TIP O' THE MORNING: Football Coach Harry Scott of Hillsboro high school will be Ralph Peterson's guest on his WFOW program at 5:15 p. m. Sunday, discussing the controversial novel, "The Hero," which deals with college sports.

When St. Olaf Lutheran choir sang Friday night at Bethel Lutheran church, WHA engineers recorded the whole program.

In fact, the concert went on the air over WHA-FM, but this was not announced in advance at the choir's request.

The engineers experimented with various pickups at the Friday afternoon concert in the same church, and used the best of their several methods to put the night program on tape.

As a result, folks at WHA report, this was one of the finest recordings the men have ever made.

The recording will be broadcast by WHA and WHA-FM at 2 p. m. Sunday.

EDITH GWYNN'S HOLLYWOOD NEWS: Wanda Hendrix and Audie Murphy are further apart than ever they were—you can expect another gloomy announcement any minute.

Speaking of gloom—We're told that the "Minniver Sequel" currently winding up in England, with Greer Garson as its star, finds Mrs. Minniver straightening everything out before she dies of cancer. This is almost the same plot as that of "No Sad Songs," in which Margaret Sullavan just finished starring at Columbia. Then there's R.K.O. with a dear, dreary little ditty called "Mad With Much Heart" soon to be filmed. This one deals with a child-molester! We are a people who, above all, go to movies to laugh, to "escape" or to be sentimentally entertained. Yet with films like the above on various studio schedules some "giant-brains" still wonder why "there's no business like NO business."

Bing Crosby ain't gonna let son, Gary, make a bunch of recordings for Decca, even though the lad has a very lucrative offer in his lap. He has to finish his schooling first—but after that spot on Pa's show, Gary's theatrical future is in the bag — if that's what he wants.

Slapsie-Maxie's, the erstwhile famous night spot where so many top-flight cafe entertainers have appeared, turns into the New Globe theater Wednesday. Opening show, "The Banker's Daughter"—with Howard Da Silva as the star.

Adele Jergens is set to star in "Lady with a Harp" (we dunno whether the harp is a musical instrument or an Irishman!) which Arthur Schwartz will produce.

Flying to New York is Billie Burke—the moment her stint in "Father of the Bride" is finis. She's going into a "new" edition of the Ziegfeld Follies in N. Y., soon to hit the Bway boards via the Shuberts. And a lot of beautiful babes around Filmtown will be glad to hear that talent-scouts have their eyes popping for femme allurers for this show — on BOTH coasts.

Guy Madison wanted so much to replace Eddie Albert in "Miss Liberty" on Bway while Eddie is here playing opposite Lucille Ball in "The Fuller Brush Girl." Guy, idol of the bobby-soxers, is well qualified for the Big Town job. His stage-touring of recent months has resulted in amazing progress for him. But young actor Billy Redfield gets the "Liberty" job.

Bill Lundigan doesn't have to wear a worried look for a while. 20th-Fox just signed him for another year. He starts "I'll Get By" opposite June Haver in a couple weeks.

Ruth Lewis, who used to be a Red Cross nurse, will play the role of a nurse in "White Rose for Julie," with Bob Mitchum, Faith Domergue, Maureen O'Sullivan.

Happy Children Mean That Parents Are Happy Too

By DR. CARL N. NEUPERT
(State Health Officer)

Happy parents have happy children.

A child's home life is the basis for his ability or inability to face and solve his problems.

It is in the home, and mainly from parent-child relationships, that a child learns a way of life.

His attitudes, his values, and ideals come from his home. Even a baby is exposed to all the complexities of family living — security and peace, or tension and disagreement.

The atmosphere of security and love which children need if they are to develop normally will not be found in a home where there are emotional difficulties between father and mother.

Men and women who have a sense of well-being, a zest for working and playing, an ability to get the greatest possible satisfaction from personal relationships, are said to be mentally healthy.

If the parents are like this, their children will probably be mentally healthy too.

The unhappy child tries all sorts of things.

He steals, he lies, he has temper tantrums, he has nightmares, he may even refuse to eat his food.

These acts are outward signs that he is unhappy about something.

It takes understanding on the part of parents to see and correct the underlying causes of these troubles.

When his questions are answered, his need for affection is satisfied, his desire to do things for himself is encouraged, and when he is made to feel a part of the family group through participation in family work projects, recreation, hobbies, and everyday living, then the child has a mentally healthy environment in which to grow and live.

The best thing parents can give their children is security and love at home.
