

TODAY'S RADIO BROADCASTS

Today's Features

ON W-G-N.

Representative Wright Patman [D. Tex.] and Godfrey M. Leihar, editor of "Chain Store Age" and the man selected by the chain store organizations of the country as their spokesman, will engage in a half hour debate on the proposed Patman legislation on chain store selling over W-G-N from 3 to 3:30 p. m.

Representative Wright Patman.

Forty-five minutes of collegiate capers and a parade of popular campus tunes will be broadcast from W-G-N's audience studio at 9:30 this evening on the Melodies from the Sky program. Conducted by Harold Stokes, it will star Edna O'Dell, Gunther Decker, the Four Shades of Blue, Four Men and a Maid, the Grenadiers, and the W-G-N dance orchestra and campus choir. Included on tonight's show will be the funny Meet Your Neighbor feature, on which two University football players and two girl cheer leaders will interview one another.

"The State vs. George Chapin," this evening's famous jury trial dramatization, will be given over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system at 9 p. m. It concerns one of the most thrilling of all American murder cases.

At 8:15 p. m., John Steele, London representative of the Mutual network, will present his biweekly broadcast of European news.
