TURNING the DIALS

By FRED H. RUSSELL

The work of a single star from the music or theater world will be heard in a six-hour cavalcade of solo entertainment when WRCA radio presents a new weekly program entitled "Marathon" on next Saturday from 12 midnight to 6 a.m. Highlights from the musical and dramatic career of Frank Sinatra, narrated by Sammy Davis, Jr., will be the first program in the series. Davis will play his own Sinata favorites and will conduct an interview with the star.

An autobiography in sound, "Marathon" will feature memorable and outstanding performances of such artists as Judy Garland, Perry Como and Basil Rathbone, who will star in a pre-Christmas program of dramatic readings. Each week the program will be conducted by some show business luminary who either knows or has shared the spotlight with the performer saluted that week.

On the inaugural program hit records that marked Sinatra for fame when he sang with Harry James and the late Tommy Dorsey will be played, along with tunes that made him the king of swoon when he became a solo recording star.

Dramatic excerpts from the sound tracks of such Sinatra films as "High Society," "From Here to Eternity," "The Man With the Golden Arm," and "Suddenly" will be played. Included will be Sinatra's narration of the Stan Kenton Story, one of NBC radio's "Biographies in Sound." One hour will also be devoted to the playing of Sinatra's own musical favorites.

20th Anniversary

The first radio station to specialize in the presentation of classical music and news will be 20 years old tomorrow. It was on Dec. 3, 1936 that the call letters WQXR were assigned to what had been an experimental broadcasting station known as W2XR since 1934. During these 20 years WQXR has adhered to its original policies of presenting "the best in music," up-to-the-minute news and advertising in good taste.

Having been the first commercial radio station to specialize in good music programming, it follows that WQXR also was pioneer in collateral forms of radio. It was the first radio station to broadcast with high fidelity transmission through specially-constructed transmitters in 1936, more than a decade before "hi-fi" became an American byword. WQXR-FM, broadcasting WQXR's programs simultaneously, went on the air in 1939 as the first Frequency Modulation station in New York City. With the advent of stereophonic sound, WQXR made the first binaural experiments in the East in 1952, and continues to broadcast its "live" programs binaurally. This year, the station began operating on 50,000 watts, making it the first good music station to operate at the maximum power assigned to U. S. commercial radio stations.

Hungarian Refugee

Jeno Weisz, the Hungarian refugee who arrived in Bridgeport last week with his family, will head the list of guests appearing on Lydia Wells, "Town Topics" program, heard over WNAB Monday through Friday at 11 a. m.

Monday, Mrs. Luville Viets will discuss "Toys For Christmas"; Tuesday Mr. Weisz, accompanied by his cousin, Mrs. Abe Baron, will be the guest; Wednesday, John James will talk about Christmas Seals; Thursday, Mrs. Ernest Osso and Mrs. George Burr will discuss "St. Mary's Bazaar"; and on Friday Postmaster Russell Neary will give tips on "Christmas Mailing."

There are 260,000,000 radio receivers in use throughout the world, according to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Afternoon Changes

A realignment of WRCA radio afternoon programs with the "Al Collins Show" to be heard for two consecutive hours and with two five-minute newscasts added to the news schedule, will go into effect tomorrow.

In the shift the "Al Collins Show," will be on the air for two solid hours from 4 to 6. There will be two five-minute newscasts during the program.

Both the "Johnny Andrews Show" and "Pegeen and Ed Fitzgerald" will be heard one-hour earlier than they have been under the revised program set-up.

Starting Monday afternoon Johnny Andrews will be heard at 1 o'clock; the Fitzgeralds at 1:30; Fred Waring at 2; "Woman in My House" at 2:30; Mary Margaret McBride at 2:45 and Al Collins at 4:05.
