LOOKING AND LISTENING

Van Nuys Woman Winner of 'Dr. Christian' Award

By TOM DANSON

HOLLYWOOD — Mrs. Enid Field, a busy housewife of Van Nuys, came in for her share of glory when it was announced that she was one of the $500 prize winners in the "Dr. Christian" 10th annual script competition.

The story that won Mrs. Field this honor was her original half-hour radio drama entitled, "Box Tops, Unlimited."

A native Californian, Mrs. Field was graduated from Pomona College and formerly taught first grade in Santa Ana. During the last war, while her husband, Ed Field, was serving as a captain in the Army Air Force, Mrs. Field contracted polio. At that time, she was told she would never walk again. Today, eight years later, she leads a very happy and active life with her family, consisting of Chick, 14, and Cathy, 10.

She declared that there was only one other thrill in her life to compare with the excitement of the announcement of her "Dr Christian" award. "That was when I made a hole in one, in golf."

The grand winner of the contest was Fred McWhorter, a Kansas City insurance supervisor, who received $2000. Although McWhorter has written verse and juvenile fiction, this was his first attempt with a radio script. His play is titled, "The Homecoming."

"SAINT" AUDITIONED . . . It is rumored that Vincent Price will no longer be heard as the voice of "The Saint," popular NBC mystery program. Auditions were held recently, with Tom Conway appearing to be on the inside track for the part. Conway is the brother of motion picture actor George Sanders, and both of these men have played the part of "The Saint" in pictures. The change is reported to be caused by requesting Price to take a cut in salary for doing the show.

Last week, "Queen for a Day" was aired from Madison Square Garden, in New York, and drew 20,000 fans. . . . There's talk about putting Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Coleman and their "Halls of Ivy" show on the stage in New York.

ON TV . . . Sigmund Rothschild, noted art collector, will be Kate Smith's special guest during her show from KNBH (4) at 4:15. . . . "The Accident" will be the presentation the "screen test" candidates dramatize tonight, with experienced help from Edward Everett Horton, on KECA (7) at 7. . . . The American Institute of Family Relations presents two cases tonight at 7:30 from KLAC (13) . . . Vaughn Monroe tonight changes the format of his show to include three guest star attractions during each of his revues from KTSL (2) at 9. . . . A certain person decides it is time for a "Moment of Truth" on the Fireside Theater from KTLA (5) at 10. . . . High lights of the Louis-Godoy fight will be shown on KTTV (11) at 10. . . . A new time has been announced for KFI's (9) "Spanish Theatre." It now begins at 10:30.

ON RADIO . . . Song writer Jimmy McHugh and some of his best songs will be on KNX tonight with Lucille Norman at 7. . . . The romantic legend telling of "The Weeping Tree of Carlsbad" will be presented on KHJ at 8, during "Song of Liberty." . . . Robert Young will portray Gen. Mark Clark in "Top Secret," a cloak-and-dagger adventure of World War II, on "Cavalcade of America" from KFI at 8:30. . . . The indications about American moral standards as pointed up in the recent investigation of crime, basketball, five percenters and political patronage, will be the theme of tonight for "America's Town Meeting" from KECA at 9.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

No, however psychologist Paul Rankin has shown that most people listen three times as much as they read. A test of "Listen Ability" devised by Psychologist J. L. Brown showed that college students have not learned how to understand and remember what they hear any better than high school students. They have been taught how to read but not how to listen. Listening ability can be greatly improved.

Answer to Question No. 2

Yes, in the sense that it's harder for some persons than others to be good or for parents and society to train them to be good. Harvard Psychologist W. H. Sheldon's work on delinquency concluded there is no "criminal type"—persons foreordained to commit crime—or any body build that predicts a "criminal." However, the chief characteristic of delinquents and criminals seems to be constitutional weakness and insufficient drive and temperament to behave consistently according to expected standards. Dr. Sheldon regards this weakness as largely inborn. Of course, environment influences every one, but it takes far more environmental effort to induce some persons to be "good."

Answer to Question No. 3

No. Everything animals or humans do is "natural" — the outcome of inborn temperaments, drives and intelligence. The expression of these drives is influenced by environment. However, when we say certain perversions, crimes, etc.—even "insane" behavior—are "unnatural," we really mean they are repulsive, unusual and dangerous, in our society and culture.

McCloy Gets Green Light on Executions

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP) The State Department yesterday told John J. McCloy, U. S. high commissioner for Germany, he is free to proceed with the execution of five Germans convicted of war crimes.

The Supreme Court has refused to review the cases of the last seven remaining German war criminals under death sentences. A Federal District Court here yesterday issued a final order dismissing their petitions.

The State Department said it had jurisdiction over only five of the seven, the other two being under jurisdiction of the Defense Department.

All seven were convicted of concentration camp murders and atrocities.

Meat Slicer Blamed for Food Poisoning

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP) Air Force medical and sanitation officers believe it was a contaminated meat slicer that sent 64 Air Force men stationed at Arlington Farms to a hospital with food poisoning.

A report, released yesterday, said some of the ham may have been infected by the slicer, which clogged up through repeated use. The men became ill last Wednesday.

Authorities at Fort Meade, Md., have not determined what sent 384 Army inductees on sick call in a similar case of food poisoning the same day.

Phonevision in Chicago Called Huge Success

CHICAGO. (UP) Phonevision, the television device that permits a subscriber to see top-flight movies on his TV set by calling the telephone company and paying a dollar per movie, was successful "beyond our expectations," E. F. McDonald, president of Zenith-Radio Corp., said.

Phonevision was tried on an experimental basis with 300 selected "average" families in the Chicago area.

A jumble sound and wavering lines greeted regular viewers who tuned in on the channel. Subscribers had a device which automatically was cleared for transmission of the movies by the telephone company when a subscriber indicated that he wanted to see a picture.

McDonald said that the "take" for the three-month period was $6750, which figured to about $22.50 per family.

The potential, said McDonald, would be about $1,250,000 net figuring on an audience of 10,000,000 set owners.

The 300 families that participated in the test saw movies at such a high rate, said McDonald, that it "astounded our optimists and astonished our critics."

Final interpretations of the results of the test is under way, he said, but the average date of viewing ranged from 2.1 movies per week to 1.5. The high figure was for the first month when the novelty of the test was a definite factor, McDonald said.

RELICS BOUGHT

Ritz-Carlton Auction Starts

NEW YORK, May 22. (AP) Memories are drawing hundreds of former patrons back to the Ritz-Carlton Hotel—for an auction.

And the former clients, anxious to claim a souvenir, are not giving bargain-hunters much chance to pick up any of the hotel's gilded furnishings at cut rates.

The 40-year-old hotel was closed May 1, and wreckers have started to demolish it for a modern office skyscraper.

But several of the hotel's public rooms have been filled with beds, bureaus, telephone tables, chairs, mirrors, dressing tables and drapery.

The items went on sale yesterday, and the auction continues today and tomorrow.
