LOOKING AND LISTENING

Jack Bailey Says Every Woman Is 'Queen' to Him

By TOM E. DANSON

HOLLYWOOD. "Women have made me what I am today—and I'm glad!" says Jack Bailey, the humorous but human Prince Charming of the veteran Cinderella show of the airways via radio and television. Jack has played the part of Prince Charming to hundreds of wives, mothers, sisters, grandmothers and other categories of femininity in America, and is extremely popular with them all.

"To me, every lady is a queen—and I can't help trying to prove it at every opportunity. If that's treason," he says, "make the most of it!" When he first started with the "Queen for a Day" show, Jack was very much inclined to be too harsh on the embarrassed female contestants, and as a result took quite a critical beating, but this soon changed into a smooth operation of style, which Jack expresses this way: "Now, if I can't turn a gag on myself when it appears to be embarrassing a participant, I get away from it. I never try to be 'cute' or sacrifice a visitor who is in unfamiliar circumstances and on foreign ground."

"It's one thing to kid the ladies, but another—and a poor one—to make fun of them." So with this philosophy, Jack has built the "Queen" show into a highly rated, well listened to, day-time five-a-week deal.

The only thing "high-sounding" about Jack is his real name which, unlike many theatrical names, comes very close. Born John Wesley Bailey III, he early evinced keen interest in things theatrical, running his own amateur Haymow Theater, in his hometown of Hampton, Iowa. It was many, many years later however, before any of his talent began to pay off. With radio jobs at $5 a week and copy boy with Walt Disney at $22.50 a week. Jack's star of fortune took a long time to shine.

Now in Europe for a well-earned vacation, he will return to the Mutual-KHJ airing of "Queen for a Day" along with the NBC-KNBH television version of the same show this fall.

DOWN TV-RADIO ROW . . . Television directors and producers absolutely must insist that performers not wear gaudy costume jewelry and dress buttons using brilliants and rhinestones when appearing on TV shows. The flashback directly into the camera from the lights spotted on the stage, cause big black splotches on the screen, making Tviewing very annoying. Most recent violator of this, which can be called a breach of TV etiquette, was the singer on last week's KTLA "Bandstand Revue."

ON TV . . . Charlie's daughter Sharon turns poetess on "The Ruggles" tonight, and there's no holding her after she sells one poem to a magazine. Dial KECA (7) for the fun at 7. . . . Considered one of the top television shows, Gracie goes "whole hog" for diet during the Burns and Allen show from KTSL (2) at 8, all of which starves George. . . . Oxnard, Calif., takes a bow on the Bob Shannon Variety Show from KTTV (11) at 9, when three natives are showcased. . . . A hard-hitting story of an insurance investigator titled "The Pipes Are Calling" will be Tviewed on KNBH (4) at 9:30 during "Man Hunt". . . . Another in the mystery vein comes from KTSL (2) at 9:30 with "Racket Squad."

ON RADIO . . . Douglas Fairbanks Jr. stars in "A Double Life," a suspense-charged story from KNX at 6:30 during "Playhouse on Broadway". . . . MacDonald Carey replaces the originally announced Van Heflin in the "Hollywood Star Playhouse" version of "Until Death Do Us Part" when this is aired from KECA at 7:30. . . . Egypt, the land of mystery and enchantment, holds new adventure for the KHJ program of "Tarzan" at 8. . . . The family series of comedy situations called "The Truitts" gets into a problem of handwriting as analyzed by an expert during the airing from KFI at 8:30.

