Civic organizations as well as many groups interested directly in music have cooperated to send high school students to the band division of the University of Wisconsin music clinic, now in session on the campus. They have done so by providing full or partial scholarships.

More than 50 of the 208 pupils are here on scholarships.

Among the organizations supplying them are Band Mother clubs at Ashland, Burlington, Manitowoc, Milwaukee, Nekoosa, Oregon, and Two Rivers; Parent-Teacher Assns. at Evansville and Waupaca; Kiwanis clubs at Fennimore, Mauston, Madison, and Wisconsin Rapids; Music Parents Assn., at Holcombe; Music Mothers clubs at Lancaster and Elgin, Ill.; Lions clubs at Menomonie and Waupaca; Music Boosters at New London; Band Parents Assn. at Stevens Point; Musicians' Union at Waupaca, and Band and Orchestra Mothers' clubs at Wauwatosa and Wisconsin Rapids.

Some schools and their activity funds provided scholarships, and several pupils came on scholarships from Wisconsin School Music Assn.

Here are the members of the All-State band who come from communities in the Madison area:

MOVIE MEMOS: Edith Gwynn, State Journal correspondent, writes from Hollywood . . .

Songstress Patti Page, very much in demand in all entertainment mediums now, won't be screen-testing at Metro because she's learned her right to do TV would not go with a contract there, no matter how photogenic she might be.

Moroni Olsen, who's been everyone from Gen. Bismarck to Buffalo Bill on film, plays Sam Houston in the C. Gable-Ava Gardner opus, "Lone Star." After the deluge of good publicity this has had, they're going to have to change the title. Someone forgot that the tag, "Lone Star" is owned by a small producer who isn't parting with it.

Tony Curtis and Piper Laurie, in from their touring to plug "Prince Who Was a Thief," team again in "Son of Ali Baba"—starts shooting next week.

Preston Foster forsaking Hollywood for a while. He and his wife are going out on a night-club tour. Their act: Presenting folk songs!

Dore Schary swears his upcoming sea-saga, "Plymouth Adventure," is nothing like, nor a sequel to "Mutiny on the Bounty." But "The Return of Capt. Bligh," planned to star Charles Laughton, must surely be a close relative to "Mutiny." Laughton essays this Metro special in early fall.

Peggy Ryan and Ray McDonald, refreshing and talented team now holding forth at Ciro's, can have top roles in "Top Banana," the new musical show that Paula Stone produces on Broadway come fall — if they want same.

The moment William Demarest winds up his trouping in "Green Gold of Nevada" for Pine-Thomas, he and a troupe head for Korea to cheer our soldiers.

Even thoughg his screen salary is so high now you wouldn't believe it, Marlon Brando is once more sounding off about how he won't be coming back to Hollywood again, now that his third movie, "Viva Zapata!" is nearing completion. Says he'll go to England and turn to writing instead of acting when he gets back to the U. S. A. Mind you—we're only saying what he SAYS!

Xavier Cugat has just hung a new pair of diamond earrings on singer Abbe Lane . . .

Peter Lawford hies himself to London end of this month (at which time his co-starring with Janet Leigh in "Just This Once" will be finis) to star in "T for Terror." Pete plays a maniacal cop-killer in this story, long planned under the original title, "The Sign of the Eagle."

Dreamer-uppers at Paramount are thinking out loud about tossing shapely Corinne Calvet into a new kind of sarong, and starring her in a series of "Island" pictures. The kind that Dotty Lamour made famous —or vice versa.

+ + +

FROM HOLLYWOOD: Edith Gwynn, State Journal correspondent, writes of happenings in filmland . . .

When H. Bogart (along with Katie Hepburn) winds up "African Queen", now shooting overseas, he and Lauren Bacall will co-star in "Quiet Harbor," which Bogey and Robert Lord will produce independently for Columbia release. It may well be the last these two make for that studio (they've already done six under an old agreement) because 20th-Century Fox is about to get Humphrey's monicker on a contract for at least one a year.

Joan Bennett and daughter Melinda have gone to La Jolla, Calif., where they'll open together in "Susan and God." Then they go east for a straw-hat theater tour with same.

The next "new" Italian movie to hit the U. S. A. will be something tagged "1860". It was actually made 20 years ago.

Rudy Vallee will have his own radio show come fall. An hour-long women's program for afternoon listening via NBC.

Mala Powers must learn to rope, ride and shoot bow and arrow for "Rose of Cimarron." Her instructions are coming via Jeff Chandler, the cinema's star.

Bill Bendix is now selling a leading local dairy 2,000 eggs every coupla days from his own, personal rancho. "I have enough 'eggs' left over from my radio shows for a six-year supply," sez he.

Evelyn Keyes owns a big chunk of that new picture she starts in shortly called, "Learn to Love". Describes it as "another 'It Happened One Night'"—but on bicycles instead of a bus."

Republic is after Alexander Knox to play the stellar role in "Where Are We Going", the latest entrant in what might be termed a "new cycle" in coming films with army or navy chaplains as heroes. Forrest Tucker is also pencilled in for a top spot in this one. It will be made almost simultaneously with similar subjects, Warners has "The Four Chaplains" on its fire, and 20th-Fox is cooking up "Pass the Ammunition".

State's Cash Balance Rises to $10,908,694

Wisconsin's cash balance increased from $10,154,702 June 1 to $10,908,694 July 1, State Treasurer Warren Smith reported Wednesday.

Receipts exceeded disbursements in June, $30,204,240 and $29,450,248.

The state's par value investments totaled $374,234,153. The figure included $110,719,467 in the teachers' retirement fund and $95,294,771 in the general fund.

Of the cash balance July 1, $2,069,010 was in the highway fund, and $1,471,123 in the conservation fund.
