

History's Barrel Is Never Empty, Reminds TV Man

By Wayne Oliver

NEW YORK (AP)—History is more exciting than fiction and offers an inexhaustible source of material for radio and television, says Arthur Pryor, jr., in charge of many top shows.

Pryor, son of the late bandmaster and vice president in charge of radio and TV for the Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborne advertising agency, declares that "the barrel never is empty."

He cites as an example the Dupont Cavalcade of America, one of the numerous shows produced by BBD&O and one based on American history.

"If we do a story on George Washington," he explains, "and have eight or 10 secondary characters, we find every one is a story in himself."

ALTHOUGH Pryor considers that programs based on history are educational, he says "We never do them primarily because they are educational, but because they are entertaining."

"They bring out the little unknown things about famous people in history," he says. "They generate an interest in what these people did—and why they did it."

He foresees that the TV version, which began several weeks ago on NBC-TV, likewise never will want for material.

"If we do a story on George Washington," he explains, "and have eight or 10 secondary characters, we find every one is a story in himself."

3 D. C. Chinese to Send Voices Into Red-Held Homeland

Voices of three members of the Washington Chinese community started on a journey yesterday afternoon that will take them from the lobby of the Shoreham Hotel to behind the bamboo curtain of Communist China.

The three men made tape recordings that will be broadcast over a radio free Asia from Manila, Tokyo and Formosa into the Communist-controlled Chinese mainland.

It was the first time that Washington Chinese had participated in the Crusade for Freedom program for radioing messages to Iron Curtain countries.

Dr. C. C. Hung, president of the Chinese Consolidated Beneficial Association; Wing Wong, executive secretary of the association, and Robert Moy, a member of the organization's executive committee, made the broadcasts.

Gene Archer, NBC announcer here, interviewed the men in the Shoreham lobby.

The tapes were flown to New York late in the afternoon, and will be edited there and flown to the Asian radio stations.

Dr. Hung, pastor of the Chinese Community Church here, told his countrymen their time of suffering from the slavery of Communism is only temporary and eventually freedom will come.

Moy, who owns the Nanking Restaurant at 9th st. and New York ave. nw., said that anti-Communism is the policy of the United States, and he saw a time in the future when military aid from this country would help the Chinese enjoy the freedom that prevails in the United States.

Wong urged the Chinese not to be misled "by a group of lawless bandits who would sacrifice

China to the avarice and idleness of the international Communist conspiracy."
