Meat Price Cuts by Court Orders Will Be Sought

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP) Price enforcement officials said today they are ready to seek court orders, if necessary, to roll back any meat price increases based on higher cost of live animals.

Edward P. Morgan, enforcement director, said reports from many sections of the country indicate a number of meat packers and processors have raised prices in the belief they are entitled to do so because they were paying more for live animals.

Any such increases—passed on to distributors and wholesalers and ultimately to consumers—are strictly illegal under the general price freeze of Jan. 26, Morgan told a reporter. That freeze order limited prices to their highest levels from Dec. 19 through Jan. 25.

Prices of live animals were not covered in the general freeze but Morgan stressed that meat prices were and still are frozen.

Price officials said they are working on a new regulation to set dollars and cents ceilings on live hogs and pork products at wholesale and retail levels.

$3650 FOUND

Where's That Other $1350?

There was more than what met the eye to a dress accepted by an East Long Beach woman from her neighbor, another friend informed the Press-Telegram today.

When the East Long Beach woman started to remodel the garment, she found $3650 sewed in the front of the dress. She returned the money to her neighbor, whose memory has been "short" since a serious illness a year ago.

The neighbor's husband said his wife previously had told him she had saved $5000 but couldn't remember where she put it. Although he hadn't believed her, he changed his mind today and took the day off from work to look for the other $1350.

All parties involved wished to remain unidentified.

DIAL LITES — TONIGHT

5:00-KHJ—Acy Armstrong, new "lady" character of the "Singing Marshal" series, makes her debut tonight on this show that stars Curley Bradley. She's handy with six-guns or skillets . . . so she says.
6:30-KFI—And when it comes to the wearin' of the green . . . who could be more qualified than Dennis ("Clancy Lowered the Boom") Day, whose Irish tenor voice is known to millions.
7:30-KECA—A major Foreign Policy address by Senator Robert A. Taft (R.-Ohio) before the first annual convention of the Eastern Young Republicans Collegiate Conference, will be aired exclusively on this station.
9:30-KNX—During tonight's episode of "Line Up," cornet jazz artist Willie Jones is murdered. There is one witness who goes through the police picture files and comes up with a piece of evidence which involves one of the city's leading citizens.
9:30-KECA—The judges have been named for the "Atwater Kent Auditions" which will get under way tonight. First of the broadcast auditions will be for young men in the semifinals. The second broadcast will be heard at this same time tomorrow night (Sunday), with next Saturday and Sunday March 24 and 25, featuring semi-finals for girls.
