First-hand Report on Red Atrocities in North Korea Given Reservist Chaplains

THE Naval Reserve chaplains' unit heard first-hand details of how church leaders and other leading citizens in North Korean cities were slain as "political misfits" by Communist forces before the Reds were driven back by the United Nations forces at a meeting this week at El Toro Marine Air Station. Santa Ana. First Lt. C. P. (Jack) Lewis was speaker. He returned recently from Wonsan, North Korea, where he served with advanced units of the First Marine Air Wing. The wing was stationed at El Toro when ordered to the Far East last July.

The officer told of numerous churchmen and members of their congregations who refused to conform to the Communist way of thinking and were tied in groups, shot, and pushed into the harbor at Wonsan.

"Evidence of what had happened was plentiful along the beaches where the bodies were washed up. The rest of the story was pieced together by those who escaped," Lt. Lewis declared.

The lieutenant, assistant public information officer for AirFMFPac, El Toro, also told the Reserve Navy men of the steps chaplains with the First Marine Air Wing and the First Marine Division have taken toward teaching the meaning of democracy to the people of the captured North Korean cities.

"Food and hospitalization have been the most needed things," he told the group. "The chaplains set up relieif agencies which feed the needy, and also have established a clinic for treatment of the sick."

Catalina Island 'Foreign,' Under Tidelands Rule

Russian ships could anchor off Long Beach east of Gaviota Ave. without violating international law, as a result of the U. S. Supreme Court decision in the tidelands case.

Also due to this decision, Catalina Island appears to be a "foreign" country.

These sidelights of the tidelands controversy were revealed yesterday by City Attorney Irving M. Smith at a meeting of the Civic League in the Y. W. C. A. Bldg.

Smith explained that the court has ruled that the ocean off the east beach is part of the high seas and not inland waters, which would be under jurisdiction of the state, or its grantee, the city of Long Beach.

"International law permits naval ships of a friendly power to have innocent passage through the high seas, even those within the three-mile limit, but prohibits passage through inland waters, over which a state has jurisdiction," the city attorney said.

"Catalina Island is viewed by the state as part of California and separated from it by the San Pedro Channel, an inland water," Smith continued. "However, the court views the channel as the high seas, thus cutting off the island from being a political part of the mainland.

"Such situations are absurd," concluded Smith, who is convinced that the new Congress will repudiate the ruling of the court and adopt legislation to quitclaim the tidelands to the states and their grantees, such as Long Beach.

He warned, however, that Congress will have to override President Truman's veto, but expressed the belief that this can be done, due to a change in the complexion of Congress resulting from the recent elections.

"We must use everything in the book to get this quitclaim legislation through this time," the city attorney urged.

Waite elementary school auditorium.

Those participating in the canvass will be Barton Root, B. L. Tucker, Allan Freedain, Morris Swanson, Albert Glimedahl, Carl Manahan, Carl Carlson, Russell Johnson, James Moberg, Walter Anderson, Francis Holven and Joel Webber.

Christian Science Subject Announced

The golden text of the Sunday Bible lesson on "God the Preserver of Man" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, is from II Samuel: "The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; the God of my rock; in Him will I trust: He is my shield, and the horn of my salvation, my high tower, and my refuge, my saviour."

Mary Baker Eddy declares in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures": "This is the doctrine of Christian Science: that divine Love cannot be deprived of its manifestation, or object; that joy cannot be turned into sorrow, for sorrow is not the master of joy; that good can never produce evil; that matter can never produce mind nor life result in death . . . Harmony is produced by its Principle, is controlled by it and abides with it."

Naval Transport Sabotaged While in Seattle Dock

SEATTLE, Dec. 9. (AP) A big naval transport, just back from carrying troops and supplies to Korea, was sabotaged in a Seattle dock this week.

Military and civilian investigators pressed an intensive search today for the saboteurs.

The incident was made public last night by Navy Capt. M. O. Eaton, deputy commander of the Military Sea Transportation Service in the north Pacific.

He said the vessel was damaged extensively in five different places by someone "not on our ball team."

He did not specify what parts of the ship had been sabotaged nor estimate how long it would take to make repairs.

A Navy information office spokesman said the nature of the sabotage was such as to indicate that it was not intended to keep the ship from sailing, but to cause trouble after the ship left port.

The damage occurred while the transport was under tight security guard. The civilian crew had been "screened insofar as it was possible." Both Eaton and other Navy officers said it was virtually impossible for an unauthorized person to get aboard.

Military sources said that as far as they knew it was the first such act of sabotage since the outbreak of war in Korea.

Eaton first said the damaged transport was the Navy's Gen. A. W. Greely, a C-4 type of 12,000 tons. However, early today Eaton's office said there was some uncertainty over the identification; that the damaged vessel may not have been the Greely but another transport of that tonnage and type.
