LOOKING AND LISTENING

Fulton Lewis Tops All in Getting Mail Response

HOLLYWOOD. Fulton Lewis Jr., radio commentator and newspaper columnist, will give an off-the-record talk which will not be broadcast, from the Shrine Auditorium, on Thursday night, July 12.

Lewis is coming to the West Coast to receive the 1950 Gold Medal Award of the Sons of the American Revolution at San Francisco July 9, and will stop off in Los Angeles en route home to Washington, D. C.

He astonished Washington recently, when a tabulation showed that his listeners had sent their Congressmen more than 2,134,000 replies to his questions on 16 vital issues he had incorporated in a national survey. It is believed that no other commentator in the nation ever has come close to producing such mail for the Congress of the United States.

With this issue, Lewis topped himself, having previously increased Senatorial mail some 800 per cent with his questions covering important points of the Taft-Hartley labor bill.

In the heated labor controversy, Lewis devoted more words to both sides than any other commentator or news columnist.

A news reporter all his life, he began his career as a cub on the Washington Herald. His network commentatory shows a great following of listeners, and enjoys a very high rating. Fulton Lewis Jr. is heard locally over KHJ each Monday through Friday at 4 p. m. and 9:15 p. m.

Answer to Question No. 1

Yes. Many parents insist on feeding their children at stated intervals without regard to hunger. Ours is not a health column but we are concerned with mental and emotional growth and personality. Forcing people to eat is an ancient form of torture. It plays heck with a child's personality, too.

Answer to Question No. 2

Yes. Several cities have organized teen-age councils that assist with traffic control, paint neglected houses in slum areas, help clean streets, plant trees, stop vandalism, etc. In California 85 boys and girls helped the Legislature re-write the State Juvenile Laws. When a lazy town says, "It can't be done," the kids answer, "Why not?"—and do it! Encourage your kids to make your town a better place to live in.

Answer to Question No. 3

Yes. Yet nearly everybody fears that hereditary diseases are incurable or harder to cure than others. All diseases are partly due to heredity. In "Genes and The Man," Dr. Bentley Glass states that diptheria is "known to be due to one gene in the germ cell from which one is born." He adds "the same appears to be true of scarlet fever." Allergies of all sorts—asthma, hay fever, etc.—are partly inherited; but all these can be cured in a large percentage of cases. Forget heredity when you are sick. Go to a doctor—the p-d-q er, the better.

U. N. Gets India's Kashmir Protest

NEW DELHI, India, July 3. (AP) India announced today she has protested to the United Nations Security Council against "a series of violations by Pakistan along the cease-fire line in Kashmir in the past fortnight.

Prime Minister Nehru warned that if these violations were not checked, they might flare into open war.

A letter from Nehru to the Security Council, released here by the foreign ministry, said India took a "grave view" of the events in Kashmir, center of a long dispute between India and Pakistan.

Officials Shifted

TOKYO, July 3. (AP) Dr. W. Wamdiehl, Washington, D. C., has been named finance director of general headquarters' economic and scientific section, the Army announced today. He replaces J. R. Allison, who returned recently to the United States.
