

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts: "Marching Along Together."

Sen. Baldwin of Connecticut: "The Battle Hymn of The Republic."

Rep. Halleck of Indiana: "Now Is The Hour" and "On The Banks of The Wabash."

Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts: "School Days."

Gov. Green of Illinois: "Loyalty Song" of the University of Illinois.

Carroll Reece, Republican national chairman: "Faith of Our Fathers" and "My Homeland, Tennessee."

No information was received from Gov. Driscoll of New Jersey, Sen. Millikin of Colorado, and Sen. Lodge of Massachusetts.

The son of Sen. Vandenberg, Arthur Vandenberg, Jr., replied to the query thus:

"Since there is no plan to place Sen. Vandenberg's name in nomination in Philadelphia, I cannot anticipate any occasion upon which it would be suitable to play a special musical number in his behalf."

Unofficially, it's understood Vandenberg's favorite song is "Fight Song" from the Michigan State university.

Clift to Get Chief Role in Filming of Wolfe Novel

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD—Don't say we didn't tellya—when Montgomery Clift, currently Hollywood's most in-demand emoter, plays Eugene Gant in "Look Homeward, Angel," the great Thomas Wolfe novel soon to be filmed—because that's who is gonna get the role.

Believe it or not, the pastor of the Episcopal church at Beaumont, Calif., is Bing Crosby! His full name is Bingham Crosby—and he used to be a Dartmouth football star.

Hedy Lamarr flies to Paris on the 25th.

Although everyone is screaming "hard times" around here, budget for "Too Late for Tears," which Hunt Stromberg is putting before the cameras next month, is very high. He has borrowed Lizbeth Scott from Hal Wallis for it (but don't ask us why!) Don de Fore, Kirk Douglas, and Wendell Corey fill out the cast.

SCOTT

You'll be glad to know that Emil Jannings, one-time great star, who cooperated with the Nazis, can't even get a job in Germany now.

Louis Hayward will be making the income tax people happy soon, we imagine. He owns a 10 per cent interest in "Black Arrow", "Ruthless", and "F.B.I. Meets Scotland Yard," and a 25 per cent hunk of "Clementine," which he'll star in for Edward Small, who'll make the picture in Italy.

Such a tempest in a teapot (to coin a phrase) over that Arthur Blake impersonation of Louella Parsons, which was cut off the Eddie Cantor air-show! Nothing could be as "brutal" as the one we heard on the Henry Morgan airer last week—and we'll bet Louella would be the last to mind!

For that good-will telephoning to newsmen in 30 countries, Greer Garson was glued to her phone Tuesday from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. She had breakfast, lunch, and dinner while gabbing. She's wearing an ice-pack on her ear today! Of all the cities contacted, the only trouble was reaching the right party in Vienna. Be glad you don't have to foot the phone bill. Greer was only supposed to gab three minutes to each spot—but most of the talks ran 10 minutes.

Now that Sylvia Ashley Fairbanks Stanley is free, look for her wedding to long-time heart, Bob Sweeney.

Johnny Sands, supposedly marrying a San Francisco socialite next month, has been holding hands with Judy Clark.

Stu Erwin returns to pictures with a top role in "Strike It Rich" and playing the type of thing that brought him fame—a very Will Rogers kind of part.

Una Mortished, niece of Barry Fitzgerald, is here from Dublin and goes into "The Heiress."

At the request of Alex Ardrey, bank rep of the Bankers Trust which provided $3,500,000 for "Joan of Arc", the banner that Ingrid Bergman carries in the movie is being shipped to N. Y. for display in the main window of the bank! They're real happy they helped finance it.
