CATTLE CLATTER

By R. G. JORDAN

Farmers in Nueces County and other counties in that area which produce grain sorghum crops each year will lose the first rain—if and when moisture does come, according to E. D. Beck, Nueces cultural gent county agricultural agent. The "loss" of the first rain, Beck explains will be due to the fact that the land is not yet broken and that much volunteer grain will sprout from seed lost during last year's harvesting operations.

Beck

"They'll have to wait for a rain before they can plow and then lose much of that moisture when they do plow," said Beck. Citing the extent of the drouth in that area, Beck said that in Robstown he observed several holes nine feet deep and the soil was dry to that depth.

Grains

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Traders in grains spent a confusing session Friday and final prices showed it—a bizarre scramble of gains and losses which made little sense.

Chief item of interest, and outweighing the routine grain news, was President Truman's economic message to Congress. Grains sank when financial news tickers started carrying this message, but they recovered smartly in later dealings.

Wheat closed ¼-⅜ lower, corn was ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, oats were ⅜ lower to ⅜ higher, rye was ¼-1⅛ lower, soybeans were ¼ lower to 1⅛ higher and lard was 5 cents lower to 8 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Potential price ceilings caused most of the confusion in traders' minds. President Truman said the country must "hold the price line with utmost vigor." But there was no specific mention as to where this price line was as far as grains were concerned.

The President again urged that he be given power to control speculation in commodity futures, specifically that margin requirements be set by the Agriculture Department rather than by he various exchanges on which the commodities are traded.

Minimum initial speculative margins here, set by the directors of the board, are 25 cents a bushel on wheat, 12 cents on corn, 7 cents on oats, 15 cents on rye and 30 cents on soybeans. Individual brokerage houses often require larger margins for self-protection.

The government is offering to sell corn in the domestic market, but only on a rising price level. Its offer is 5½ cents a bushel over the Chicago May future for No. 2 yellow.

Great Britain continued to be a heavy buyer of wheat and corn, but lifting of hedges against this business could not rally either grain.

Part of the selling in wheat was based on a weather bureau forecast for rain or snow this week-end in the winter wheat belt.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Cotton futures were lower Friday in nervous dealings. Liquidation on a fairly broad scale was touched off by the economic message to Congress in which President Truman sought more powers to regulate commodity exchanges and control speculation in commodities. Losses extended to $1.80 a bale, but the market subsequently recovered $1 a bal or more on active mill buying and short covering, attracted by the reaction.

The New York Cotton Exchange services estimated domestic cotton consumption for the four-week period Dec. 3-30 at 725,000 bales, compared with 1,009,000 in the five-week period Oct. 29-Dec. 2, and 734,000 in the calendar months of December a year ago.

Futures closed 10 to 95 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12.—Cotton futures advanced to record highs here early Friday but profit-taking from the long side and hedge selling caused a reaction from the highs. Closing prices were steady, 45 cents to $1.05 a bale lower.
