L. A. Mayor Says City Going Ahead With Civil Defense

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2. (UP) Mayor Fletcher Bowron said today Los Angeles is "going ahead on its own" to establish a civil defense organization because city officials have become "impatient" waiting for a definite federal program.

"We are acting in complete agreement with the state, but have grown impatient in waiting for the federal civil defense program to take definite shape," the mayor said in a statement.

He said city officials expected to have a civil defense organization in operation by the time the pending federal civil defense bill is enacted into law.

Bowron said the city plan might require organizational changes to make it conform to the nation-wide plan when it is passed by Congress.

He said he has appointed a five-man board "to pull together all city administrative functions and give direction to a full-time civil defense coordinator."

The board will begin enlisting and training voluntary citizen personnel throughout the city as soon as possible, he said.

The city already has begun reconditioning 80 air raid warning sirens installed during World War II.

Georgetown U. Law Team Wins Mock Trial Match

NEW YORK, Dec. 2. (AP) A law student team from Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., won the final match last night of a national moot (mock) trial tournament in which 12 law schools took part.

The defeated finalist team represented the University of Kansas.

The mythical test case revolved around a suit brought by two farmers in which one alleged the other hired a rainmaker who drew rain from the plaintiff's area and caused a subsequent drouth and crop failure.

The tournament was sponsored by the Bar Association of the City of New York.

In its winning contest, Georgetown argued for the plaintiff and Kansas for the defendant. However, at times throughout the two-day legal matches, winning teams had to switch sides.

Georgetown entered the finals by downing Albany Law School, while Kansas defeated the University of Kentucky.

The Georgetown team was represented by Everett Olinder, Vincent A. Pepper and Gilbert Zimmerman. On the Kansas team were W. Benjamin Foster, Evan K. Wilson and Richard C. Harris.

The final contest was judged by U. S. Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson; Federal Judge Harold R. Medina; Sir Frank Soskice, solicitor general of England; Chief Judge John Biggs Jr., of the U. S. Court of Appeals, Third Circuit; Associate Judge Albert Conway of the New York Court of Appeals, and Whitney North Seymour, president of the bar association.

The preliminary contests were judged by panels of three lawyers.

Other teams in the tournament were: Brooklyn Law School, Chicago-Kent College of Law, Northeastern University (Boston), Temple University, Yale, and the universities of Notre Dame, Oklahoma and Virginia.

It was the fifth year of the national competition. Yale, last year's winner, was defeated Thursday night by Georgetown.

Flynn in Denial of Costello Link

NEW YORK, Dec. 2. (AP) Bronx Democratic Leader Edward J. Flynn wants to go before a grand jury to deny charges made by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey linking him politically with gambler Frank Costello.

In a letter yesterday to District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, Flynn termed Dewey's election campaign statements "utterly false."

Flynn, asked to go before the Manhattan grand jury currently probing any tie-ups between the underworld and Democratic politicians,

"I do not know Frank Costello, have never seen him and most certainly have no relationship with him or any other member of the underworld," Flynn said in his letter.

Senator Seeks Pact on Nippon Fishing Fleet

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (AP) Sen. Magnuson (D.-Wash.) said today he plans to urge that the Japanese peace treaty prohibit Japanese from fishing in the northeast Pacific Ocean.

He recalled that before World War II several serious incidents arose because Japanese fishing boats invaded the waters usually fished by Americans and even entered Bristol Bay, off the Alaskan coast, in 1937 and 1938.

Magnuson said he had been advised by the Pacific Fisheries Conference from Seattle that its members understood Japanese already are planning to resume fishing in the northeast Pacific after the peace treaty is signed.

A-Bomb Use in Asia Advised as Russ Checkmate

"The United States should use the A-bomb in Asia," according to Craig Hosmer, recent Republican congressional candidate.

Speaking in Long Beach before the 18th District Townsend Clubs Wednesday, Hosmer added. "We should not hesitate to use any weapons at our command whenever and wherever the military situation justifies it. It is criminal if we sacrifice American lives by failure to use our best weapons in craven attempts to appease Russian imperialism."