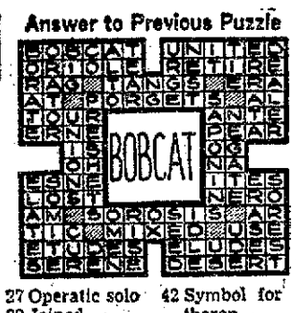
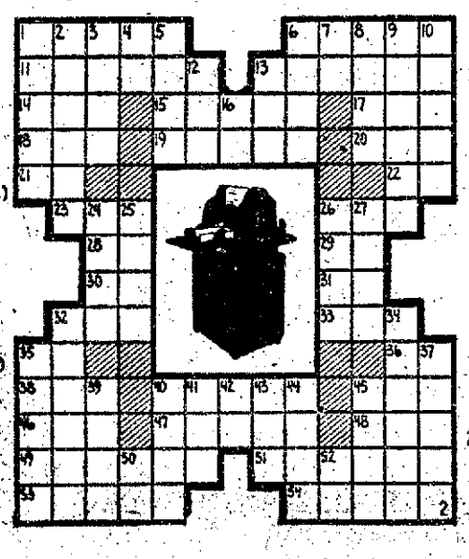
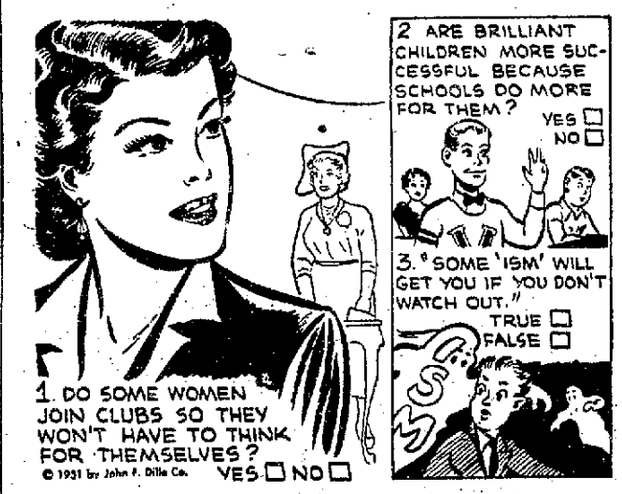
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Let's Explore Your Mind

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.



Answer to Question No. 1
Yes, we all do this more or less, especially when we join clubs that offer short-cuts to "culture." Speakers tell the members what to read, what is going on in politics, foreign affairs and diet and how to develop personality. It's all to the good and, on the whole, women's clubs do a wonderful work.

Answer to Question No. 2
In most cases no, because public schools usually do less for gifted children than for slow children. In many schools, brilliant children are farther behind their proper grades than the average and the slow. Every effort is made to pull up the slow child, as it should be; but little is done to give the bright child an equal chance. "The Gifted Child," edited by Psychologist Paul Witty, published by D. C. Heath & Co., Chicago, tells what to do with your bright boy or girl. Ask your library for a copy.

Answer to Question No. 3
True. Upon returning to America after a 15-year study of foreign peoples, Writer Edward Hunter found that many persons in America thought that they could tell him more than he had learned. Some called him a Fascist, some a Communist, while others told him he "had not understood dictators." All agreed that he "had not penetrated beneath the surface." They held this opinion because they were convinced by some ISM which they thought solved all problems. If an ISM once gets you, your mental progress has ended.

O'Dwyer Denies Money Transfer

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 2. (AP) U. S. Ambassador William O'Dwyer has branded as "an abominable lie" a report that his bank account earlier this year, his bank account earlier this year.

In a 250-word statement issued yesterday, the former New York mayor denounced as "a cowardly and contemptible smear" the report which he said "appears to have emanated from the Senate crime investigating committee."

The New York Daily News published a dispatch from Washington yesterday saying the Senate committee was investigating a $1,000,000 letter of credit "reportedly transferred from Mexico to a Manhattan bank for the account of Ambassador William O'Dwyer a few days before New York's former mayor testified before the committee last March."

Dog Warns Woman of Crashing Branch

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 2. (AP) Mrs. Muriel Lurie was sitting on a park bench enjoying a cool breeze last night when her collie dog, Laddie, began barking frantically.

Mrs. Lurie got up and went to the dog—just in time to miss being hit by a big limb that crashed down from the tree under which she had been sitting.

Clerks, Carriers Will Hold Picnic

Post office clerks and carriers of Long Beach and vicinity will hold their annual family picnic Sunday at Houghton Park from 11 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Three hundred are expected.

C. R. Bever and H. S. Alevy are cochairmen of the event, which will feature a softball game between the two groups.

Don Timmis, state delegate of the National Association of Letter Carriers; Frank Johnson, president of Branch 945 of the carriers' group, and Leon Kosloski, president of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks, Branch 543, will be honored.

Pet Parakeet Hears Call of Wild, Leaves

A pet parakeet named Pete, the prized companion of Tommy, 7, and Teddy, 10, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Deppe of 4555 Goldfield Ave., yielded to the call of the open spaces yesterday, flew through the open door at the Deppe home and now is the object of a search in the neighborhood.

The parakeet has a yellow head, body coloring of parrot green and a hooked beak.
