ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

By HASKINS

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Long Beach Press-Telegram Information Bureau, 316 Eye St., N. E., Washington 2, D. C. Please inclose three (3) cents for return postage.

Q. Why are the Republicans referred to as "Ripon" Republicans? G.E.W.

A. The name Republican, as used by the present political party of that name, was first adopted at a local political meeting held at Ripon, Wisconsin, February 28, 1854.

Q. What is the real purpose of the sarape as used by the Mexicans? W.E.R.

A. The sarape is worn by the rural Mexicans as an overcoat. It is made of dark gray wool with a hole in the middle to pass over the head.

Q. Have sunspots any effect upon human beings? G.C.G.

A. Dr. Charles G. Abbot of the Smithsonian Institution is not convinced that it has been proved that there is any effect of sunspots on people. Still it is not unlikely that there may be shown to be such effect, but one cannot predict what it will prove to be.

Q. In his duel with Charles Dickinson in 1806 did Andrew Jackson have the buttons on his coat moved in order to confuse his opponents? Z.F.P.

A. For the duel Jackson wore large, loose garments. He was very thin, and he twisted his body within his coat so that it was almost sidewise. This really saved his life, for Dickinson aimed at his heart. He was struck and his breast-bone seared and several ribs fractured. Jackson, who had deliberately let Dickinson shoot first, aimed, and although his pistol stopped at half cock he examined it again, reaimed and fired the fatal shot at Dickinson.

Q. How high above sea level is the highest natural elevation in New York City? S.L.

A. The highest elevation in New York City is Todt Hill on Staten Island which is 409 feet above sea level.

Q. What are ant trees? C.N.D.

A. This is the name given to several species of trees of South America, such as the barrasanta of Colombia, a small slender tree which is hollow and filled with vicious, biting ants.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

The women bridge players of Cleveland, Ohio, are probably the best organized tournament group in the country. At the Ohio State tournament they saw to it that all out-of-towners had an enjoyable time. Mrs. H. J. White has been active in tournament affairs in Cleveland for a number of years and is a consistent winner. She and Mrs. H. D. McKnight, also of Cleveland, won the women's pair championship this year.

Mrs. White recognized today's hand as an endplay situation rather than a hold-up. She allowed the opening lead of the king of hearts to hold, and when West continued with the queen, declarer did not make the mistake of holding up until the third round. She won the trick with the ace of hearts.

She knew that she had three spade tricks, a heart, three clubs and the ace of diamonds. A three-three break in either spades or clubs would give her the ninth trick. She could take the diamond finesse, but if it lost, West would cash the balance of the hearts. So she was careful to save a small heart in her hand.

She tried out the spade suit, and on the third spade West discarded a diamond. Then she tried out the club suit, and again West showed out on the third round, discarding another diamond. Now Mrs. White did not have to guess the diamond play. She simply led the small heart from her hand, and West won with the jack. West could cash the two good hearts, but then she had to lead a diamond into Mrs. White's ace-queen, thus giving her nine tricks.

Carnival

By Dick Turner

"It's like this, friend—the town has two heroes and not much in the way of funds!"

SENATOR SOAPER SAYS:

Town kids are passing up chances at a couple of weeks in the woods, as where's the fun in throwing rocks at a tree that doesnt' have glass insulators?

"Television to bring back vaudeville." Thus those who think radio's three-minute commercial too long can compare it with the Eddie Leonards of yesterday, who bowed for eight.

The Federal Trade Commission rules a product may not be represented as containing garlic unless it contains enough to be identified. That is to say, any.

Don't get the idea that it isn't something to be the worst Congress ever, or the worst president. It ain't easy.

"To buy candles to produce the light used by the average American family each month would cost $350." The whole quaint enterprise therefore is abandoned.

Those sincerely wanting a fight can find a way. If peace seems to rear its horrid head, they need only fall out over the terms of the truce.

Of course the soap operas are true to life. The cad's remark—"There is no place for you, Elaine, in the life that I have planned"—could be a Dixie delegation telling off Harry.

"In Dalmatia, ants chew grain into dough, form this into patties and bake their own cakes in the sun.' We thought the ants that attend our picnics would like to know.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

Yes, pretty sure at least. Start in actively trying to make other people happy. Join the Big Brothers or ask someone you know is unhappy to go to a dance, or church, or fishing. If you can't do anything else, ask him to go for a walk and study nature or talk about anything and everything except worries and troubles. You can't think of two things at once. If you can just keep your mind on making someone else happy, your unhappiness is bound to vanish.

Answer to Question No. 2

Rarely. If she meets her employes out of business hours and tries to make them feel "equals" socially, it is hard to regain her authority in the office or shop. Moreover, if the other employes find out the boss has taken one of them to a luncheon or party it creates jealousy. A woman executive can't live a double life in this way.

Answer to Question No. 3

If he doesn't he will be unpopular. Empathy is rather a new word in psychology. Psychologists Vaughn and Roth tell us in their fine practical book, "Effective Personality Building," "Empathy means a sympathetic understanding of the other fellow's point of view." So, if you want to be happy and popular and get that raise from your boss, get busy on your empathy. Our booklet, "Overcoming Self-consciousness," will help. Sent at cost, 15c. Inclose stamped, addressed return envelope.

GETTING ALONG WITH PEOPLE
By Milton Wright, Noted Psychologist

Do you really KNOW YOURSELF? You must—to master the art of getting along with people.

This booklet fully explains—
YOUR SEVEN BASIC EMOTIONS

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

I DO not know a person either on or off the floor of the Senate who has given more aid and comfort to the Kremlin than the Senator from Idaho.

We are convinced that today Russia is manufacturing many times as many planes as we are. We do not have to choose whether or not we will meet the issue in the air. The choice has been made for us.