Hosmer stated that the Chinese involvement in Korea was part of a Kremlin plan to bog the U. S. down in Asia while Russia gains time to build up her A-bomb stockpile.

"Russia plans World War III, but not before 1952," said Hosmer, "unless she suddenly reaches the conclusion that time is beginning to work against her. That would mean all-out war at an earlier date."

Hosmer told his audience that use of the A-bomb in Asia would notify Russia of unmistakable intentions to halt her aggression and thus deter a Kremlin decision to start a world war.

Mrs. Lillian Mercer presided at the meeting.

China Reds Arrest U. S. Missionaries

HONG KONG, Dec. 2. (AP) Chinese press reports today from Canton said three American missionaries were arrested south of Canton, Nov. 14, by Chinese Communists who claimed to have seized a generator, a radio set and seven pistols.

Dispatches said the missionaries were operating a leprosarium at Sunwui, 46 miles south of Canton. Missionary sources in Hong Kong were unable to confirm the reports but said there was a leprosarium near Sunwui operated by the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America. Two Maryknoll fathers were known to be working there.

Knowland Reports Equipment Chief Need in Korea

BUTTE, Mont., Dec. 2. (UP) Millions of Asiatics are ready and eager to line up with the free world, but they desperately need our equipment, Sen. William F. Knowland, (R.-Calif.), said today.

The Nationalist government of China has more than 500,000 trained troops on the island of Formosa and 800,000 guerrillas on the mainland who need only equipment dropped from the air to continue the harrying attacks against the Communists," the Senator said.

Sen. Knowland, who recently returned from a 16,000-mile trip to Korea and Formosa, said that if we supply sufficiently strong leadership and give the Nationalists on Formosa the help they need there are forces on the continents of Asia which will keep the Communists so busy that they will not dare to launch a world conquest venture in Europe.

"Formosa will be able to defend itself against invasion by Chinese Communists from the mainland if given adequate equipment," the Senator said.

Transocean Radio Operators Await Mediator Report

OAKLAND, Dec. 2. (AP) The striking operators of Transocean Airlines have decided to return to work and submit their grievances to a federal mediator.

Walter Smith, president of the C. I. O. Transport Workers Union Local 505, said that the 25 radio flight officers involved had voted last night to return to work on a temporary basis, pending outcome of the mediation, expected to start next Tuesday.

The radiomen left their jobs with the big international nonscheduled airline Wednesday night, asking a wage increase of $25 a month and an increase in severance pay to men displaced by use of radio telephones.

The present wages for the operators range from $325 to $500 a month. Transocean had offered a monthly pay increase of $10; also, the union asked $500 severance pay for each six months' service with the line. Details on present severance pay conditioning were not given.

The company said that it asked the union unsuccessfully just before the strike began to wait for the ruling of a federal mediator. After the walkout Transocean asked the Air Force to assign military radio operators to transocean planes participating in the Korean airlift.

Union officials contended that the strike did not hamper the airlift, which is maintained by the Air Force and seven private airlines.

Reward Offered for Statuary Washed Into Sea

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 2. (UP) Socialite Helen Neushaefer, New York cosmetics manufacturer, offered cash rewards totaling $5000 today to beachcombers who find statuary and garden equipment washed away from her Long Island Sound estate.

Miss Neushaefer, visiting here, learned that the recent Atlantic seaboard storm crumbled a 20-foot sea wall protecting the estate at the tip of Parsonage Point in Rye, N. Y.

Although the house suffered little damage, the formal gardens and statuary valued at $50,000 were washed away.

The socialite said she will pay 10 per cent of its original purchase price for statuary returned in repairable condition. Items she especially hopes will be washed ashore are a 12-foot-high Mercury in bronze, a statue of Pan in Italian marble, a marble goose girl and a set of antique wrought-iron gates.
