Today's Features

ON W-G-N.

[Chicago daylight saving time.]
 Shoot the Works, W-G-N's exciting quiz show which offers contestants cash awards and chances to double them, moves to a new hour this evening. Formerly heard from 9:15 to 9:45 p. m., it is to be offered from 9:30 to 10 p. m. each Friday. The program's style will change, too. Beginning tonight, any one in the audience may be called on without notice to be a contestant. Announcer Guy Savage and Jess Kirkpatrick will roam thru the studio audience, selecting participants at random. These contestants will speak thru traveling mikes to answer questions from the stage by Marvin Mueller, master of ceremonies.

Guy Savage.

Quin Ryan, veteran W-G-N newscaster, will offer two quarter-hour programs of up-to-the-minute news on W-G-N today. The first will be aired at 11:15 a. m. and the second at 8:15 p. m. Mr. Ryan also will be heard at 1:30 p. m. on Marriage License Romances when he interviews couples applying for licenses. This program is presented each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at the same hour. Ryan's morning news broadcast is scheduled daily except Sunday, and the evening broadcast is offered every night of the week.

Play Broadcast, also an audience studio quiz show, is scheduled at 8:30 p. m. Bill Anson, master of ceremonies, is assisted by Guy Savage, announcer; Dorothy Roberts and Marvin Mueller, character actors; June Baker, home economist, and Harold Stokes and the W-G-N dance orchestra.
