The Post Radio Time Table

11:30 a. m., WJSV-Surely the fact that this morning The Romarce of Helen Trent reaches its eighth birthday deserves some sort of note. Virginia Clark, who created the title role, Marie Nelson, who plays Agatha, and Director Blair Walliser are still holding forth in this long-winded love affair. 12:45 p. m. WOL-Coincident with the opening of the National Theater's season tonight, Walter Compton begins a new midday series, Footlight Vignettes, during which he will interview the National's leading players. Ella Gerber and Berni Gould of "Pins and Needles" are the opening guns. 1:15, WMAL-This is tentative, but we should be hearing it: Kath-erine Lenroot, chief of the Children's Bureau, is awarded a medal during a special Better Parenthood Week airing. 3: WJSV-Onetime G. W. U. Professor Lyman P. Wilson looks at "Humor in American Law" on the Lecture. 3:30, WOL and WJSV-Both Mutual and Columbia air the running of the Lawrence Realization at Belmont Park. 8:45, WMAL-Production Coordinator William S. Knudsen speaks on "Arming for Defense" at a dinner meeting of the American Legion-convention in Boston. 9:15, WOL-Sometimes publicity releases read like this: "How an innocent man, accused of murder, lived for 12 hours under a fiendish third degree torture designed to kill in five hours and finally was able to point suspicion on the real murderer is the harrowing tale on Who Knows?" What do you make of that? 9:30, WMAL-Homer may never have lived, but Helen Walpole's Adventure in Reading is going to dramatize his "life." Monday.
