One rush delivery paid for our Stinson

Howard M. Smith, spring manufacturer, Holly, Michigan.

"With this 4-place utility plane, I keep in touch with customers throughout a 400-mile radius," says Howard M. Smith, who learned to fly at 47. "Shortly after we bought our Stinson, it paid for itself on a single flight."

"An important customer said Rush!" By flying a ship-

These American Airfreight facts are important for you and your business American flew 2,107,000 TON-MILES of carga (Airfreight and express) in the month of April, 1948. Airfreight alone increased 106% over April, 1947.

• American has the greatest Airfreight carrving capacity in the world.

• American aperates 16 all-cargo Airfreighters --- more than any other airline. Each arcat 4-engine Airfreighter has more cubic capacity than a standard baxcar.

• In addition, American transports Airfreight on 130 combination cargo-passenger Flag. ships operating an regular daily schedules.

• American's Airfreight-not confined to a few large cities—is available to and from 69 airports serving over 100 cities in the U. S., Conodo and Mexico.

• Airfreight is more economical, in many cases, than slower transportation.

American's Airfreight pays off, day-in and day-out, for thousands of alert business men

THE spectacular increase in regular use of American Airlines Airfreight is no overnight, mushroom growth. It is the sound and natural development of years of pioneering, planning and preparation. Twenty years ago, men in American Airlines foresaw the development of volume shipments by air-not to meet emergencies alone, but as the opening of an entirely new era in distribution and merchandising.

Today, thousands of business firms use American Airfreight. Its speed, reliability, economy and simplicity win new converts daily. As the application of air transportation to business problems becomes more widely understood, Airfreight will gain the stature that American's pioneers predicted many years ago-and are achieving by vision, imagination and plain hard work. American Airlines will continue to lead the way.
